Illinois Supreme Court and Illinois Appellate Court Justices: First District and Circuit Judges and Associate Judges, Circuit Court of Cook County	3

INTRODUCTION

The Chicago Council of Lawyers is the public interest bar association that promotes a fair, efficient and effective legal system, using judicial evaluations, amicus curiae briefs, publications, seminars and investigations of agencies and courts. The Council offers all lawyers an opportunity to work with other dedicated lawyers in promoting the highest standards of the legal profession and in serving the public interest.

The Council began evaluating state court and federal district court judges in 1970. We evaluate state court candidates seeking to fill judicial vacancies on the Circuit Court of Cook County. We also evaluate sitting Cook County Circuit Court judges seeking retention. In addition, the Council evaluates First District candidates for the Illinois Supreme Court and the Illinois Appellate Court.

In this Directory of State Judges in Chicago, we have utilized Council judicial evaluations from 1986 to the present. We have included information about the Circuit Judges in Cook County, the Associate Judges in Cook County, as well as Supreme Court and Appellate Court Justices from the First District. Judicial assignments listed in the Directory are current as of March 2011.

METHODOLOGY USED BY THE CHICAGO COUNCIL OF LAWYERS IN EVALUATING STATE COURT JUDICIAL CANDIDATES AND JUDGES SEEKING RETENTION

The criteria for the Council's evaluations are whether the candidate has demonstrated the ability to serve on the applicable court in the following categories:

- ❖ fairness, including sensitivity to diversity and bias
- ❖ legal knowledge and skills (competence)
- ❖ integrity
- ❖ experience
- ❖ diligence
- ❖ impartiality
- ❖ judicial temperament
- ❖ respect for the rule of law
- ❖ independence from political and institutional influences
- ❖ professional conduct
- ❖ character
- ❖ community service

If a candidate has demonstrated the ability to perform the work required of a judge in all of these areas, the Council assigns a rating of "Qualified." Since 1998, if a candidate has demonstrated excellence in most of these areas, the Council assigns a rating of "Well Qualified." If a candidate has demonstrated excellence in all of these areas, the Council assigns a rating of "Highly Qualified." If a candidate has not demonstrated that he or she meets all of the criteria evaluated by the Council, the Council assigns a rating of "Not Qualified."

In April 1999 and March 2001, the Council evaluated candidates for Associate Judge positions in the Circuit Court of Cook County. Only those candidates deserving a "Well Qualified" or "Highly Qualified" rating were considered to be "Recommended." All other candidates were assigned a rating of "Not Recommended."

We apply higher standards to candidates for the Supreme Court and the Appellate Court. Because these Courts establish legal precedents that bind the lower courts, their work has a broad impact on the justice system. Moreover, qualities of scholarship and writing ability are more important to the Supreme Court's and Appellate Court's work than to satisfactory performance as a trial judge.

The Council does not evaluate candidates based on their substantive views of political or social issues. Nor do we take into account the particular race in which a candidate is running or the candidates against whom a candidate is running. We apply a uniform standard for all countywide and subcircuit elections because judges elected through either method can be assigned to any judicial position in the Circuit Court.

As part of the evaluation process, we require candidates to provide us with detailed information about their backgrounds, including any complaints filed against them with the Attorney Registration and Disciplinary Commission (ARDC) or, where applicable, the Judicial Inquiry Board (JIB). If a candidate does not participate in our evaluation process, we are unable to obtain that information. Therefore, we assign those candidates a rating of “Not Recommended.”

Since 1998, the Council has participated in a joint investigation and interview process with the Alliance of Bar Associations for Judicial Screening (“Alliance”). The Alliance includes the following bar associations: Asian-American Bar Association, Black Women Lawyers Association, Chicago Council of Lawyers, Cook County Bar Association, Decalogue Society, Hellenic Bar Association of Illinois, Hispanic Lawyers' Association of Illinois, Lesbian and Gay Bar Association of Chicago, Puerto Rican Bar Association, and the Women's Bar Association of Illinois.

The Council's evaluation process includes:

- (1) a review of a written informational questionnaire provided to the Alliance by the candidate, including details of the candidate's career and professional development and information on any complaints filed against the candidate with the JIB or the ARDC;
- (2) a review of the candidate's written responses to the Alliance's supplemental essay questionnaire;
- (3) interviews of judges, attorneys, and others with personal knowledge about the candidate, including those who have and those who have not been referred to the Alliance by the candidate, and not restricted to Council members;
- (4) a review of the candidate's professional written work, where available;
- (5) an interview of the candidate done jointly with the Alliance;
- (6) review of any information concerning the candidate provided by the ARDC;
- (7) a review of any other information available from public records, such as the Board of Election Commissioners and prosecutorial agencies; and
- (8) an evaluation of all the above materials by the Council's Judicial Evaluation Committee; and
- (9) submission of the proposed evaluation and write-up to the candidate prior to its public release, to provide an opportunity for comment, correction, or reconsideration.

Where the candidate is a sitting judge, the Council places special importance on interviews with attorneys who practice before the judge, particularly those who were not referred to the Council by the candidate.

The Council's Judicial Evaluation Committee makes the ultimate decision on every judicial evaluation. Having a single body review and evaluate all the candidates promotes consistency and accountability.

In evaluating candidates, the Council expresses written reasons for its conclusions. Without knowing the reason for a recommendation concerning a candidate, the public cannot use the bar's evaluations intelligently to draw its own conclusions.

It should be noted that a lawyer may be performing well or even very well without being qualified to be a judge. A good lawyer may be unqualified to be a judge, for instance, because of a narrow range of prior experience, limited trial experience, or limited work doing legal research and writing. A lawyer may have the temperament and intelligence to be a judge without yet having worked in a position that would allow the candidate to demonstrate that capacity. Accordingly, it should be recognized and expected that we will rate some good lawyers "Not Qualified."

Before becoming a judge, he served as an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney and was in private practice. He was a panel attorney with the Federal Defender's Office for 14 years. Judge Agran is considered to have excellent legal ability, having brought to the bench extensive federal and state litigation experience. He is even-tempered and is respected for his ability to control the courtroom. He is always well prepared. The Council finds him Well Qualified.

Jorge L. ALONSO

Date of birth: 4/28/66

Present Judicial Duties:

Associate Judge, Circuit Court, Second Municipal District

Previous Judicial Duties

2003-2005: Associate Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District, Traffic Court

Elected Associate Judge by Circuit Judges in 2003.

Evaluation

2002 Evaluations for Associate Judge: Qualified

Jorge L. Alonso received his Juris Doctorate from George Washington University in 1991 and was admitted to the Illinois Bar later that same year. Since his admission to the bar, he has been an Assistant Cook County Public Defender, where he has had substantial trial experience.

Carmen Aguilar

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Fourth Municipal District

Mr. Alonso is considered to be well prepared with good legal ability and very good temperament. His integrity is unquestioned. Despite his relatively few years as a lawyer, Mr. Alonso is well respected by lawyers and judges. He is praised for his extensive community service work. The Council finds Mr. Alonso Qualified to serve in Circuit Court.

Edward A. ANTONIETTI

Date of birth: 11/28/39

Present Judicial Duties

Associate Judge, Sixth Municipal District

Appointed to fill a Circuit Court vacancy in 1994; elected Associate Judge by Circuit Judges in 1999.

Previous Judicial Duties

1999-2003: Associate Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District; 1994-1996: Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Evaluation

1992 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Qualified

Edward Antonietti, 52, has been an attorney in private practice for 27 years, with experience in both civil and criminal law matters. He is reported to possess good legal ability with an excellent temperament. Opposing counsel find him fair and of high integrity. The Council finds him Qualified.

2002 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Qualified

The Honorable Edward A. Antonietti has been on the bench since 1994, less the three years in which he was not re-appointed and had returned to his private practice in Calumet City (12/96 - 11/99). He is currently assigned to the First Municipal District, hearing the misdemeanor jury call at 1340 S. Michigan. He was admitted to practice in 1964. His private practice was both criminal and civil, and included complex litigation. He was considered to be “very well versed in the law” and is reputed to be honest and trustworthy. On the bench, he was reported to be very thorough, unbiased, patient, fair, and pleasant. The Council considers Judge Antonietti Qualified.

Mauricio ARAUJO

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Sixth Municipal District

Elected Circuit Court Judge in 2008

2008 Evaluation for Primary Elections: Qualified

Mr. Araujo was admitted to practice in 1993. He has worked in private practice since 1997, mainly doing personal injury insurance defense work. Between 1994 and 1997, he primarily handled workers' compensation cases for the Illinois Attorney General's Office and for the Chicago Housing Authority. He also worked for a little over one year doing workers' compensation cases while employed by a private firm. Mr. Araujo is considered to have an excellent temperament and is praised for his integrity. He has provided extensive community service. The Council in its last evaluation of Mr. Araujo was concerned about the relative narrowness of his practice. The Council has re-evaluated his credentials for the 2008 judicial primary. He has in the last two years added substantial litigation experience and he continues to be praised for his ability and diligence as a practitioner. Under these circumstances, the Council finds Mr. Araujo Qualified for the Circuit Court.

Edward A. ARCE

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Domestic Relations

Elected Circuit Court Judge in 2008

Evaluation

Evaluated to fill Judicial Vacancy: Not Qualified

Edward A. Arce was admitted to practice in 1985. He has been a partner in the general civil litigation firm of Whitcup & Arce since 1986. Lawyers report that Mr. Arce has an adequate temperament. However, the Council has concerns about his other qualifications. His evaluation uncovered questions about whether he has the ability and experience necessary to be a judge. His legal practice is not comprised of complex matters that would demonstrate his ability to be a judge. In addition, he has had little jury trial experience. The Council finds him Not Qualified.

Nancy J. ARNOLD

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Chancery Division

Appointed Circuit Court Judge in 1997; elected in 1998.

Evaluation

11/98 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Highly Qualified

Judge Nancy J. Arnold was appointed to the bench in May 1997. She was admitted to practice in 1977. Prior to her appointment to the bench, Judge Arnold was in private practice. She currently sits on the Illinois Supreme Court Committee on Pattern Jury Instructions for Civil Cases and on the Board of Commissioners of the Office of the State Appellate Defender. She has published a number of articles. Judge Arnold is widely praised as possessing outstanding legal ability and as having an excellent judicial temperament. She is fair, hard-working, and of highest integrity. The Council finds her Highly Qualified

11/04 Retention – Circuit Court: Highly Qualified

Judge Nancy J. Arnold was appointed to the bench in May 1997 and currently sits in the Chancery Division. She was admitted to practice in 1977. Prior to her appointment to the bench, Judge Arnold was in private practice. Judge Arnold is widely praised as possessing outstanding legal ability and as having an excellent judicial temperament. She is fair, hard-working, and of highest integrity. The Council finds her Highly Qualified

11/10 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

Judge Nancy Arnold was admitted to practice in 1977. She was appointed to the bench in 1997 and presently serves in the Chancery Division of the Circuit Court, where she has been sitting since 2000. Prior to her appointment to the bench, Judge Arnold was in private practice. She currently sits on the Illinois Supreme Court Committee on Pattern Jury Instructions for Civil Cases and on the Board of Commissioners of the Office of the State Appellate Defender.

Judge Arnold is considered to have very good legal ability. She is prepared for court and is considered to be hard working. However, the Council is concerned that many lawyers say that she has become impatient on the bench, sometime not allowing them to complete their arguments. On balance, the Council finds her Qualified for retention.

David B. ATKINS

Present Judicial Duties:

Recalled Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Appointed to fill a Circuit Court vacancy in 2003; recalled in 2004.

Evaluation

October 2003 Evaluation to fill a vacancy: Qualified

David B. Atkins has been practicing since 1972. Since 1998 he has served as an Assistant Cook County Public Defender, supervising 16 lawyers in the Maywood office. During his career he has been in private practice concentrating in both state and federal civil matters, has served as a supervisor in the Chicago Department of Law, has been an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney, and has served as an Assistant United States Attorney. He has extensive litigation experience in complex civil and criminal law matters. Mr. Atkins is considered to have very good legal ability and has a reputation for always being well prepared. He has a good temperament and his integrity is unquestioned. The Council finds him Qualified for the Circuit Court.

Larry G. AXELROOD

Present Judicial Duties

Associate Judge, Circuit Court, Second Municipal District

Elected Associate Judge by Circuit Judges in 2005.

2005 Evaluations for Associate Judge: Qualified

Larry Axelrood was admitted to practice in 1985. His career has been primarily in the field of criminal law, with four years as an Assistant State's Attorney, and nearly twelve years in solo practice as a defense attorney. He has some state and federal civil experience as well. In all respects, Mr. Axelrood rated well with persons contacted during his investigation, being described as a “peace-maker” and as having a “mastery of the issues.” He is said to have very good legal knowledge, an even temperament, and a good work ethic. In addition to his professional accomplishments, Mr. Axelrood is a published novelist. The Council considers Mr. Axelrood Qualified to serve in Circuit Court.

Callie Lynn BAIRD

Present Judicial Duties:

Associate Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Elected Associate Judge by Circuit Judges in 2007.

2006 Evaluations for Associate Judge: Qualified

Callie Baird was admitted to practice in 1988. She spent her initial nine years practicing as an Assistant Cook County Public Defender. She served as chief administrative officer for the Chicago Police Department’s Office of Professional Standards from 1998 to 2002. She then spent a little over a year in private practice handling a mix of civil and criminal litigation, before being appointed as director for the Cook County Jail. In 2004, she became a special assistant in the Sheriff’s Office. She became director of the landlord accountability-Section 8 housing project for the CHA in October 2005. Most attorneys respect Ms. Baird’s abilities as a litigator, reporting that she has good legal ability and temperament. She has sufficient litigation experience. The Council finds Ms. Baird Qualified to serve in the Circuit Court.

Robert BALANOFF

Present Judicial Duties: Judge, Circuit Court, Child Protection Division

Previous Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Elected to the Circuit Court in 2004.

Evaluation

2004 General Elections – Circuit Court: Not Recommended

The candidate elected not to participate in the evaluation process. The Council accordingly finds the candidate Not Recommended.

11/10 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

Robert Balanoff graduated from DePaul Law School in and was admitted to practice in 1982. Judge Robert Balanoff was elected to the Circuit Court in 2004. He presently serves in the Child Protection Division of the Circuit Court, where he decides wardship petitions, adjudicating claims of abuse and neglect of minor children. Prior to his election, Judge Balanoff in private practice.

Judge Balanoff drew praise from the respondents for his demeanor and courtesy. His compassion was well-noted. Respondents further characterized Judge Balanoff as both very efficient and quite diligent. Some attorneys with experience in Judge Balanoff’s courtroom felt he sometimes becomes impatient with parents appearing before him. On balance, however, Judge Balanoff is a judge with a good temperament who listens carefully and takes the time to explain his decisions. The Council finds him Qualified for retention.

Patrice BALL-REED

Present Judicial Duties

Associate Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Elected Associate Judge by Circuit Judges in 2008.

2008 Evaluation for Associate Judge: Qualified

Patrice Ball-Reed was licensed to practice in 1985 and currently serves as the Deputy Illinois Attorney General for Child Support Enforcement. She has served as the Deputy Supervisor in the Real Estate Property Tax Division of the State’s Attorney’s Office. Previous Judicial Duties

1994-2001: Judge, Circuit Court, Domestic Relations Division

Elected to the Circuit Court in 1994.

Evaluation

11/00 Retention – Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Patricia Banks, 51, has been a judge since 1994. She sits in the Domestic Relations Division, being one of the first judges to be part of the pilot individual calendar program. Prior to becoming a judge, she spent most of her legal career in private practice. Many lawyers question her legal ability and claim she has a poor temperament. Some lawyers complain that she is unpredictable in her rulings and some complain that she is not hard working. The Council finds her not qualified.

2006 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Hon. Patricia Banks has been a judge since 1994. She sits in the Law Division, Jury Section. From 1994 until 2001, she was assigned to the Domestic Relations Division, being one of the first judges to be part of the pilot individual calendar program. Prior to becoming a judge, she spent most of her legal career in private practice. Judge Banks has adequate legal ability and judicial temperament. Her judicial performance, in general, has improved since she last ran for retention in 2000. The Council finds her Qualified.

Previous Judicial Duties

1986-1987: Trial Judge, Domestic Relations Division

Appointed Circuit Court Judge in 1986; elected in 1988.

1988 (D) Primary and General Elections – Circuit Court: Qualified

Judge Bellows was in private practice for many years, and she was a leader in the Illinois State and American Bar Associations. She was appointed to the Circuit Court in 1986 and has been serving in the Domestic Relations Division. While several attorneys have expressed the hope that she will become more decisive as she receives additional experience on the bench, Judge Bellows receives very high marks for her demeanor, fairness, hard work and respect for attorneys and litigants. The Council finds Judge Bellows to be qualified.

11/94 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Carole Bellows, 59, has been a judge since 1986, when she was appointed to the Circuit Court. She has served in the Domestic Relations Division, where she currently is a team leader hearing pre-trial matters. Prior to her appointment to the bench she was in private practice for many years. She is a former President of the Illinois State Bar Association and was active in the American Bar Association.

Judge Bellows is described as very hard working, temperate, and fair. Her knowledge of the law is said to be good and she writes frequently. The Council finds her Qualified.

11/00 Retention – Circuit Court: Well Qualified

Carole Kamin Bellows, 65, was first appointed to the Circuit Court in 1986 and was elected to office in 1988 and 1994. She has served her entire career in the Domestic Relations Division, and presently serves as a team leader hearing pretrial matters. Before reaching the bench, Judge Bellows had 26 years of experience as a Clerk to the Illinois Court of Claims and as partner at Bellows & Bellows; Reuben & Proctor; and Isham, Lincoln & Beale. Judge Bellows was previously found qualified by the Council in each of her prior runs for office. During the Alliance investigation, contacts reported high marks for her knowledge of the law, sensitivity, temperament, diligence and impartiality. She is especially adept at obtaining settlements of difficult cases. In recognition of her continued growth in the job, the Council finds Judge Bellows Well Qualified.

2006 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

He was an Assistant Cook County Public Defender from 1979 through 1996. Before that, he served for four years as an Assistant in the Office of the State Appellate Defender. Attorneys give him uniformly highly positive marks on his legal knowledge and ability, temperament, professional conduct, integrity, and character. He is also commended for his sensitivity on matters related to diversity and bias. The Council finds Judge Berman Well Qualified for retention.

2008 Retention Election- Well Qualified

Hon. Andrew Berman was elected to the bench in 1996. He has been assigned to the Juvenile Justice Division since 1997. He began his judicial career in the First Municipal District, Traffic Court. He was an Assistant Cook County Public Defender from 1979 through 1996. Before that, he served for four years as an Assistant in the Office of the State Appellate Defender. Attorneys give him uniformly highly positive marks on his legal knowledge and ability, temperament, professional conduct, integrity, and character. He is praised for taking the time to thoroughly explain his rulings to the juveniles and their parents or guardians who appear before him. He is active in juvenile justice reform efforts. The Council finds Judge Berman Well Qualified for retention.

Jeanne Cleveland BERNSTEIN

Present Judicial Duties:

Judge, Circuit Court, Domestic Relations Division

Elected to the Circuit Court in 2004.

Evaluation

2004 General Election – Circuit Court: Qualified

Jeanne R. Cleveland Bernstein received her license to practice law in 1971. She has been a partner in a private general practice firm since 1976 and handles mostly Domestic Relations cases. From 1971 until 1976 she was a General Attorney with the Office of the Regional Counsel of the General Services Administration. Ms. Bernstein has substantial experience as a family law practitioner. She has good legal ability and a good temperament. She is widely praised as being an effective advocate for her clients and for her involvement in community activities. The Council finds her Qualified for the Circuit Court.

11/10 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

Judge Jeanne R. Cleveland Bernstein was elected to the Circuit Court in 2004 and presently serves in the Domestic Relations Division of the Circuit Court. Previously, Judge Bernstein sat in the First Municipal District. She was admitted to practice in 1971. Prior to her election, Judge Bernstein was in private practice and served as a mediator at the Center for Conflict Resolution.

Judge Cleveland Bernstein is considered to have good legal ability and his praised for her courtroom management. Most respondents find her to be a conscientious judge who moves cases along with due diligence. The Council finds her Qualified for retention.

Steven James BERNSTEIN

Present Judicial Duties:
Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Elected to the bench in 2010

2010 Primary and General Elections: Not Qualified

Steven James Bernstein was admitted to practice in 1971. He is currently the Acting General Counsel for the Illinois Criminal Justice Authority where he drafts inter-agency agreements, drafts legislation, and prepares and delivers training programs. He is very active in community affairs, including as an elected official. He reports acting as lead counsel in 1 criminal and 1 jury trial, as well as in 90 civil bench trials and 150 criminal bench trials. However, most of Mr. Bernstein's recent legal work involves real estate matters, and trial work cited in his evaluation materials were from as many as 30 years ago. He is very active in community affairs. Mr. Bernstein is considered to have good legal ability and temperament. The Council is concerned that he has little litigation experience in more complex matters and has little recent litigation experience at all. The Council finds him Not Qualified for the Circuit Court.

Laura BERTUCCI SMITH

Present Judicial Duties
Judge, Circuit Court, Domestic Relations Division

Appointed Circuit Court Judge in 2007

2002 Evaluation for Primary Election: Qualified

Laura Bertucci Smith was admitted to practice in 1991 and has been an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney her entire legal career. She is currently a First Chair in the Felony Trial Division of that office. She has tried over 300 bench trials to verdict and approximately 20 jury trials in her career. The candidate served as first chair in 11 of the 20 felony jury trials. Lawyers comment positively on her performance. While she has been an attorney for little more than ten years, her experience and the information gathered during the Alliance investigation confirm that Ms. Smith is Qualified to serve as a Circuit Court Judge.

Robert W. BERTUCCI

Present Judicial Duties
Judge, Circuit Court, County Division

Previous Judicial Duties
Judge, Circuit Court, Criminal Division: 1992-1994: First Municipal District, Preliminary Hearing Courts; Misdemeanor Courts jury and non-jury; Housing Court; Civil Court (non-personal injury and contract cases)

Elected to the Circuit Court in 1992.

Evaluation
11/92 Fourteenth Subcircuit – Judgeship B: Qualified
Robert W. Bertucci, 35, was admitted to practice in 1983. He is currently in private practice doing criminal defense work. For most of his career he, was an Assistant State's Attorney, prosecuting cases in a felony courtroom at 26th and California. While Mr. Bertucci is a relatively young attorney, the Council feels that is offset by the type of practice that he has had and the high praise that he receives as an attorney. The Council finds him Qualified.

11/98 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Robert W. Bertucci, 41, became a judge in 1992 and currently sits in the Criminal Division at 26th and California. He has served in the Evening Narcotics Division and in the First Municipal District. For most of his career prior to becoming a judge, he served as an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney.

Judge Bertucci is considered to have good legal ability and unquestioned integrity. He is considered to be fair to both prosecutors and defense counsel. He is diligent and punctual. However, some lawyers report that Judge Bertucci has difficulties with his temperament. According to these lawyers, he can be short-tempered and unpredictable. However, most of these lawyers also report that Judge Bertucci is growing in the job and that while temperament is still a problem, it is improving. On balance, the Council believes that he is qualified for retention.

11/04 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

Robert W. Bertucci, 41, became a judge in 1992 and currently sits in the County Division. He has served in the Criminal Division and in the First Municipal District. For most of his career prior to becoming a judge, he served as an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney.

Judge Bertucci is considered to have good legal ability and unquestioned integrity. He is diligent and punctual. Lawyers reported in the past that Judge Bertucci had difficulties with his temperament, but we have not heard this recently. The Council believes that he is qualified for retention.

11/10 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

Judge Robert Bertucci was admitted to practice in 1983. He was elected to the bench in 1997 and presently serves in the County Division of the Circuit Court. Previously, Judge Bertucci was in the Criminal Division of the Circuit Court at 26th and California. He was admitted to practice in 1983. Prior to his election, Judge Bertucci was an assistant State's Attorney and a defense attorney in private practice.

Judge Bertucci is considered to have good legal ability and always takes the bench well-prepared for the call with knowledge of the cases to be heard. He is praised for showing respect of all persons appearing before him and is praised for his courtroom management. He is also praised for his ability to deal well with a wide variety of issues coming into his courtroom in cases ranging from involuntary admissions to election law issues. The Council finds him Qualified for retention.

Evaluation

11/92 General Election—Circuit Court: Qualified

Richard Billik, 39, was admitted to practice in 1977. He worked for three years in the Antitrust Division of the U.S. Department of Justice. For several months, he was assigned to prosecute misdemeanors at the U.S. Attorney's office in Washington. He then worked as an associate at a D.C. litigation firm, before moving to the Chicago area in 1982.

Mr. Billik has been a sole practitioner since 1982. He is reported to have very good skills at negotiation. He has an extensive motion practice, but has somewhat limited trial experience. On balance, the Council believes that Mr. Billik's good ability and temperament outweigh his relative lack of experience. The Council therefore believes he is qualified.

11/98 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Richard J. Billik, Jr., 45, was elected to the bench in 1992. He currently sits in the Law Division's Jury Trial Section. Prior to becoming a judge, he had an extensive solo practice. Lawyers report that Judge Billik has good legal ability and is an excellent trial judge. He is well versed in the applicable law and will also conduct his own legal research on points with which he is not already familiar. His temperament is low-key but he runs his courtroom effectively. He is punctual and is considered to be exceptionally hard working. The Council finds him Qualified for retention.

Present Judicial Duties:

Associate Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Elected Associate Judge by Circuit Judges in 2007.

1996 Primary & General Election – Circuit Court: Qualified

Yolanda M. Bourgeois, 43, has been practicing law for 16 years. She is currently General Counsel of the Metropolitan Pier and Exposition Authority. She previously served as an Administrative Assistant to the Mayor of Chicago for one year. In 1989, she served in the Civil Division of the Cook County State's Attorney's Office. From 1986 to 1989, she was as an associate in several general-practice private law firms. From 1980 to 1986, she was an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney. Attorneys report that Ms. Bourgeois has very good legal ability and is hard working. Her temperament is excellent, and she has broad litigation experience. The Council finds her Qualified.

2006 Evaluations for Associate Judge: Qualified

Yolande M. Bourgeois was admitted to practice in 1983. After spending two years as a staff attorney for the National Juvenile Law Center in St. Louis, she spent a total of seven years as an ASA in Cook County (six years handling criminal cases and one year handling civil cases) and three years in private practice handling a variety of litigation. During 1989 and 1990 she served as an administrative assistant to Mayor Daley. She then spent six years as an assistant general counsel for the Metropolitan Pier and Exposition Authority, six years as Deputy General Counsel for the CHA, and six years as the general counsel for the City Colleges of Chicago. During her initial ten years in practice she had significant hands-on litigation and trial experience. She is reported to have good legal ability and temperament. The Council finds Ms. Bourgeois qualified to serve in the Circuit Court.

2002 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Margaret Ann Brennan has worked as an assistant general counsel for Exelon Corporation (formerly Commonwealth Edison) since 1994. She previously worked for the City of Chicago's Law Department, where she prosecuted traffic cases; in private practice, handling personal injury matters; and for the American Bar Association's Special Committee on Prepaid Legal Services and the American Prepaid Legal Institute. She obtained her license in 1987. She has tried a total of ten jury cases to verdict and has tried hundreds of bench trials, the bulk of those when she was prosecuting traffic cases. Her peers regard her as bright, with good legal knowledge and understanding of the legal process. Her temperament, impartiality, and integrity are all described as good, and her professional conduct excellent. Adversaries remark that she is a good advocate for her client but also fair and balanced. Yet the candidate at this time has not established a track record sufficient to warrant our confidence that she can run a courtroom. Specifically, the Council does not believe that she has yet obtained the depth and breadth of experience that the office requires. At this time, the Council finds Ms. Brennan Not Qualified.

2008 Retention Election: Qualified

Hon. Margaret Ann Brennan was elected to the bench in 2002. She is assigned to the Fifth Municipal District. Before taking the bench she worked as an assistant general counsel for Exelon Corporation (formerly Commonwealth Edison); as an attorney for the City of Chicago's Law Department, where she prosecuted traffic cases; in private practice, handling personal injury matters; and for the American Bar Association's Special Committee on Prepaid Legal Services and the American Prepaid Legal Institute. She was admitted to practice in 1987. Judge Brennan is considered to have good legal ability and is especially praised for her temperament and for her courtroom management skills. The Council finds her

Qualified for retention.

Previous Judicial Duties

2002-2003 Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Elected to the Circuit Court in 2002.

2002 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Well Qualified

Eileen Mary Brewer was admitted to the Illinois bar in 1987. From 1988 to 1994, she worked as an Assistant Corporation Counsel for the City of Chicago where she concentrated in federal civil rights actions involving employment discrimination, excessive force, and First Amendment issues. Before that, she spent one year at Jenner & Block. The candidate earned high praise from all persons contacted for her writing, legal knowledge, integrity, intellect, sensitivity, conduct and work ethic. We find the candidate Well Qualified.

2006 Primary Election – Appellate Court: Qualified

Hon. Eileen Mary Brewer was elected in 2002 and has sat in the Domestic Relations Division since 2003. Before that, she was assigned to the Traffic Court. From 1994 until 2002, she was Chief Counsel to Cook County Board President John Stroger. From 1988 to 1994, she worked as an Assistant Corporation Counsel for the City of Chicago. Before that, she spent one year as an associate attorney at Jenner & Block. Judge Brewer is considered to be a solid jurist with excellent legal ability and a very good temperament. She has an impressive educational background and was praised for her experience and writing ability as a practicing lawyer. The Council finds her Qualified for the Appellate Court.

Evaluation

11/00 Retention – Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Cynthia Brim, 42, has been a judge since 1994. She sits in the Fifth Municipal District hearing misdemeanor, traffic, and ordinance violation cases. Before becoming a judge she served as an Assistant Chicago Corporation Counsel. Many lawyers question whether Judge Brim has adequate legal ability or temperament to be a judge. She is professional and dedicated, but reportedly lacks a good grasp of the law and treats litigants harshly. Criminal defense lawyers often seek to be assigned another judge when possible. The Council finds her Not Qualified.

2006 Retention – Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Cynthia Brim sits in the Fifth Municipal District hearing eviction, small claims and cases in which the parties have waived jury demands. She was elected to the bench in 1994 after a career as an Assistant Chicago Corporation Counsel and as an Assistant Illinois Attorney General. Many lawyers report that Judge Brim demonstrates a lack of punctuality, and there were reports that some lawyers routinely ask for a substitution of judge when assigned to her courtroom. She is professional and dedicated, but she has demonstrated too often a lack of a good grasp of the law. The Council finds her Not Qualified.

Evaluation

1998 Primary & General Elections – Appellate Court: Not Recommended

Rodney Hughes Brooks did not participate in the Council's evaluation process, submitting no information in support of his candidacy. The Council received insufficient information to judge his qualifications for the Appellate Court. The Council finds him Not Recommended

11/00 Retention – Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Rodney Brooks, 47, was first elected to the bench in 1994 and serves as a trial judge in the Juvenile Justice Division. He has not previously been rated by the Council. Before being elected to the bench, the Judge had 14 years of practice experience, mostly as a solo practitioner focusing on bankruptcy.

During the Alliance investigation, the Judge drew uniformly good marks for his integrity and impartiality, but received mixed reviews at best for his legal ability and temperament. There are disquieting reports that Judge Brooks cannot control his courtroom, lacks a grounding in basic procedural and evidentiary concepts, and demonstrates a lack of sensitivity to crime victims. The Council also found his written materials, submitted during the evaluation process, to be exceptionally shallow. For these reasons, the Council finds him Not Qualified.

2006 Retention – Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Judge, Circuit Court, Fifth Municipal District

Previous Judicial Duties

2002-2003: Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Elected to the Circuit Court in 2002

2002 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Janet Adams Brosnahan was admitted to practice in 1990. Since that time, she has been an associate at several small law firms. She is primarily a civil litigator, focusing on matters involving labor relations, employment, fraud, and truth in lending matters in both state and federal court. She has also had some experience with transactional and appellate matters. She has tried no jury cases, and has tried only two non-jury civil cases to judgment. While she was in law school, she participated in the trial of five non-jury criminal cases. Those familiar with her work are largely complimentary of her skills, describing her as experienced, knowledgeable, professional, and a competent advocate in the courtroom. She is praised for her temperament and integrity. However, particularly in view of her very limited trial experience, the Council does not believe Ms. Brosnahan has yet achieved the breadth or depth of experience in her career to qualify her for a position on the bench. At this time, we find the candidate Not Qualified for the position of Circuit Judge.

2000 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Qualified

Mary Margaret Brosnahan, 39, is a 1986 graduate of DePaul University College of Law. She has spent her entire legal career in the Cook County State's Attorney's Office. Since 1997, she has been a Supervisor in the Felony Trial Division. She supervises eighteen Assistant State's Attorneys in the Felony Trial Courts. Lawyers report that Ms. Brosnahan is a competent prosecutor who has good legal ability.

2006 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Hon. Mary Margaret Brosnahan has been a judge since 2000 and is presently a floating judge in the Criminal Division. Before her election, she was a Supervisor in the Felony Trial Division of the Cook County State's Attorney's Office, where she served for fourteen years. Judge Brosnahan is widely respected as a solid jurist with good legal ability. She is praised as having a very good judicial temperament with the ability to both move cases along and to be fair to all parties. The Council finds her Qualified.

2008 Retention: Not Qualified

Hon. Margaret Brosnahan was admitted to practice in 1990 and worked as an associate in a number of small law firms, where her practice consisted primarily of civil litigation matters. Although lacking substantial trial experience, she was elected to the Circuit Court in 2002. After a brief assignment in the 1st Municipal District, she was assigned to the 5th District in Bridgeview, where she has sat for the last five years and, until last year, presided in misdemeanor jury trials. She now handles civil matters. Lawyers appearing before her report that she has adequate legal knowledge and ability, though there are persistent complaints that she is slow to grasp legal issues and slower still to decide them. Her motion call, in particular, is reported to run slowly and often begins late. Some lawyers believe that Judge Brosnahan can be too short with counsel, while others see any abruptness as necessary to moving a high volume call. The Council finds her Not Qualified for retention.

1996 Primary and General Elections – (Hon. Carl McCormick Vacancy): Not Qualified

Anne Marie Burke, 52, was admitted to practice law in 1983. She was appointed to fill a vacancy on the Illinois Appellate Court in December 1995. Prior to her appointment to the bench, she had a solo general practice, handling probate, employment matters, divorce, real estate, and criminal defense. From 1987 to 1994, she sat as an appointed judge of the Illinois Court of Claims. From 1994 to 1995, she was special counsel to Governor Jim Edgar, where she had a mandate to improve coordination between DCFS and the Juvenile Court. Her work in that assignment has received considerable praise. Her list of civic activities is impressive. She is the founder of the Special Olympics and has been a leader on children's issues. Justice Burke is widely praised as having excellent temperament and as being a person committed to the public interest. She has not, however, had sufficient experience in complex or nonroutine litigation matters to demonstrate that she is ready to be an Appellate Court Justice. The Council finds her Not Qualified.

2008 Primary and General Elections Anne M. Burke – Qualified

Anne M. Burke became a lawyer in 1983. She was appointed to fill a vacancy on the Illinois Appellate Court in 1995. She was elected to the Appellate Court in 1996. She was appointed to the Illinois Supreme Court in 2006. Prior to her initial appointment to the bench, Justice Burke had a solo general practice. From 1987 to 1994, she sat as an appointed judge of the Illinois Court of Claims. From 1994 to 1995, she was special counsel to then Governor Jim Edgar, where she had a mandate to improve coordination between the Department of Children and Family Services and the Juvenile Court. Her work in that assignment received considerable praise. Her list of civic activities is impressive. Justice Burke is widely praised as having a professional demeanor on the bench and for being a person committed to the public interest. As a Supreme Court Justice, she is considered to have good legal ability and is well-prepared. The Council finds her Qualified for the Illinois Supreme Court.

Dennis J. BURKE

Present Judicial Duties

Associate Judge, Circuit Court, Law Division, Individual Commercial Calendar

Previous Judicial Duties

Associate Judge, Circuit Court, Law Division, Jury Section; Associate Judge, Circuit Court, Law Division, Tax and Miscellaneous Remedies Section; 1998-2003: Associate Judge, Circuit Court, Child Protection Division; 1997-1998: Associate Judge, Circuit Court, Traffic Court

Elected Associate Judge by Circuit Judges in 1997

2000 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Well Qualified

Dennis J. Burke, 50, is a 1975 graduate of the John Marshall Law School. He is currently a judge in Juvenile Court with a Child Protection call. From December 1997 to September 1998, he was a judge in the 1st Municipal District. His duties included Traffic Court, DUI trials, Misdemeanor Jury Trials, Preliminary Felony Hearings and Bond Court. Prior to becoming a judge, he spent 22 years as a trial attorney, practicing in personal injury and commercial litigation. He is considered a fair, hard-working, and even-tempered judge who possesses very good legal ability. He is president of the Illinois Bar Foundation and has an extensive background in community service. The Council finds him Well Qualified.

Kathleen Marie BURKE

Present Judicial Duties:

Judge, Circuit Court, Child Protection Division

Previous Judicial Duties:

Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Elected to the Circuit Court in 2004.

2004 General Election – Circuit Court: Qualified

Kathleen Marie Burke was admitted to practice in 1989. Following her admission, she became an associate at Johnson & Bell, where she concentrated in medical malpractice defense. From 1993 to the present, she has been employed by the Cook County State's Attorney's office, Civil Division, where she has continued to practice medical litigation defense at both the trial and appellate levels. Ms. Burke is also an adjunct professor of law at Loyola University where she teaches medical malpractice law and trial advocacy.

Ms. Burke is highly regarded by her colleagues, her adversaries, and by the judges before whom she has practiced. She is described as conscientious, intelligent, well prepared, exceptionally ethical, and admirably sensitive to diversity issues and bias in the legal system. She is consistently praised for her temperament, character and legal ability. The Council finds Ms. Burke Qualified for the Circuit Court.

11/10 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

Kathleen Burke was admitted to practice in 1989 and was elected to the Circuit Court in 2004. She presently serves in the Fifth Municipal District of the Circuit Court. Previously, Judge Burke served in the First Municipal District and in the Child Protection Division. Prior to her election, Judge Burke was first in private practice with a large firm and then an assistant State's Attorney in the Civil Actions Bureau.

Judge Burke is considered to have good temperament and treats those in her courtroom with respect. The Council, however, is concerned that many lawyers report that she has had difficulty handling her call as a "floating" judge. However, she has been assigned a more permanent judicial assignment, and the Council has received reports that she is handling this new assignment well. On balance, the Council finds her Qualified for retention.

Evaluation

1998 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Qualified

Charles Patrick Burns was admitted to practice in 1981. He has spent 16 years as an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney. He has very good legal ability and an excellent temperament. He is praised by his colleagues and adversaries as a very good prosecutor who is fair in his dealings with defense counsel. The Council finds him Qualified.

11/04 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

Charles Patrick Burns sits in the Fourth Municipal District. He was elected to the bench in 1998. Before becoming a judge, he spent 16 years as an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney. He has good legal ability and an excellent temperament. He is praised for his courtroom management skills. The Council finds him Qualified.

11/10 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

Judge Charles Burns was elected to the bench in 1998 and presently serves in the Criminal Division hearing felony cases at 26th and California. He was admitted to practice in 1981. Prior to his election, Judge Burns was an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney.

Judge Burns is considered to have good legal ability and is reported to provide a fair and efficient trial. He is praised for being willing to consider creative sentencing for appropriate criminal defendants. Judge Burns is a respected jurist, but the Council is concerned that his temperament is problematic. He becomes visibly angry in the courtroom and can be verbally abusive to staff, attorneys, and defendants. However, he admits having this issue and is taking steps to address the problem. On balance, the Council finds him Qualified for retention.

Elected to the Circuit Court in 2002.

Evaluation

2002 Primary and General Elections – Circuit Court:
Not Recommended

The candidate elected not to participate in the evaluation process. The Council accordingly finds the candidate Not Recommended.

2008 Retention: Qualified

Hon. Anthony Burrell was elected to the bench in 2002 and currently sits in the First Municipal District, hearing civil non-jury trial cases. He has in the past presided over forcible entry and detainer cases. Before his election to the bench, he worked with the Chicago Public Schools as a consultant, as a solo practitioner, and as an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney. Judge Burrell is reported to be doing well in his current high volume court call. He is considered to have good legal knowledge and temperament. The Council finds him Qualified for retention.

Thomas J. BYRNE

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Elected Circuit Court Judge in 2008

Evaluation

March 2006 Evaluation for Primary Election:
Qualified

Thomas J. Byrne has been an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney since his admission to practice in 1989. He is currently Supervisor of the Third Municipal District in Rolling Meadows. Mr. Byrne is considered to have good legal ability and temperament. He is known to be knowledgeable about the criminal law and conducts trial advocacy training for assistant state's attorneys. He is reported to be hard working and well prepared. There were a few responses during the evaluation questioning whether he could be fair to defendants in light of his prosecutorial career. On balance, the Council finds him Qualified for the Circuit Court.

Robert CAHILL

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Illinois Appellate Court, First District

1992 (D) Primary & General Elections – Appellate Court: Qualified

Judge Robert Cahill, 55, has been an Associate Judge for 8-1/2 years. For most of that time, he has served in the Third Municipal District in Rolling Meadows, hearing civil and criminal matters, including felonies. Judge Cahill has presided over more than 60 civil and criminal jury trials and hundreds of civil and criminal bench trials. Prior to taking the bench, Judge Cahill was an assistant state's attorney for eight years, chief of the Illinois Senate Republican staff for four years, and in private practice.

Judge Cahill is highly regarded by the practitioners who have appeared before him. He is hard working and prepared to address the issues. He treats all litigants with dignity and has a good temperament. Lawyers report that he has good legal ability, is independent-minded and is not afraid to make difficult judicial decisions.

The Council is impressed that Judge Cahill often conducts his own independent research of the law and has issued written opinions in cases. His opinions are well reasoned and logical.

For these reasons, the Council finds Judge Cahill Qualified for the Appellate Court.

11/02 Retention – Appellate Court: Highly Qualified

Hon. Robert Cahill was first appointed to the Circuit Court as an Associate Judge in 1981, and in 1992 was elected to the Appellate Court, First Division. As an attorney, Justice Cahill had a variety of experience ranging from general litigation and labor law in private practice, to seven years as an Assistant States Attorney where he was a Supervisor of Special Litigation, to staff attorney in the Illinois State Senate and Legislative Reference Bureau. Judge Cahill is described as an extremely thorough and well-prepared judge who asks incisive, intelligent questions during oral argument. He is consistently praised for his clear analytical writing ability and is viewed as a person of impeccable integrity. He is respectful to all litigants in his courtroom and maintains a good judicial temperament. Practitioners regard him as among the finest appellate justices sitting in the First Division. The Council finds Justice Cahill Highly Qualified for retention.

Anthony John CALABRESE

Present Judicial Duties:

Associate Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Elected Associate Judge by Circuit Judges in 2007.

2004 Evaluations for Associate Judge: Qualified

Anthony J. Calabrese was admitted to practice in 1980. From 1980 to 1993, Mr. Calabrese served with the Office of the Cook County State's Attorney, where he rose to the rank of Chief Deputy. Since 1993, he has been a solo practitioner handling criminal defense matters. Between 1996 and 1998, Mr. Calabrese was an administrative law officer with the Department of Administrative Hearings, and since 1998, he also served as the Chairman of the City of Chicago License Appeal Commission. Mr. Calabrese has taught trial advocacy as an adjunct professor at DePaul since 1993. Mr. Calabrese is considered to have very good legal ability and an excellent temperament, and has extensive litigation experience and has a reputation as a solid practitioner. But for several instances of questionable prosecutorial conduct as an Assistant State's Attorney that led to reversals on appeal, the Council would have considered a higher rating. On balance, however, the Council finds him Qualified.

John P. Callahan, Jr.

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Elected to the bench in 2010

2010 Primary and General Elections: Qualified

John Callahan was admitted to practice in 1988. From 1996 to the present he has been in private practice doing general civil litigation and criminal defense. He served as an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney between 1989 and 1996. He reports acting as lead counsel in 1 civil jury, 23 criminal jury trials, 4 civil bench trials, and more than 250 criminal bench trials. Mr. Callahan is considered to have good legal ability and trial experience. He has a reputation of being exceptionally fair while having a calm and professional demeanor. The Council finds him Qualified for the Circuit Court.

Diane Gordon CANNON

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Criminal Division

Previous Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Criminal Division

Elected to the Circuit Court in 1996.

11/94 Primary & General Elections: Qualified

Diane Cannon, 39, has been an assistant Cook County State's Attorney since her admission to the bar in 1981. Currently a supervisor of the arson task force, she was previously assigned to felony trials, appeals, and felony review. She is regarded as an experienced prosecutor with good legal ability and high integrity who is dedicated to her work. The Council notes that she does not have civil litigation experience and has been in practice only since 1981, but finds her Qualified based on her good performance as an Assistant State's Attorney.

11/02 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Hon. Diane Gordon Cannon was elected to the Circuit Court in 1996 and has sat in the Criminal Division since 2000. She hears felony trials, motions, and post-conviction petitions. She has served in the Criminal Division since 1997, first in Evening Narcotics (1997-1999) and, in 1999, as a floating trial court judge. In 1997, she sat in the Juvenile Justice Division. Her first assignment was in the First Municipal District. Before her election, Judge Cannon had been an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney. The investigation of her contained endorsements that she is bright, competent, knowledgeable, well versed, prompt, punctual, fair, patient and courteous. The Council finds Judge Cannon Qualified for retention.

11/00 Retention – Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Thomas R. Chiola, 48, has been a judge since 1994. He currently sits in the First Municipal District presiding over civil jury trials. Prior to becoming a judge, he worked with the Illinois Department of Professional Regulation, first as Chief Administrative Law Judge, and then as General Counsel. He has also been a prosecutor with the Illinois Attorney General's Office. Judge Chiola is considered to have good legal ability and unquestioned integrity. He is hard working. However, he is roundly criticized for his judicial temperament. His demeanor is often described as "harsh" and "abrasive." He is often short-tempered while on the bench, screaming at lawyers in the courtroom, particularly when cases do not settle when the judge thinks they should be settled. The Council finds him Not Qualified.

11/02 Retention – Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Hon. Evelyn B. Clay was initially assigned to the First Municipal District after her election to the Circuit Court in 1996. In 1997, she was transferred to the Felony Trial Division, where she sat in the Evening Narcotics Section and as a floating judge. She has been in her present assignment, hearing felony trials, since April 2000.

She spent her entire career before becoming a judge as an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney, first in the Child Support Division and then in the Criminal Division. In the investigation, she was credited by lawyers for her honesty, sensitivity and temperament. Judge Clay is reported to treat all parties before her with respect and impartiality. Nonetheless, she is also regarded by lawyers contacted as weak on the law and unable at times to control the lawyers appearing before her. These reports were persistent and serious enough to compel the Council, at this time, to find Judge Clay Not Qualified.

2000 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Matthew E. Coghlan, 37, is a 1987 graduate of the University of Illinois College of Law. He has spent his entire legal career as an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney. Since 1997, he has been in the Narcotics Grand Jury Division. He currently works part-time as an Assistant State's Attorney and also works as a Chicago Firefighter. He previously worked in the Gang Crimes Unit, the Narcotics Task Force, the Felony Trial Division, and several other divisions as an Assistant State's Attorney. In his relatively brief legal career, Mr. Coghlan has a reputation for adequate legal ability. He has not been practicing law full-time since March of 1997. The time he has actually practiced law is only about ten years. In light of his relatively little legal experience, the Council finds him Not Qualified.

2006 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Hon. Matthew E. Coghlan was elected in 2000 and currently sits at 26th and California where he hears bond hearings, source of funds for bail hearings, and felony traffic matters. Evaluation

1998 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Qualified

Judge Melvin J. Cole was appointed to the bench by the Illinois Supreme Court in 1997. He has sat in Traffic Court and now sits in the Domestic Relations Division where he hears requests for civil Orders of Protection. He was admitted to practice in 1957 and has had a concentration in family law for the past 30 years. Judge Cole is praised for his performance thus far as a sitting judge. As a lawyer he was considered a good practitioner with adequate legal ability and temperament. The Council finds him Qualified.

11/04 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Judge Melvin J. Cole was appointed to the bench by the Illinois Supreme Court in 1997. After a brief stint in Traffic Court he was assigned to the Domestic Relations Division, where he continues to sit. For approximately 40 years prior to taking the bench, Judge Cole had a private practice concentrating in family law.

Judge Cole is reported to have a good temperament, and many lawyers report good experiences with him as a judge. Nevertheless, the Council has received reports in the past year that Judge Cole is unable to handle more complex cases, including concerns that Judge Cole is unable to handle more complicated cases as expeditiously or as competently as others in the Division. In addition, the Council has received reports that a significant number of lawyers regularly seek reassignment to other jurists when their cases are to be heard by Judge Cole. The Council finds him Not Qualified for retention.

Judge, Circuit Court, Second Municipal District

Previous Judicial Duties

1994-2001: Judge, Circuit Court, Sixth Municipal District

Elected to the Circuit Court in 1994.

11/92 Elections – Not Qualified

Claudia Conlon, 38, was admitted to practice in 1981. From 1982 to 1988 she was an Assistant Public Defender, where she was not assigned to the most difficult positions. Since 1988, she has been an attorney with the Forest Preserve District. Attorneys describe her as personable. The Council has received reports that she does not have the legal ability to be a judge and, for that reason, finds her not qualified.

3/94 and 11/94 Elections – Not Qualified

Claudia Grace Conlon was rated not qualified by the Council in 1992 after the Council received reports that she is personable but lacks the legal ability to be a judge. In 1994 she did not participate in the Council's evaluation process. The Council sees no reason in these circumstances to change its prior assessment and finds her not qualified.

11/00 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Claudia Grace Conlon, 46, has been a judge since 1994. She sits in the Sixth Municipal District hearing both Municipal and Law Division cases. Before becoming a judge, she served as an Assistant Cook County Public Defender and she was an attorney with the Forest Preserve District. Lawyers report that Judge Conlon has demonstrated good legal ability and that she has improved as a judge since being first elected. Her temperament is excellent and she is considered hard working. The Council finds her Qualified.

2006 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Hon. Claudia Grace Conlon has been a judge since 1994. She sits in the Second Municipal District in Skokie hearing misdemeanor, traffic, small claims, bond court, and orders protection matters. Before becoming a judge, she served as an Assistant Cook County Public Defender and she was an attorney with the Forest Preserve District. Judge Conlon is considered to have good legal ability and temperament. She is praised for taking the time to communicate with each litigant, despite the fact she presides over a high volume courtroom. She is hard working. The Council finds her Qualified.

Mr. Connolly is reported to have good legal ability with litigation experience in complex criminal and civil matters. He has a good temperament. The Council finds him Qualified for the Circuit Court.

Maureen E. CONNORS

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Illinois Appellate Court, First District (Appointed by the Illinois Supreme Court in 2010)

Previous Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Probate Division

1991-1994: Associate Judge, Fifth Municipal District;
1990-1991: Domestic Violence Court; 1988-1990:
Traffic Court

Elected Associate Judge by Circuit Judges in 1988;
elected to the Circuit Court in 1994.

Evaluation

3/94 and 11/94 Circuit Court: Qualified

Maureen E. Connors, 43, is currently an Associate Judge assigned to a courtroom in the Fifth Municipal District in Bridgeview. She has mainly heard misdemeanor jury cases, preliminary hearings, and major traffic cases in Bridgeview. She became a Judge in December 1988 and was previously assigned to Traffic Court and to a Domestic Violence Court at 13th & Michigan.

Judge Connors was admitted to practice in 1979. Prior to becoming a judge she worked at Klafter & Burke, the firm of Alderman Ed Burke, and at the Chicago Park District.

Litigants who have appeared before Judge Connors describe her as fair, diligent, orderly, respectful of those before her, and with good legal ability for the matters that come before her. She has not been tested on a more complex call but has done very well on the calls to which she has been assigned to date.

In the March, 1994 primary, the Council rated Judge Connors qualified for election to the Circuit Court. After that rating, just before the primary election, Judge Connors participated in the primary in paying for a campaign flier that implied that she was running against a LaRouche party opponent. There was no LaRouche party candidate in the race. We believe this campaign flier was misleading and deceptive as a consequence. Judge Connors has reported to us that she did not know exactly what the flier would say or what the format would be, she did not mean to imply that her opponents were LaRouche party members, and she thought the presence of LaRouche party members in some primary races was a legitimate issue. While we recognize the intense pressures involved in election campaigns and the difficulties inherent in having judges campaign for election, the Council believes Judge Connors' participation in issuing this flier was inappropriate. We do not believe it was so serious that we should reduce her rating from qualified to not qualified, however. The Council finds her Qualified.

11/00 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Maureen E. Connors, 50, has been a judge since 1988. She sits in the Probate Division hearing cases involving disabled adults/guardianships. She has also been assigned to the Fifth Municipal District. She was in private practice and worked as an Assistant General Attorney with the Chicago Park District before becoming a judge. Lawyers report that Judge Connors is a good judge who handles a difficult call with great competence and patience. She has good legal ability and an excellent temperament. The Council finds her Qualified.

2006 Retention – Circuit Court: Well Qualified

Hon. Maureen E. Connors sits in the Probate Division hearing cases involving disabled adults/guardianships. She has also been assigned to the Fifth Municipal District. Judge Connors was appointed to the bench as an associate in 1988 and was elected in 1994. Before that, she was in private practice and worked as an Assistant General Attorney with the Chicago Park District. Judge Connors is reported to have excellent legal ability and is especially praised for her temperament. She has helped pioneer systemic reforms in the Probate Division, is involved in community service, and teaches at the Loyola Law School. The Council finds her Well Qualified.

Donna L. COOPER

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Juvenile Justice Division

Elected Circuit Court Judge in 2008

Evaluation

Qualified

Donna L. Cooper has been a lawyer since 1981. She has served as an Assistant Corporation Counsel for the City of Chicago doing personal injury, workers' compensation, and city ordinance prosecutions work,. She has also served as a Cook County Assistant Public Defender in the juvenile justice and child protection area. For 19 years, Ms. Cooper has had a military law practice while serving in the military. In 2003 she was deployed to Iraq where she served as the liaison officer between the Polish Legal Advisors and the U.S. legal office of the Combined Joint Task Force, where she advised on legal matters during the planning and conducting of military and humanitarian operations. During her last evaluation, the Council was concerned about Ms. Cooper's breadth of litigation experience. Since this evaluation, Ms. Cooper has worked to remedy this situation, expanding her litigation experience. She is considered to have good legal ability and temperament. The Council finds her Qualified for the Circuit Court.

Clayton J. CRANE

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Criminal Division

Previous Judicial Duties

1996-1998: Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Elected to the Circuit Court in 1996.

3/96 Primary Election – Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Clayton J. Crane, 49, has been practicing law for 20 years. From 1979 to the present, Mr. Crane has had a general practice of law. Between 1976 and 1979 he was an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney. Mr. Crane is the Village Attorney for the Village of Streamwood. He is also the Prosecutor for the Village of Streamwood which involves prosecuting ordinance violations. As Village Attorney, Mr. Crane supervises outside counsel who are hired for protracted or complicated matters. His private practice does not involve substantial litigation. Mr. Crane is praised for his legal ability and good temperament. However, he lacks sufficient recent litigation experience to qualify him to serve as judge. The Council finds him Not Qualified.

11/02 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Hon. Clayton Jay Crane was elected to the Circuit Court in 1996. He has sat in the Criminal Division since 1998 and currently hears felony cases.

In 1998, and from 2000 to 2001, he was a floating judge. From 1998 until 2000, he was in the Evening Narcotics Section. He was assigned to the Traffic Court from 1996 to 1998. Prior to his election to the bench, Judge Crane had varied experience, including his work as Assistant Cook County State's Attorney, a term as Village Attorney and Prosecutor for the Village of Streamwood, and private practice.

Judge Crane is well regarded by both prosecutors and defense attorneys who practice before him, and he is considered one of the fairest judges in the division by attorneys who practice before him. He has been the subject of publicity regarding his May 2002 bench trial decision in People v. Anthony Bohling, finding five Cook County

Sheriff's deputies not guilty of attempted murder and reckless discharge of a firearm in connection with an off-duty incident in which they chased and shot at an African-American couple in suburban Robbins. In spite of the controversy, there are no indications that Judge Crane acted out of bias or other wrongful motive in acquitting the officers. The Council finds Judge Crane Qualified for retention.

2008 Retention: Well Qualified

Hon. Clayton Jay Crane was elected to the Circuit Court in 1996. He has sat in the Criminal Division since 1998 and currently hears felony cases. In 1998, and from 2000 to 2001, he was a floating judge. From 1998 until 2000, he was in the Evening Narcotics Section. He was assigned to the Traffic Court from 1996 to 1998. Evaluation: Qualified

Maureen Leahy Delahanty has been a lawyer since 1992. She has served as a Cook County Assistant State's Attorney throughout her career. Since April 2007 she has been the coordinator of the preliminary hearings room in the Markham courthouse. Lawyers report that Ms. Delahanty is considered to have good legal ability. A few lawyers complained about her temperament, but she is generally considered to be a knowledgeable prosecutor who does her job well. The Council finds her Qualified for the Circuit Court.

David DELGADO

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Domestic Relations Division

Previous Judicial Duties

1994-1998: Judge, Circuit Court, Domestic Relations Division, Expedited Child Support Section; 1991-1993: Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District, Traffic Division

Elected to the Circuit Court in 1992.

Evaluation
11/92 Sixth Subcircuit: Not Recommended

David Delgado, 41, was admitted to the bar in 1977. Mr. Delgado has not participated in the Council's evaluation process. The Council has received insufficient information to judge his qualifications for the Circuit Court. Mr. Delgado therefore is not recommended.

11/98 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

David Delgado, 47, was elected to the bench in 1992 following 15 years of private practice. He currently sits in the Domestic Relations Division where he hears child support, paternity, and domestic violence cases. He is considered to be even-handed, with a good grasp of the law. Lawyers report that he has a very good judicial temperament. The Council finds him Qualified for retention.

2/03 Appointment to Illinois Appellate Court: Not Qualified

Hon. David Delgado was elected to the bench in 1992 following 15 years of private practice. He currently sits in the Domestic Relations Division, where he primarily hears divorce proceedings. He was first assigned to the Traffic Court from late 1992 to 1993. In 1994, he transferred to the First Municipal District. He served in the Expedited Child Support Section of the Domestic Relations Division from 1994 to 1998. Judge Delgado was admitted to practice in 1977. Judge Delgado receives reasonably good reports from lawyers currently appearing before him. He has a good grasp of domestic relations law and has a very good temperament. The Council is concerned, however, because of the relative narrowness of his legal experience, particularly a lack of substantial appellate experience. He has not yet demonstrated an adequate level of legal scholarship to overcome these deficiencies. The Council finds Judge Delgado Not Qualified for the Appellate Court.

11/04 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

David Delgado was elected to the bench in 1992 following 15 years of private practice. He currently sits in the Domestic Relations Division, where he primarily hears divorce proceedings. Anna Helen DEMACOPOULOS

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Sixth Municipal District

Elected Circuit Court Judge in 2008

2002 Evaluation for Associate Judgeship: Well Qualified

Anna Helen Demacopoulos was admitted to practice in Illinois in 1985. Ms. Demacopoulos has spent her entire career with the Cook County State's Attorney's Office and is currently the Supervisor, Special Grand Jury, in the Narcotics Bureau at 26th and California. Prior to that she was a Deputy Supervisor in Felony Review (3 years), a Deputy Supervisor in the First Municipal Division (5 years), and an Assistant State's Attorney (8 years). From 1987 to the present, she has been an adjunct professor at the John Marshall Law School teaching all levels of trial advocacy. Since 1997, she has been the Grant Reviewer and Program Consultant on Domestic Violence, Stalking, Hate Crimes and Community Prosecution for the Department of Justice's Bureau of Justice Assistance, Violence Against Women's Office. The investigation of this candidate confirmed her talent as a lawyer, her integrity and her work ethic.

Ms. Demacopoulos identified two cases in which her professional conduct has been commented on by the Appellate Court. A Chicago Tribune investigation also uncovered a 1989 Batson violation that the district judge found to be the product of the candidate's inexperience. Upon review, we regard these matters as insufficiently serious or current to disqualify the candidate. The Council finds Ms. Demacopoulos Well Qualified to serve in the Circuit Court.

Evaluation

2006 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Well Qualified

Hon. Grace G. Dickler was appointed to the bench in 1988 and has sat in the Domestic Relations Division since 1991. She is currently assigned to an individual calendar in Skokie. She has also served in Housing Court and Traffic Court. Prior to becoming a judge, she spent two years as an Immigration Judge. From 1982 to 1986, she was an Administrative Law Judge at the Illinois Human Rights Commission. Before that she was a supervising attorney at Travelers and Immigrants Aid. She was a solo general practitioner from 1979 until 1981. She spent her first year as a lawyer as a staff attorney, Cook County Legal Assistance Foundation. Associate Judge Dickler is considered to be a solid jurist and a good administrator. She has good legal ability and an excellent judicial temperament. She is known to be diligent and hard working, and treats parties before her with dignity and compassion. She is praised for explaining her rulings to litigants. The Council finds her Well Qualified for the Circuit Court.

Christopher J. DONNELLY

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Sixth Municipal District, Felony Trials

Previous Judicial Duties

2000-2004: Judge, Circuit Court, Sixth Municipal District, misdemeanors; 1994-2000: Judge, Circuit Court, Juvenile Justice Division, Child Protection Division

Elected to the Circuit Court in 1994.

Evaluation

11/00 Retention – Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Christopher J. Donnelly, 44, has been a judge since 1994. He is presently assigned to the Juvenile Justice Division. Before becoming a judge, he was a sole practitioner and an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney. Lawyers report that Judge Donnelly has good legal ability. But many report that he has poor judgment and temperament. There are several reports that he is short-tempered and disrespectful to juvenile defendants. The Council also questions his practice of praying with children housed at the Juvenile Detention Center – some of whom have pending cases in front of him. There are reports that he demonstrates a pro-prosecution bias. The Council finds him Not Qualified.

2006 Retention – Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Hon. Christopher J. Donnelly has been a judge since 1994. He has been assigned to the Sixth Municipal District in Markham since 2000 and currently hears felony trials. He was previously assigned to the Juvenile Justice Division. Before becoming a judge, he was an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney. Judge Donnelly is considered to have adequate legal ability and temperament. He is considered to be hard working. The Council, however, continues to receive reports that Judge Donnelly demonstrates a pro-prosecution bias from the bench. On balance, the Council finds him Not Qualified.

Thomas More DONNELLY

Present Judicial Duties

Associate Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Elected Associate Judge by Circuit Judges in 2003.

2000 Primary Elections – Circuit Court: Qualified

Thomas More Donnelly, 41, is a 1986 graduate of Loyola Law School. He was appointed Circuit Court Judge in November 1999. He spent eleven years working in the Office of the Cook County Public Defender. From 1997 to 1999, he was a supervisor for eight lawyers in the Post Conviction Unit in Criminal Division courtrooms throughout all six Municipal Districts. He was also part-time Director of the Philip H. Corboy Trial Advocacy Fellowship and an Ethics Consultant for law firms. From 1990 to 1997, he was a supervisor in the training division of the PD's Office and for misdemeanor trial and felony preliminary hearings. Before that, he spent two years as an attorney in the appeals division. He was a judicial law clerk for the Illinois Appellate Court for the first two years of his legal career. He has extensive criminal trial and appellate experience. He has taught trial advocacy at the University of Chicago and Loyola Law Schools. The Council finds him Qualified.

2001 Evaluations for Associate Judge: Not Recommended

In March 2001, the Council found Judge Donnelly Not Recommended for the position of Associate Judge.

2002 Evaluations for Associate Judge: Qualified

John T. DOODY, Jr.

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Criminal Division

Elected to the Circuit Court in 2002.

2002 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Qualified

John Thomas Doody, Jr. was admitted to practice in Illinois in 1974. Since 1979, he has been engaged in the private general practice of law as a sole practitioner. His work is now concentrated in real estate and estate planning, although he used to handle a variety of both civil and criminal trial work. He has also worked in government service, holding the positions of President of the village of Homewood and State Representative. Since 1997, he has also worked part-time at the Secretary of State Department of Administrative Hearings, training hearing officers and prosecutors and representing the Secretary of State at hearings. He also chairs and serves as an arbitrator in the Mandatory Arbitration program for the Circuit Court of Cook County. From 1974 to 1979, he worked as a law clerk to an appellate justice. Although he lacks recent trial experience, he had significant litigation experience earlier in his career, in addition to his more recent experience in Administrative Hearings and Mandatory Arbitration. He has a reputation for high integrity and excellent legal knowledge and ability. Mr. Doody is considered hard working and committed to public service. The Council finds him Qualified.

2008 Retention: Qualified

Hon. John Thomas Doody, Jr. was admitted to practice in Illinois in 1974. He was elected to the bench in 2002 and currently sits in the Criminal Division, hearing drug-related cases. Before being elected to the bench, he was a sole practitioner. He also worked in government service, holding the positions of President of the village of Homewood and State Representative. Judge Doody is reported to have good legal ability and temperament. The Council finds him Qualified for retention.

Deborah Mary DOOLING

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Law Division

Previous Judicial Duties

1992-1997: Judge, Circuit Court, Criminal Division

Elected to the Circuit Court in 1992.

Evaluation

3/90 (D) Circuit Court: Qualified

Deborah Mary Dooling was admitted to practice law in 1978. She has served as an Assistant State's Attorney since 1980. Ms. Dooling is considered to be a competent, hard-working prosecutor, with good legal ability. The Council has received a few reports questioning whether she has been unfair to opponents. Most lawyers, however, find her to be fair. On balance, therefore, the Council finds her Qualified.

1992 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court Qualified

Deborah Dooling, 37, was admitted to practice in 1978. She has served as an Assistant State's Attorney since 1980. Ms. Dooling is considered to be a competent, hard-working lawyer with adequate legal ability.

In 1990, Ms. Dooling was elected to the Circuit Court in an election that was subsequently invalidated for technical reasons. At that time, the Council received reports that Ms. Dooling had been unfair to opponents in litigation. Because most lawyers found her to be fair, the Council rated her qualified. While the Council still has some questions concerning Ms. Dooling's legal ability and fairness, it finds her Qualified, based on the majority of the reports it has received.

11/98 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Deborah Dooling, 43, was elected to the bench in 1992 after a career as an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney. She has spent most of her judicial career doing criminal work. In June 1997 she was transferred to the Law Division. She has good legal ability and a good temperament. Some defense counsel say she was too state-minded when she was hearing criminal law cases – that she was too quick to adopt the prosecutors' views of the cases. However, civil practitioners say she has successfully made the transition to the Law Division and that she is a solid jurist. The Council finds her Qualified for retention.

11/04 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

Deborah Dooling was elected to the bench in 1992 after a career as an Assistant Cook County

State's Attorney. She has spent most of her judicial career doing criminal work. In June 1997 she was transferred to the Law Division. She has good legal ability and a good temperament, and, in general, is considered to be a solid jurist. The Council finds her Qualified for retention.

2006 Primary Election – Appellate Court: Qualified

Hon. Deborah Mary Dooling was elected to the bench in 1992 after a career as an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney. She was transferred to the Law Division in 1997, after spending the beginning of her judicial career presiding over criminal matters. She has been the Supervising Judge of the Surety Section since 2003. Judge Dooling is considered to be an excellent trial judge with good legal ability and temperament. She has judicial experience in both civil and criminal law matters. The Council finds her Qualified for the Appellate Court.

11/10 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

Judge Deborah M. Dooling was elected to the bench in 1992 and is currently Presiding Judge in the Law Division. Previously, she served in the Criminal Division, the Chancery Division, and the Law Division, hearing jury trials. In 2001, she was appointed by the Supreme Court to the Judicial Conference and the Committee on Discovery Rules. Judge Dooling was admitted to Illinois Bar in 1978. She was an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney in the Criminal, Civil and Appellate Divisions and was in private practice.

Judge Dooling is considered to be a very good judge with good ability and temperament. She has done well in both civil and criminal assignments. She is a solid jurist. The Council finds her Qualified for retention.

Jennifer DUNCAN-BRICE

Present Judicial Duties

1992-Present: Judge, Circuit Court, Law Division, Individual General Calendar

Previous Judicial Duties

Law Division, Motions Section

Elected to the Circuit Court in 1992.

Evaluation

1992 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Highly Qualified

Jennifer Duncan-Brice, 40, has been an attorney with the Corporation Counsel's office for 17 years. From 1985 to 1987 she was Chief Assistant for the Tort Division. Since 1987, she has been Deputy Corporation Counsel. She is a former president of the Federal Bar Association.

Ms. Duncan-Brice is reported to be an excellent trial attorney, practicing in a variety of areas including public condemnation, eminent domain, federal civil rights and tort defense. As a supervisor, she is credited with successfully reorganizing and revitalizing the moribund and demoralized tort department. She reduced the backlog of cases pending against the City and established competent and appropriately skilled teams of trial attorneys to handle the City's tort defense litigation. Colleagues and adversaries alike have praised her legal abilities, integrity, temperament and fairness. Indeed, opponents' only reservation about the prospect of her becoming a judge is their regret that she would leave her current position, where she has been fair and efficient.

Because she has displayed outstanding legal and administrative skills, the Council finds Ms. Duncan-Brice to be highly qualified.

1998 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Jennifer Duncan-Brice, 47, was elected to the bench in 1992 after a long career as an Assistant Corporation Counsel for the City of Chicago. She sits in the Law Division. She has very good legal ability and all lawyers report that she is a solid jurist. She is considered to be well prepared and exceptionally hard-working. She has good judicial temperament. Her fairness and integrity are unquestioned. The Council finds her Well Qualified for retention.

11/04 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Well Qualified

Jennifer Duncan-Brice, 47, was elected to the bench in 1992 after a long career as an Assistant Corporation Counsel for the City of Chicago. She sits in the Law Division. She has very good legal ability and all lawyers report that she is a solid jurist. She is considered to be well prepared and exceptionally hard-working. She has good judicial temperament. Her fairness and integrity are unquestioned. The Council finds her Well Qualified for retention.

11/10 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Well Qualified

Jennifer Duncan-Brice was elected to the Cook County Circuit Court in 1992. Since 1995, she has served as judge in the Law Division of the Circuit Court of Cook County. Evaluation

2004 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Qualified

Laurence J. Dunford was admitted to the Illinois Bar in 1971. He has been in private practice, all in small firms or as a solo practitioner, for his entire career. Since 2001, he has had a solo civil litigation practice, mostly in personal injury cases. Mr. Dunford is a 1971 graduate of the John Marshall Law School.

Mr. Dunford is considered to have good legal ability and temperament. He is well regarded as a solid practitioner. The Council finds him Qualified for the Circuit Court.

11/10 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Not Qualified
Judge Laurence Dunford was elected to the bench in 2004 and is currently assigned to the First Municipal District. Judge Dunford was admitted to practice in 1971. Prior to election, he was in private practice.

Judge Dunford presents a difficult case. Most respondents say that he has a good knowledge of the law and with adequate legal ability and temperament. But other respondents find fault with his temperament, saying that he can be short-tempered and unpredictable from day to day. The Council concludes that he is Not Qualified for retention.

Elected to the Circuit Court in 2000.

Evaluation

11/00 Fifth Subcircuit: Not Recommended

Loretta Eadie-Daniels did not participate in the Council's evaluation process, submitting no information in support of her candidacy. The Council received insufficient information to judge her qualifications for the Circuit Court. The Council finds her Not Recommended.

2006 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Hon. Loretta Eadie-Daniels currently hears a misdemeanor call in the Sixth Municipal District, where she has been assigned since her election in 2000. Prior to her election, she was an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney and, before that, an attorney for the Chicago Transit Authority. Judge Eadie-Daniels is considered to have adequate legal ability and is well regarded as a judge in her current assignment. She has a good temperament. The Council finds her Qualified.

Lauren Gottainer EDIDEN

Present Judicial Duties:

Associate Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Elected Associate Judge by Circuit Judges in 2007.

Evaluation

2006 Evaluations for Associate Judge: Qualified

Lauren Ediden was admitted to practice in 1989. She has been a solo practitioner handling criminal defense matters since 2000. She also serves as Village Prosecutor for Northbrook. From 1993 to 2000, she was an associate at Massucci Blomquist & Brown. From 1989 until 1993, she was an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney. Ms. Ediden is reported to have good legal ability and temperament, and is praised for her community involvement. The Council has some concerns about her limited litigation experience in complex matters, but notes that she has substantial litigation experience generally, including prosecuting municipal cases in a large volume courtroom. The Council finds her Qualified to serve in the Circuit Court.

James D. EGAN

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Criminal Division

Previous Judicial Duties

1991-1994: Associate Judge, Criminal Division (Evening Narcotics); First Municipal District

Elected Associate Judge by Circuit Judges in 1988; elected to the Circuit Court in 1994.

Evaluation

3/90 (D) Circuit Court: Qualified

Associate Judge James D. Egan currently sits in the First Municipal District. Both prosecutors and defense counsel praise Judge Egan as being hard working and fair. His knowledge of the law and his integrity are considered to be excellent. The Council, therefore, finds him Qualified.

3/94 Circuit Court: Qualified

James Daniel Egan, 43, sits as a judge in Evening Narcotics at 26th and California. Upon becoming a judge in 1988, he was assigned to Traffic Court. He later was assigned to the First Municipal District. Before taking the bench, he spent significant time as a trial lawyer in both the Cook County Public Defender's Office and the Cook County State's Attorney's Office. Judge Egan runs a high volume court call efficiently while at the same time giving all parties full and fair opportunity to be heard. He is uniformly praised for his patient, calm and courteous temperament and for his work ethic. His knowledge of the law is good. He is generally regarded as fair and independent. The Council finds him Qualified.

11/00 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

James Daniel Egan, 50, has been a judge since 1988. He sits in the Criminal Division at 26th and California Avenue hearing felony cases. Before becoming a judge, he served as both an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney and as an Assistant Cook County Public Defender. Lawyers report that Judge Egan has good legal ability and judicial temperament. He is considered hard working. The Council finds him Qualified.

2006 Retention – Circuit Court: Well Qualified

Hon. James Daniel Egan has been a judge since his appointment as an associate in 1988. He was elected in 1994. He sits in the Criminal Division at 26th and California Avenue hearing felony cases. Before taking the bench, he served as both an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney and as an Assistant Cook County Public Defender. Judge Egan is widely respected as a solid jurist with very good legal ability and temperament. He is praised for his courtroom management skills and he considered to be hard working. The Council finds him Well Qualified.

2008 Retention: Qualified

Hon. Lynn M. Egan was appointed to the Circuit Court in 1995 and was elected the following year. Since March 2002, Judge Egan is assigned to the Individual Calendar Section of the Law Division. After her appointment, she served in Traffic Court. From 1997 to 1998, she was assigned to the Administrative/Assignment call in the Law Division. She was then transferred to the Fifth Municipal District. In 2001 she was appointed to the Commercial Calendar Section. She is generally regarded as a solid jurist with the very good legal ability and integrity. In her 2002 investigation, some attorneys raised concerns regarding her temperament. Judge Egan recognized that this was an area on which she needed to improve. In the current investigation, lawyers report that she has a good temperament. She is still considered to have very good legal ability and integrity. She is praised for her courtroom management skills, and is reported to be hard working and always prepared. The Council finds her Qualified for retention.

She is generally regarded as a solid jurist with the requisite legal knowledge and ability and integrity. Some attorneys, however, raise concerns regarding her temperament, noting that she can sometimes be sharp even before juries. Judge Egan recognizes that this is an area that she must continue to work on. The Council finds her Qualified for retention.

Richard J. ELROD

Present Judicial Duties

1988-Present: Judge, Circuit Court, Law Division, Jury Section

Appointed Circuit Court Judge in 1988; elected to the Circuit Court in 1990

Evaluation

1990 (D) Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Judge Elrod's candidacy presents an unusual dilemma for the voters. His excellent legal ability and varied experience must be balanced against his poor performance as the longtime Sheriff of Cook County. Before becoming a judge, Elrod served as a senior attorney in the Attorney General's Office and received praise for his work on issues involving disability rights. For the past year and a half, he has been hearing personal injury cases, and lawyers report that Judge Elrod has demonstrated diligence and skill in bringing cases to equitable settlement. However, these achievements are cast in the shadow of Judge Elrod's 16 years as Cook County Sheriff. During that time, Elrod presided over a deeply entrenched system of patronage and corruption. While there is no evidence linking Elrod to any incident of wrongdoing, the corruption in one of the major units in his office, the Sheriff's Police, has been the subject of intense federal investigation. Though Elrod apparently did not know of the corruption plaguing this unit, its history raises questions as to his administrative capabilities. In addition, Elrod only instituted sorely needed reforms in the Sheriff's Department after being urged to do so by the Special Commission on the Administration of Justice in Cook County and others. The Council believes that the kind of patronage abuse that plagued the Sheriff's Office has also been a primary cause of problems in the Circuit Court. For these reasons, we cannot find Judge Elrod qualified for the Circuit Court.

10/96 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Judge Richard J. Elrod, 62, has been a judge since 1988. He has served in the Law Division, Jury Section for his entire judicial career. Practitioners report that Judge Elrod has excellent legal ability and has demonstrated skill and diligence in bringing cases to equitable settlement. He is praised as being fair and having an excellent judicial temperament. In 1990, the Council found Judge Elrod not qualified for retention based on questions raised by his performance as Cook County Sheriff between 1971 and 1986. The Council found that while there was no evidence linking Judge Elrod to wrongdoing in that department, he had presided over an agency deeply entrenched in patronage and corruption. However, our current investigation has found nothing to suggest that Judge Elrod is not independent. In light of the positive comments the Council has received about his performance as a judge, the Council finds Judge Elrod qualified.

11/02 Retention – Circuit Court: Highly Qualified

Hon. Richard J. Elrod was appointed to the Circuit Court in 1988 and was elected to the bench in 1990. He has served in the Law Division, Trial Section for his entire judicial career. He began his career in the Chicago Department of Law, where he was an Assistant Corporation Counsel for 13 years. From 1969 to 1970, he was a State Representative in the Illinois General Assembly. He was Cook County Sheriff from 1970 to 1986. For two years prior to his appointment, Judge Elrod was the Senior Assistant Attorney General. Practitioners report that Judge Elrod has excellent legal ability and has demonstrated skill and diligence in bringing cases to equitable settlement and in conducting jury trials. Judge Elrod is one of the hardest working judges in the Circuit Court. He is praised as evenhanded and as having an excellent judicial temperament. He displays empathy for litigants and respect for attorneys who appear before him. The Council finds Judge Elrod Highly Qualified for retention.

2008 Retention: Well Qualified

Hon. Richard J. Elrod was appointed to the Circuit Court in 1988 and was elected to the bench in 1990. He has served in the Law Division, Trial Section for his entire judicial career. He began his career in the Chicago Department of Law, where he was an Assistant Corporation Counsel for 13 years. From 1969 to 1970, he was a State Representative in the Illinois General Assembly. He was Cook County Sheriff from 1970 to 1986. For two years prior to his appointment, Judge Elrod was the Senior Assistant Attorney General. In 2002, the Council found that practitioners report that Judge Elrod had excellent legal ability and had demonstrated skill and diligence in bringing cases to equitable settlement and in conducting jury trials. The Council praised Judge Elrod is one of the hardest working judges in the Circuit Court. The 2008 investigation made similar findings. He is a solid jurist with an excellent judicial temperament. The Council finds Judge Elrod Well Qualified for retention.

He is described by lawyers who have appeared in cases with him as a solid lawyer with very good legal ability. The Council believes he is qualified.

11/98 Retention – Circuit Court: Highly Qualified

Timothy C. Evans is the Presiding Judge of the Domestic Relations Division. He was elected to the bench in 1992 after a long career as a solo practitioner and government official. Lawyers report that Judge Evans is an outstanding judge who is knowledgeable, patient, fair, and hard working. He has good legal ability and an excellent temperament, and is believed to be completely fair and of the highest integrity. He is also widely praised for his innovative work as an administrator, and is credited by many respondents for substantially improving the Domestic Relations Division. The Council finds him Highly Qualified for retention.

2004 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Highly Qualified

Timothy C. Evans is the Chief Judge of the Circuit Court of Cook County. He has served as the Presiding Judge of the Domestic Relations Division. He was elected to the bench in 1992 after a long career as a solo practitioner and government official. Lawyers report that Judge Evans is an outstanding judge who is knowledgeable, patient, fair, and hard working. He has good legal ability and an excellent temperament, and is believed to be completely fair and of the highest integrity. He is also widely praised for his innovative work as an administrator. As the Presiding Judge in the Domestic Relations Division, he is credited by many lawyers for substantially improving the Division. As the Chief Judge, he has been accessible to the legal community and receives praise for his commitment to improving the court system. The Council finds him Highly Qualified for retention.

11/10 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Highly Qualified

Timothy Evans graduated from John Marshall Law School in 1969. He was admitted to practice in 1966. Judge Timothy Evans was elected to the bench in 1992 and was elected Chief Judge in 2001. He has been unanimously re-elected chief judge three times. Prior to his election to the bench, Judge Evans was an assistant corporation counsel for the City of Chicago and had served as a floor leader for Mayor Harold Washington and as an Alderman for the 4th Ward.

As Chief Judge, he does not hear cases, but sees to the administration of the courts. Chief Judge Evans created a domestic violence division for the Cook County Circuit Court, re-instituted a pre-trial services program and changed procedure so that bond hearings are conducted in person, rather than via teleconferencing. He is responsive to public concerns about the judiciary and is working with interested groups to institute a diversion and deferral program in the criminal courts to reduce cost and waste and better serve the interests of the community. The Council finds Judge Evans Highly Qualified for retention.

Candace Jean FABRI

Present Judicial Duties

1996-Present: Judge, Circuit Court, Child Protection Division

Date of admission to practice law in Illinois: 1975

Elected to the Circuit Court in 1996.

Evaluation

3/96 Primary Election–Circuit Court: Highly Qualified

Candace Jean Fabri, 46, has been practicing law for 20 years. She is a partner in the firm of Sachnoff & Weaver, where she has practiced since 1986. From 1977 to 1979, and from 1980 to 1986, she was an Assistant United States Attorney. From 1979 to 1980, she was an Assistant Professor at the Loyola University School of Law. She was a judicial law clerk to Judge Joel M. Flaum in the United States District Court for the Northern District of Illinois. Ms. Fabri has served as counsel to the Illinois Judicial Inquiry Board. She has extensive experience in both state and federal court and has practiced both civil and criminal law. Attorneys report that she has superb legal skills and is very hard working. Based on her broad experience and excellent abilities, the Council finds her Highly Qualified.

11/02 Retention – Circuit Court: Highly Qualified

Hon. Candace J. Fabri has sat in the Child Protection Division of the Juvenile Court since her election to the bench in 1996. She previously had experience as a law clerk for then-U.S. District Court Judge Joel Flaum, an Assistant Professor of Law at Loyola University, an Assistant U.S. Attorney, and as a partner in the firm of Sachnoff & Weaver. Through the investigation and interview process, Judge Fabri distinguished herself as highly engaged by her present assignment. All reports have been extremely positive regarding her ability to conduct the courtroom, her legal ability, and her acuity during often-tempestuous hearings. She takes exceptional interest in the placement of children in foster care, and blazed a legal trail (eventually approved by the Illinois Supreme Court in the In re A.H. case in 2001) by asserting jurisdiction and ordering removal of a beaten child from a foster home. The Council finds Judge Fabri Highly Qualified for retention.

2008 Retention: Well Qualified

Hon. Candace J. Fabri has sat in the Child Protection Division of the Juvenile Court since her election to the bench in 1996. She previously had experience as a law clerk for then-U.S. District Court Judge Joel Flaum, an Assistant Professor of Law at Loyola University, an Assistant U.S. Attorney, and as a partner in the firm of Sachnoff & Weaver. Through the investigation and interview process, Judge Fabri distinguished herself as highly engaged by her present assignment. She is reported to have excellent legal ability and is considered to be exceptionally hard-working. She has the ability to be assigned anywhere in the Circuit Court. There are some reports, however, that Judge Fabri can be rude in court – at times directing her anger against lawyers and caseworkers who she thinks is not doing their job properly. While we believe this behavior should not be exhibited in the courtroom, we also believe that Judge Fabri is an exceptionally smart judge who cares deeply about the children, parents, and guardians who appear before her. The Council finds Judge Fabri Well Qualified for retention.

Previous Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Appointed Circuit Court Judge in 2003.

2002 Primary Election – Appellate Court: Not Qualified

Roger Fein is seeking to fill a vacancy on the Illinois Appellate Court, First District. He was admitted to practice in Illinois in 1965. From 1967 until the present, Mr. Fein has been in private practice. From 1967 to 1991, he was an associate and then a partner with Arvey Hodes Costello & Burman. From 1992 until the present, he has been a partner at Wildman, Harrold, Allen & Dixon. Throughout his 35 years of practice, Mr. Fein has worked principally as a transactional lawyer in corporate and securities law. Those contacted about Mr. Fein's qualifications had high praise regarding his legal ability and diligence.

Although Mr. Fein is very experienced in transactional work, he has limited trial and appellate experience. Mr. Fein, however, has had experience in working together with litigators to develop strategy and to counsel clients. He also has had experience in helping to settle matters, and he has assisted litigators with a few bench trials.

Notwithstanding that the candidate is an intelligent and a well respected transactional lawyer, his virtual lack of trial and appellate experience is disabling. And, despite the fact that Mr. Fein appears sincere in wanting to become a Justice, he has not taken sufficient steps to compensate for his lack of trial experience. In short, Mr. Fein does not appear to have adequately prepared himself for the difficult task of being an Appellate Court Justice. Accordingly, the Council finds him Not Qualified for the position of an Appellate Court Justice.

2004 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Qualified

The Honorable Roger G. Fein has been a judge since January 2003 and is presently assigned to the traffic court in the First Municipal District. From 1965 to 1967, Judge Fein served as a staff attorney with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission in Washington DC. From 1967 to 1991, he was an associate and then a partner with Arvey Hodes Costello & Berman, and from 1992 to 2003, he was a partner at Wildman, Harrold, Allen & Dixon. His practice focused on commercial and securities law transactions. Judge Fein's evaluation was limited to his performance as a trial judge. In this position, lawyers appearing before him report that he is especially diligent and well prepared. He is praised for his courtroom management skills. The Council finds him Qualified for the Circuit Court.

Evaluation

11/88 Retention – Circuit Court: Highly Qualified

Judge Fitzgerald, currently the presiding Judge in Traffic Court, has held that position since April 1987. He is credited by the Traffic Court Task Force of the Special Commission on the Administration of Justice in Cook County, as well as by attorneys who work with and appear before him, with instituting innovative reforms in the administration of a court burdened with scandal and a crushing volume of cases. He has implemented changes to eliminate “hustling” and has instituted a new Traffic Safety School. Before moving to the Traffic Court, he won the respect of both prosecutors and defense attorneys for his work as a trial judge in the recidivist criminal court. He is praised for his knowledge of the law, his evenhandedness, and his scrupulous integrity. He brings enthusiasm, intelligence, and dignity to his new judicial and administrative tasks. The public should be grateful for the outstanding leadership he has shown in his current assignment. His task would be assisted by the construction of a new facility for Traffic Court, for which he has been working.

Thomas R. Fitzgerald, 53, is the Presiding Judge of the Criminal Division, a position he has held since January 1989. Judge Fitzgerald previously served as a trial judge in the Criminal Division and from April 1987 to January 1989 was supervising judge of Traffic Court. The Council in 1982 described him as one of the bright young stars of the criminal division. In 1988, when Judge Fitzgerald was supervising judge of Traffic Court, the Council rated him highly qualified and praised him for instituting innovative reforms at a court burdened with scandal and a crushing volume of cases.

Judge Fitzgerald’s administration of the Criminal Division has been good, although not as obviously outstanding as his performance in previous assignments. As head of the Criminal Division he has taken a number of steps to improve its operation, including the creation of the evening narcotics court; use of floating judges to make sure that courtrooms are used to the fullest extent possible; recruitment of a generally good corps of young judges to come into the Division; effective use of the Coordinating Council and Principals Committee to ensure communication among key actors in the Division; moving arraignments from the call of the Presiding Judge to the individual trial judges; and taking steps to ensure the early release of discovery materials.

The Council concludes that in his prior assignments Judge Fitzgerald has been an outstanding trial judge and administrator. In his current assignment he has done a good, effective job as Presiding Judge of the Criminal Division.

Accordingly, the Council finds Judge Fitzgerald highly qualified for retention.

2000 Primary & General Elections – Supreme Court: Well Qualified

Thomas R. Fitzgerald, 58, is a 1968 graduate of the John Marshall Law School. For the past eleven years, he has served as Presiding Judge of the Criminal Division located at 2600 S. California Avenue in Chicago. He has mostly supervisory, administrative, and case-management duties. He also presides over a daily assignment call. Before becoming Presiding Judge, he was the Supervising Judge of the 1st Municipal District Traffic Court for almost two years. From 1976 to 1987, he was a trial judge assigned to the Criminal Division. Prior to becoming a judge, he worked as an Assistant State's Attorney for eight years.

Judge Fitzgerald is considered to have excellent legal knowledge and ability. As a judge he gained a reputation for integrity and impartiality. Attorneys praise him for his diligence as well as for his judicial temperament. Judge Fitzgerald lacks civil practice and appellate judging experience, but the Council believes that, given the candidate's other strengths, he will learn quickly in these areas. The Council finds Judge Fitzgerald well qualified for the Illinois Supreme Court.

3/88 (D) Circuit Court: Not Recommended

Ms. Flanagan is a private practitioner. The Council has received insufficient information to judge her qualifications for the Circuit Court.

11/88 (D) Not Qualified

Ms. Flanagan has been in private general practice since 1979. The Council does not believe that Ms. Flanagan has the professional experience necessary for the judiciary.

11/94 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Kathy M. Flanagan, 41, has been a judge since she was elected in 1988. She served in the Domestic Relations Division until January 1993. Since that time she has been assigned to the Law Division as a judge on the motion call. As a motion call judge, Judge Flanagan runs a very tight ship. She works hard and usually is well prepared. She does her own research and has one of the most current calendars in the Law Division. The majority of reports we have received about Judge Flanagan's legal abilities are very favorable. However, we have received a number of reports that Judge Flanagan can be unnecessarily rude or hostile to attorneys. In addition, attorneys report that she has, on occasion, ruled without adequate preparation, resulting in questionable rulings. The motion call assignment is a difficult and demanding one and these problems may be caused in part by the nature of her call. Given her strengths and dedication, on balance the Council finds Judge Flanagan to be qualified for retention.

3/96 Primary Election – Appellate Court: Qualified

Kathy M. Flanagan, 43, has been a Circuit Judge since she was elected in 1988. She sits in the Law Division, where she hears a motion call. From 1988 to 1993, she sat in the Domestic Relations Division. In 1994, the Council found Judge Flanagan qualified for retention but noted a number of reports indicating that she could be unnecessarily rude to attorneys. The investigation for this election indicates that Judge Flanagan has addressed that problem and has improved. Attorneys report that she is exceptionally well-prepared in her present assignment, which is similar to the functions of an appellate judge. She has good legal ability and moves her call well. The Council finds her Qualified.

1998 Primary & General Elections – Appellate Court: Qualified

Judge Kathy M. Flanagan has served as a Motion Judge in the Law Division since 1992. She was a judge in the Domestic Relations Division between 1988 and 1992. Between 1980 and 1988 she was in private practice with a concentration in domestic relations. Judge Flanagan has good legal ability and is exceptionally hard-working. Some lawyers characterize her temperament as overly rigid but most lawyers praise her as a no-nonsense judge who does a difficult job well. The Council finds her Qualified.

11/00 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Kathy M. Flanagan, 47, was first elected as Circuit Court Judge in 1988 and retained by the voters in 1994. Prior to reaching the bench, Judge Flanagan had ten years of legal experience, mostly in a solo general practice. The Council previously found Judge Flanagan not qualified in 1988 due to her lack of experience, but found her qualified for retention in 1994 and qualified as a candidate for the Appellate Court in 1996 and 1998 (although she lost in the primary both years). Since 1993, she has served on the Motion Call in Law Division. In most areas – legal knowledge, integrity, sensitivity to diversity, diligence and impartiality – the Judge draws high marks from lawyers. The Council finds especially laudable the Judge's routine issuance of written opinions, not common among Motion Call judges. Where she falls down (as was also the case in our 1994 evaluation) is in the area of temperament. There continue to be reports of rough, brusque treatment of lawyers in her courtroom. The Judge herself attributes her reputation to the demands of a high-volume call and her willingness to say "no" to lawyers seeking more time to complete discovery. The Council believes that such exigencies may explain, but do not excuse, judicial rudeness. Nonetheless, reports are that the Judge continues to work on this one flawed facet of her otherwise good-to-excellent tenure. The Council finds her Qualified.

2006 Retention – Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Hon. Kathy M. Flanagan was first elected as Circuit Court Judge in 1988. Since 1993, she has served on the Motion Call in Law Division. Prior to reaching the bench, Judge Flanagan had ten years of legal experience, mostly in a solo general practice. Judge Flanagan presents a difficult case. She is considered to have very good legal ability and is hard working. Her superiors consider her to be a good judge. But when she was evaluated in 2000 for retention, the Council noted extensively the problems Judge Flanagan has with temperament – to the level that the Council referred to her behavior as "judicial rudeness." The Council noted that she was working on this "one flawed facet" and found her Qualified. In the current investigation, it is apparent that Judge Flanagan continues to demonstrate the same severe temperament problems. The Council is compelled to conclude that on balance, Judge Flanagan is Not Qualified.

3/96 Primary Election, Circuit Court: Not Qualified

John J. Fleming, 40, has been practicing law for 14 years. He is currently Director of Administrative Adjudication, Administrative Hearings, for the City of Chicago. He spent one year as a solo practitioner and three years with the Chicago Park District as Deputy General Attorney, Litigation Supervisor. He was an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney for eight years. We have received significant reports that Mr. Fleming lacks a responsible attitude and good judgment in his work. The Council finds him Not Qualified.

11/02 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Hon. John J. Fleming was elected to the Circuit Court in 1996, and has been assigned to the Criminal Division as a floater since 2001. From 1998 to 2001, he was assigned to the Narcotics Preliminary Hearing call and Central Bond Court. His first assignment as a judge was to the First Municipal District, Traffic Court. As a floater, Judge Fleming temporarily substitutes for judges who – by reason of illness, vacation or schedule conflicts – cannot hear their regularly assigned matters. In this position, Judge Fleming typically handles a large volume of cases on a daily basis, but has little continuity of contact with any of them. Perhaps because of this lack of continuity, the Council has received very few reports from lawyers who regularly appear before Judge Fleming. The available information suggests that Judge Fleming handles his assignment efficiently, that he has good legal ability and temperament, and that he is fair and unbiased. We therefore find him Qualified for retention.

In 1999, he was appointed Circuit Court Judge, and he is currently assigned to Traffic Court. From 1976 until his appointment to the bench, he was a partner at Cherry & Flynn, working mostly on complex commercial civil litigation. He was an associate at Jenner & Block from 1969 to 1975. As an attorney, he is reported to have very good legal ability and an even temperament. He is considered a thoughtful, knowledgeable, and impartial judge. The Council finds him Qualified.

2006 Retention – Circuit Court: Well Qualified

Hon. Peter A. Flynn was appointed Circuit Court Judge in 1999 and was elected in 2000. He current sits in the Chancery Division. He has also been assigned to the Individual Commercial Calendar Section. From 1976 until his appointment to the bench, he was a partner at Cherry & Flynn, working mostly on complex commercial civil litigation. He was an associate at Jenner & Block from 1969 to 1975. Judge Flynn is considered to be an excellent jurist who brought to the bench substantial experience in complex litigation matters. He is considered to have very good legal ability and temperament. He treats pro se litigants with due respect and is very hard-working. He is praised for his substantial knowledge of the law. The Council finds him Well Qualified.

Judge, Circuit Court, Criminal Division

Previous Judicial Duties

1997-2003: Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Appointed Circuit Court Judge in 1998; elected to the Circuit Court in 1998.

1998 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Qualified

Judge Nicholas R. Ford was appointed to the bench in December 1997 and currently sits in Traffic Court. Judge Ford was admitted to practice in 1988. He was an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney throughout his career as an attorney. As a lawyer, Judge Ford was considered to have adequate legal ability and a good temperament. Judge Ford is also praised for his personal commitment to public service, including his volunteer efforts on behalf of the homeless. Although he has less than ten years experience as an attorney, the Council does not believe that ten years experience is always an absolute prerequisite. On balance the Council finds him Qualified.

11/04 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

Nicholas R. Ford was appointed to the bench in December 1997 and currently sits in the First Municipal District. Judge Ford was an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney throughout his career as an attorney. As a lawyer, Judge Ford was considered to have good legal ability and a good temperament. Judge Ford is also praised for his personal commitment to public service. The Council finds him Qualified for retention.

11/10 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

Judge Nicholas R. Ford was appointed to the bench in December 1997 and currently sits in Traffic Court, in the Criminal Division of the Circuit Court. Judge Ford was admitted to practice in 1988. He was an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney throughout his career as an attorney.

Judge Ford is considered to have good legal ability. He is generally regarded as a fair judge, who is hard-working with good legal ability. His demeanor draws some criticism for impatience and inappropriate sarcastic remarks. On balance, however, Judge Ford is viewed positively in the legal community. The Council finds him Qualified for retention.

Justice, Illinois Supreme Court

Previous Judicial Duties

1997-2000: Chief Justice, Illinois Supreme Court; 1986-1997: Justice, Illinois Appellate Court; 1976-1986: Judge, Circuit Court

Elected to the Circuit Court in 1976; elected to the Illinois Appellate Court in 1986; elected to the Illinois Supreme Court in 1990

Evaluation

3/86 and 11/86 Elections – Appellate Court: Qualified

Judge Charles Freeman is currently sitting in the Chancery Division of the Circuit Court after serving several years in the Law Jury Division. Judge Freeman is considered to be intelligent, diligent, and knowledgeable about the law and is said to have excellent judicial temperament. He was found qualified by the Council for the Appellate Court in 1984, and the Council again finds him Qualified for the state's second highest court.

3/88 Illinois Supreme Court—Seymour Simon vacancy: Exceptionally Well Qualified and Recommended

Justice Freeman, 54, has served on the Appellate Court for one year. Prior to that, he was a well-respected judge on the Circuit Court for 10 years, serving in the Law and Chancery Divisions. Before becoming a judge, Justice Freeman was a private practitioner and functioned in a quasi-judicial capacity as a Commissioner for the Illinois Commerce Commission and as an Arbitrator for the Industrial Commission. Justice Freeman's performance as a trial judge received consistent praise from lawyers, both those who won and those who lost cases before him, particularly for his commitment to fairness and his ability to get quickly to the heart of issues before him. Justice Freeman has generated an impressive number of opinions during his first year on the Appellate Court. He has also thought carefully about the important administrative and oversight functions of the Supreme Court.

3/90 and 11/90 Elections – Illinois Supreme Court: Qualified

Charles E. Freeman, 57, has served on the Appellate Court since 1986. He was a Circuit Judge for 10 years, serving in the Law and Chancery Divisions. Before becoming a judge, Justice Freeman was a private practitioner and functioned in a quasi-judicial capacity as a commissioner for the Illinois Commerce Commission and as an arbitrator for the Industrial Commission. Justice Freeman's performance both as a trial and as an appellate judge receives consistent praise from lawyers. He is fair, articulate and thoughtful. His legal ability is considered above average. His appellate opinions are well reasoned, and he is an active participant in oral arguments. The Council believes that Justice Freeman is qualified for the state's Supreme Court.

11/00 Retention – Supreme Court: Qualified

Charles E. Freeman, 66, has been a judge since 1976. He has been an Illinois Supreme Court Justice since 1990. He has also served on the Illinois Appellate Court and the Circuit Court of Cook County. Before becoming a judge, he was a private practitioner and functioned in a quasi-judicial capacity as a commissioner for the Illinois Commerce Commission and as an arbitrator for the Industrial Commission. As a trial judge and as an Illinois Appellate Court Justice, Justice Freeman received consistent praise from lawyers. The Council has consistently found him qualified in past elections. As a Supreme Court Justice, lawyers report that he demonstrates good legal ability and judicial temperament, asks intelligent questions during oral argument, and writes good opinions. He has also used his authority as a Justice to push for reforms to prevent and uncover prosecutorial misconduct.

Disquieting questions have surfaced, nonetheless, about Justice Freeman's exercise of his authority to fill judicial vacancies in the Appellate and Circuit Courts. Media accounts over the past year have tied Justice Freeman to such appointments as Justice Morton Zwick (to the First District Appellate Court), Judge George J.W. Smith (under indictment by the U.S. Attorney), Judges Marvin Leavitt and Marvin Luckman (both with reported family ties to the Justice's business partners), and a line of judges recommended by former alderman, Edward Vrdolyak. Justice Freeman and other Justices have, according to press reports, been queried by the FBI about the process used to fill vacancies. (Some, if not all, of Justice Freeman's appointees have previously been found qualified by the Council.). In fairness, we should also note that Justice Freeman's appointments have improved the diversity of the Circuit Court of Cook County.

To Justice Freeman's credit, he has exhibited candor with the bar and public in responding to these charges. His candor, though, has occasionally taken odd directions, such as laying blame for the negative publicity on Cook County Circuit Court Chief Judge Donald P. O'Connell. The caustic edge to some of Justice Freeman's published remarks has also verged on the injudicious. But the fundamental problem, as the Council sees it, lies not with any individual Justice, but with an unchecked appointment system that allows (even seems to encourage) patronage politics to intrude. The Council has historically – as recently as this year – urged and advanced concrete reforms to bring the Supreme Court's appointment system into the sunlight. We are inclined to view Justice Freeman's response to the latest publicity about his appointments as a politically maladroit attempt to cope with a system not of his making.

The Council, while concerned about the allegations and awaiting future developments, finds Justice Freeman to be qualified to serve as Supreme Court Justice.

11/00 Retention – Supreme Court: Qualified

Justice Charles Freeman was elected to the Circuit Court in 1976 and elected to the Illinois Supreme Court in 1990. Justice Freeman served as Chief Justice for the Illinois Supreme Court from 1997 to 1999. While at the Circuit Court, Judge Freeman sat in the Law and Chancery Divisions. He was admitted to practice in 1962. Prior to his election, Justice Freeman was assistant Illinois attorney general, an assistant state's attorney, and an assistant attorney for the Board of Election Commissioners.

Justice Freeman is praised for being prepared and offering thoughtful and active questioning during oral argument. His opinions are considered to be well reasoned. The Council is concerned that Justice Freeman, unlike his colleagues in the First District, does not utilize a Commission to assist him in picking candidates to fill judicial vacancies. We believe that the responsibility of filling judicial vacancies is an exceptionally important duty of an Illinois Supreme Court Justice and a commission will help insure that only qualified candidates are selected to fill judicial vacancies. However, despite this shortcoming, the Council finds Justice Freeman Qualified for retention.

Evaluation

3/94 Circuit Court: Highly Qualified

Margaret Frossard, 42, is currently a Judge in the Second District in Skokie. She was admitted to practice in 1976. Prior to becoming a judge she worked at the Cook County State's Attorney's office and was Deputy Supervisor of the Rape Prosecution Task Force, a Felony Trial Supervisor, and chief of the Felony Trial Division. She became an Associate Judge in 1988 and was assigned to the First Municipal district for nearly a year. In her current assignment in Skokie, her call varies and includes traffic, ordinance violations, post conviction hearings, and other matters.

Judge Frossard is highly praised by all commentators as having excellent legal ability, demeanor, and temperament. She has written extensively and well. She teaches at judicial conferences and has taught trial advocacy at IIT-Kent. The Council finds her Highly Qualified.

11/00 Retention – Circuit Court: Well Qualified

Margaret O'Mara Frossard, 48, has been a judge since 1988. In 1997 she was assigned to the Illinois Appellate Court, although she is running for retention to the Circuit Court. In the Circuit Court of Cook County, Judge Frossard served in the Second Municipal District and the First Municipal District. Before becoming a judge she served as an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney. Lawyers widely praise Judge Frossard for her excellent legal ability and temperament. Her opinions are considered to be well researched and well written. The Council finds her Well Qualified.

2006 Retention – Circuit Court: Well Qualified

Hon. Margaret O'Mara Frossard was assigned to the Illinois Appellate Court in 1997 although she is running for retention to the Circuit Court. Appointed Circuit Court Judge in 1993; elected to the Circuit Court in 1994.

Evaluation

3/94 Circuit Court: Qualified

Raymond Funderburk, 50, was appointed to fill a judicial vacancy in May 1993, was first assigned to traffic court, and has presided in domestic violence court since September 1993. A 1978 law graduate, Judge Funderburk was with the Legal Assistance Foundation for four years, after which he entered private practice and handled a variety of civil matters including corporate, banking, real estate and disabilities matters, and general litigation. He is reported to be a fair and hard-working judge with a good judicial temperament. The Council finds him Qualified.

11/00 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Raymond Funderburk, 56, has been a judge since 1993. He sits in the First Municipal District hearing non-jury civil trials. He has sat in the Forcible Entry and Detainer Section and the Domestic Violence Section. Prior to becoming a judge, he was in private practice and was with the Cook County Legal Assistance Foundation (now part of the Legal Assistance Foundation of Chicago). Judge Funderburk presents a difficult evaluation. In his current assignment, lawyers report that he is knowledgeable and maintains good control over his courtroom. He moves cases along and lawyers report that he has a polite but firm temperament. The Council, however, has heard reports that he did not have a good temperament when dealing with pro se tenants in the Forcible Entry and Detainer Section and had difficulty running his courtroom. Judge Funderburk appears to have improved. On balance, the Council finds him Qualified.

2006 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Hon. Raymond Funderburk has been a judge since 1993. He sits in the First Municipal District hearing civil jury trials. He has also sat in the Forcible Entry and Detainer Section and the Domestic Violence Section. Prior to becoming a judge, he was in private practice and was with the Cook County Legal Assistance Foundation (now part of the Legal Assistance Foundation of Chicago). Judge Funderburk is considered to have good legal ability. He is diligent and hard working. Some lawyers report that Judge Funderburk can be overly critical of lawyers and court observers over such issues as dress and protocol while in the courtroom. On balance, the Council finds him Qualified.

Thomas V. GAINER, Jr.

Present Judicial Duties

Associate Judge, Circuit Court, Criminal Division

Previous Judicial Duties

Appointed Circuit Court Judge in 2001; elected Associate Judge by Circuit Judges in 2003

9/02 Associate Judge: Well Qualified

Thomas Vincent Gainer, Jr. received his J.D. from John Marshall Law School in 1977 and was admitted to the Illinois Bar in November of that year. Mr. Gainer has been an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney since 1997. Before that, he spent six years as Chief Legal Counsel at the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs in Springfield. From 1987 until 1997, he was in private practice at the litigation firm of Nealis and Bradley. Mr. Gainer spent his first ten years as an attorney (1977-1987) as an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney.

Mr. Gainer has outstanding professional experience and legal ability. He has a good temperament. He has been praised as a fair and diligent prosecutor. In the 1980s, a federal district court judge granted a habeas petition based on a comment made by Mr. Gainer which indirectly indicated that the defendant had refused to testify. Mr. Gainer admitted the mistake and indicated that, in teaching new prosecutors, he uses the incident as an example of what not to do. The Council believes his subsequent exemplary professional activity offsets this incident and finds Mr. Gainer Well Qualified to serve in the Circuit Court.

Appointed Circuit Court Judge in 1988; elected to the Circuit Court in 1990; appointed to the Illinois Appellate Court in 1996.

1990 Circuit Court: Highly Qualified

Michael J. Gallagher was appointed to fill a vacancy on the Circuit Court of Cook County in October 1988 after ten years of practicing law at the trial and appellate levels in state and federal courts, including two years as a clerk for Justice Clark in the Illinois Supreme Court. He is praised by attorneys and colleagues on the bench for his excellent skills, professionalism, temperament and sensitivity to ethical obligations. He sits in the First Municipal District where he runs his large call efficiently, while providing a fair hearing to the litigants. He has shown great respect for the rule of law, independently researching issues in cases before him, writing articles, teaching and upgrading the library resources available in his chambers. The Council, therefore, finds him Highly Qualified.

11/96 Appellate Court: Highly Qualified

Judge Michael J. Gallagher, 43, has recently been appointed to the Illinois Appellate Court. He has been a Circuit Court Judge since 1988. He was first assigned to the First Municipal District and then served in the Law Division, Jury Section for six years.

Judge Gallagher was considered to be one of the best trial judges in the Law Division. He has a strong command of the law, works hard, and has excellent legal ability. He is widely regarded as being thoughtful, fair, and even-tempered. The Council finds him Highly Qualified.

1998 Primary & General Elections – Appellate Court: Highly Qualified

Judge Michael Gallagher has been a Circuit Judge since 1988. He served in the First Municipal District and the Law Division before being appointed to the Appellate Court in 1997. Judge Gallagher was widely respected as an outstanding trial judge and is considered to be an excellent Appellate Court justice. He has outstanding legal ability and is fair and exceptionally hard-working. He has several published articles. The Council finds him Highly Qualified.

2008 Evaluation – Highly Qualified

Hon. Michael Gallagher was elected to be an Illinois Appellate Justice in 1998 and was elected to the bench as a Circuit Judge in 1988. Appointed as a Circuit Judge by the Illinois Supreme Court in 2010

Evaluation: Qualified

Celia G. Gamrath was admitted in 1994. She is currently a partner at Schiller DuCanto and Fleck where she handles family law litigation, complex motion practice and appeals. From 1994 to 1997, she served as a judicial law clerk in the Illinois Appellate Court. The vast majority of her cases settle before trial, but she does substantial numbers of evidentiary and dispositive motions. She reports handling about 50 appeal cases. Ms. Gamrath is exceptionally active in bar association activities and has published numerous articles in legal texts. Lawyers report that Ms. Gamrath has good legal ability and is considered to be a zealous, ethical advocate who is hard-working. She has a good temperament and is praised for her community service. The Council finds her Qualified for the Circuit Court.

Rodolfo Garcia, 42, has been practicing law for 14 years. He is in solo private practice, specializing in criminal defense and immigration matters. He spent one year in the Criminal Appeals Division of the Illinois Attorney General's Office. Mr. Garcia is widely praised for his honesty and integrity. He has very good legal ability and is hard working. His temperament is considered to be good. The Council finds him Qualified.

11/02 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Hon. Rodolfo Garcia was elected to the Circuit Court in 1996. His first assignment was to the general trial call in the Fourth Municipal District. He was transferred to the Criminal Division in 1997, initially to Evening Narcotics, and, later as a floating judge. He has handled felony trials since April 1999. The candidate is credited by lawyers interviewed with good temperament, legal ability, and skill in managing his courtroom. We therefore find him Qualified for retention.

2/03 Appointment to Illinois Appellate Court: Qualified

Hon. Rodolfo Garcia was elected to the Circuit Court in 1996. His first assignment was to the general trial call in the Fourth Municipal District. He was transferred to the Criminal Division in 1997, initially to Evening Narcotics, and, later as a floating judge. He has handled felony trials since April 1999. 1992 Circuit Court (Murphy Vacancy): Qualified

Vincent Gaughan, 50, was appointed to fill a vacancy in 1991. He has been sitting in the Criminal Division at 26th and California. He was admitted to the bar in 1971, and worked from 1973 to 1991 at the Public Defender's Office, where he became a supervisor. Attorneys give Judge Gaughan's work as a supervisor mixed reviews.

Since becoming a judge, however, Judge Gaughan has received good reports from attorneys. He is reported to be very fair, with good control of his court call and good knowledge of the law. He is reported to be independent-minded, with good integrity. The Council finds him Qualified for election.

11/98 Retention – Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Vincent M. Gaughan sits in the Criminal Division at 26th and California. He was appointed to the bench in 1991 after a career as an Assistant Cook County Public Defender. Many lawyers say that he is a good jurist. He has good legal ability and his fairness and integrity are unquestioned. However, too many lawyers find his temperament to be erratic and occasionally unacceptable. He loses his temper on the bench, often without good reason. There are reports that his temperament problem is large enough that it adversely affects his judgment. On balance, the Council finds him Not Qualified for retention.

11/04 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Vincent M. Gaughan sits in the Criminal Division at 26th and California. He was appointed to the bench in 1991 after a career as an Assistant Cook County Public Defender. Lawyers report that he is a good jurist. He has good legal ability and his fairness and integrity are unquestioned. The Council has received some reports that he occasionally demonstrates an inappropriate temperament. However, on balance the Council finds him Qualified for retention.

11/10 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

Judge Vincent Gaughan was appointed to the bench in 1991 and elected in 1994. He presently serves in the Criminal Division of the Circuit Court. Previously, she served in the First Municipal District. He was admitted to practice in 1971. Prior to his appointment to the bench, Judge Gaughan was a supervising Public Defender.

Judge Gaughan is considered to have good legal ability and has handled some of the most complex cases in the Criminal Division. He is considered to be a hard working judge who is praised for his courtroom management skills. He can be short-tempered on the bench, but most lawyers consider him to be a solid judge who is adept at handling the most complex cases. The Council finds him Qualified for retention.

Allen S. Goldberg, 50, has been an Assistant Public Defender since 1971. He has held a variety of responsible positions in the Public Defender's office, and is now the chief of Felony Trials, where he supervises more than 150 lawyers.

Lawyers report that Mr. Goldberg is a very fair attorney. Some lawyers believed his talents were exceptional; all agreed that he was competent, experienced, and fair. A few lawyers questioned whether his quiet courtroom style might limit his control of a courtroom, but most lawyers believe he would do a very good job as a judge. The Council believes that Mr. Goldberg is well qualified for election to the Circuit Court.

11/98 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Allen S. Goldberg, 56, was elected to the bench in 1992 after a long career as an Assistant Cook County Public Defender. He has served in the Domestic Relations Division since 1994. All respondents find Judge Goldberg to be a solid jurist. He is well prepared and has very good legal ability. His fairness and integrity are unquestioned. He is punctual and is considered exceptionally hard-working. The Council finds him Well Qualified for retention.

11/04 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

Allen S. Goldberg was elected to the bench in 1992 after a long career as an Assistant Cook County Public Defender. He has served in the Domestic Relations Division and currently sits in the Law Division in the Individual Commercial Calendar Section. All respondents find Judge Goldberg to be a solid jurist. He has good legal ability and temperament. His fairness and integrity are unquestioned. He is considered hard working, but is sometimes slow in issuing opinions. The Council finds him Qualified for retention.

11/10 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

Allen S. Goldberg was elected to the bench in 1992 and is presently assigned to the Law Division in the Individual Commercial Calendar Section. Previously, he served in the Domestic Relations Division and Juvenile Court. Judge Goldberg was admitted to practice in 1967 and prior to his election to the bench was an Assistant Cook County Public Defender.

Judge Goldberg is considered to have good legal ability and has a low key temperament. He is reported to be always well prepared. A few lawyers complain that he is slow to rule but he is praised for having well reasoned opinions. The Council finds him Qualified for retention.

Previous Judicial Duties

1998-1999: Presiding Justice, Appellate Court, First District, Second Division; Justice, Appellate Court, First District; 1976 – 1983 and 1988-1989: Judge, Circuit Court

Elected to the Circuit Court in 1976; recalled in 1988; appointed to the Illinois Appellate Court in 1989; elected to the Illinois Appellate Court in 1990.

3/90 and 11/90 Elections—Appellate Court: Highly Qualified

Justice Joseph Gordon is currently an Illinois Appellate Court Justice, having been appointed by the Illinois Supreme Court in December 1989. He was elected to the Circuit Court of Cook County in 1976, at which time he heard contested motions in the Law Division. He left the bench in 1983 but was recalled to the Circuit Court in 1988. Justice Gordon was in private practice for many years, including as a partner in the law firm of Sachnoff & Weaver, Ltd., and has taught at the John Marshall Law School. This rich and varied background prepared Justice Gordon well for the appellate bench. Attorneys appearing before him report, without exception, that he possesses exceptional legal ability. He is also diligent, fair and of high integrity. The Council, therefore, finds him Highly Qualified.

11/00 Retention – Appellate Court: Well Qualified

Joseph Gordon, 67, has been a judge since 1976. He has been a Justice of the Illinois Appellate Court since 1989. Justice Gordon is widely praised for excellent legal ability and temperament. His integrity is unquestioned and he is considered to be exceptionally hard working. Lawyers report that his opinions are scholarly, well written, and well reasoned. Justice Gordon also demonstrates a commitment to improving the administration of justice. He has authored, lectured, and taught on various subjects relating to litigation, evidence, and civil procedure. The Council finds him Well Qualified.

11/10 Retention, Illinois Appellate Court: Highly Qualified

Justice Joseph was appointed to the Illinois Appellate Court in 1989 and, subsequently, was elected to continue his service in 1990. He served as judge of the Circuit Court of Cook County from 1976 to 1983 and from 1988 to 1989. Prior to his judicial career, Justice Gordon was in private practice and a professor of law at the John Marshall Law School.

Justice Gordon is widely praised for his legal ability and temperament. His opinions are considered to be well reasoned, well written, and scholarly. He has demonstrated a commitment to improving the administration of justice and is praised for his integrity. The Council finds him Highly Qualified for retention to the Illinois Appellate Court.

Evaluation:

1998 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Qualified

Judge Robert E. Gordon was appointed to the bench by the Illinois Supreme Court in August 1996. He has served in Traffic Court and now serves in the First Municipal District. Before taking the bench, he was a litigator in private practice for 34 years. Judge Gordon is considered to have good legal ability and is fair to all parties appearing before him. His temperament on the bench has been reported to be good although a few attorneys report that as a practitioner, Judge Gordon did not always control his temper when dealing with other attorneys. He is considered to be a good judge. The Council finds Judge Gordon to be qualified.

2002 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Qualified

The Honorable Robert E. Gordon was appointed to the bench by the Illinois Supreme Court in August 1996. Judge Gordon sat in Traffic Court during 1996-97. He is currently assigned to the First Municipal District, where he hears civil jury trials; he also hears Forcible Detainer matters two days each week. He was admitted to the Illinois bar in 1962. As a judge, he is regarded as having an excellent knowledge of law and procedure. He has a strong work ethic, disposes of cases efficiently, and has dramatically reduced the backlog of cases that confronted him when he was assigned to his current posting. Attorneys frequently commend him for his informal efforts to educate inexperienced lawyers who appear before him. Attorneys who have tried cases before Judge Gordon generally believe he is fair. A frequent criticism of Judge Gordon is that he is arrogant and quick to remind attorneys of his own knowledge and experience. Although these criticisms give the Council some pause, on balance the Council believes that Judge Gordon's legal knowledge, his efforts to mentor young lawyers, his work ethic, and his productivity outweigh these concerns. The Council finds Judge Gordon Qualified.

2005 Evaluation for Appointment to the Illinois Appellate Court: Qualified

Robert E. Gordon was appointed to the bench by the Illinois Supreme Court in 1996, after a long career as a litigator. He served as a jury trial judge in the Municipal Division from 1997 to 2003. Since 2003 he has served as a jury trial judge in the Law Division. He was admitted to the Illinois bar in 1962. He is regarded as having excellent knowledge of law and procedure. He has a strong work ethic and has been commended for his informal efforts to educate inexperienced lawyers who appear before him. The Council finds him Qualified for the Appellate Court.

2008 Retention: Well Qualified

Hon. Robert E. Gordon was appointed to the bench by the Illinois Supreme Court in 1996, after a long career as a litigator. He served as a jury trial judge in the Municipal Division from 1997 to 2003. Since 2003 he has served as a jury trial judge in the Law Division. He was appointed to the Illinois Appellate Court in 2005. He was admitted to the Illinois bar in 1962. He is regarded as having excellent knowledge of law and procedure. He has a strong work ethic and is considered to be well prepared for oral arguments. His opinions are reported to be well reasoned. The Council finds him Well Qualified for retention.

Evaluation

1992 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court (Walsh Vacancy): Not Qualified

Susan Grussel, 44, has been an Assistant

State's Attorney since 1979. She is described as hard working, fair, diligent, and competent as a trial attorney. She has extensive experience at 26th and California. Prior to her legal training, she was a social worker for six years.

Many lawyers, however, questioned Ms. Grussel's legal ability. While her legal ability is clearly adequate to permit her to perform effectively as a prosecutor, the Council does not believe that Ms. Grussel has demonstrated sufficient legal ability to be qualified to be a Circuit Judge.

11/98 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Susan Ruscitti Grussel, 51, sits in the Skokie Courthouse doing both bench trials and juries. She previously served in the First Municipal District. She was elected to the bench in 1992 after a career as an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney. Most respondents say she is doing a good job on the bench. She has good legal ability and her integrity is unquestioned. Lawyers report that she is punctual and that she has a good judicial temperament. However, some lawyers complain that Judge Grussel is not always as forceful as she should be in the courtroom. She sometimes allows lawyers to talk too long when appearing before her, thereby unnecessarily delaying the proceedings. On balance, the Council finds her Qualified for retention.

11/04 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

Susan Ruscitti Grussel sits in the Skokie Courthouse doing both bench trials and juries. She previously served in the First Municipal District. Judge Grussel is considered to have good legal ability and temperament. She is a solid jurist with good courtroom management skills. The Council finds her Qualified for retention.

Deborah Jean GUBIN

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Evaluation: Highly Qualified (Judge Gubin was appointed to the bench in 2010)

Deborah Jean Gubin was admitted to the Illinois bar in 1975. She was appointed to the bench by the Illinois Supreme Court in 2010. Before taking the bench, she had been since 1986, a sole practitioner in general practice. Since 1995, she had been a Contract Person for the Secretary of State; this involves being a prosecutor at administrative hearings. From 1985 to 1987, she was General Counsel for the Illinois Department of Financial Institutions and did administrative and compliance work. Before that, she spent ten years at the Cook County Public Defender's Office as an Assistant Public Defender and Supervisor. As a lawyer, she had extensive criminal and civil experience and is considered an excellent trial attorney. She was known for her even temperament, high integrity, and diligence. The Council finds her Highly Qualified to serve in Circuit Court.

Catherine Marie HABERKORN

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Criminal Division, Second District

Previous Judicial Duties

Evaluation

3/92 Election – Qualified

Catherine Haberkorn, 35, has recently begun working on civil cases in the U.S. Attorney's Office. She has been an Assistant State's Attorney since she was admitted to the bar in 1981, working predominantly in criminal matters.

While relatively young, Ms. Haberkorn is reported to have performed exceptionally well as a trial attorney in felony cases. She has substantial trial experience and is reported to have a good temperament and even disposition. The Council believes she is qualified for the Circuit Court.

11/94 Election—Qualified

Catherine Marie Haberkorn, 37, was evaluated by the Council of Lawyers in 1992 and at that time was found qualified for election to the Circuit Court. She was admitted to practice in 1981 and since that time has worked as an Assistant State's Attorney. The Council's 1992 evaluation stated, "While relatively young, Ms. Haberkorn is reported to have performed exceptionally well as a trial attorney in felony cases. She has substantial trial experience and is reported to have a good temperament and even disposition."

At the time of our 1992 evaluation Ms. Haberkorn had spent most of her career at the State's Attorney's office as a criminal prosecutor. In the last two years she has substantially broadened her experience, doing civil litigation in the State's Attorney's Torts Division. She continues to be well regarded for her legal ability, integrity, fairness, and temperament. The Council again finds her Qualified for the Circuit Court.

11/00 Retention – Circuit Court: Well Qualified

Catherine M. Haberkorn, 44, has been a judge since 1994. She sits in the Criminal Division in Skokie. She has also been assigned to the Evening Narcotics Courtroom at 26th and California Avenue. She served as an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney before becoming a judge. Lawyers report that Judge Haberkorn has very good legal ability. She rules quickly and correctly on evidentiary issues. She is considered to be a fair impartial judge who is firm with lawyers while maintaining a good judicial temperament. The Council finds her Well Qualified.

2006 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Hon. Catherine M. Haberkorn has been a judge since 1994. She has sat in the Criminal Division in Skokie since 1999. She has also been assigned to the Evening Narcotics Courtroom at 26th and California Avenue. She served as an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney before becoming a judge. Judge Haberkorn is considered to have good legal ability and is praised by both prosecutors and defense counsel for her fairness. The Council is concerned, however, about some reports that she can be short-tempered. On balance, the Council finds her Qualified.

Shelvin Louise Marie Hall, 50, sits in the Law Division. She has been a judge since being appointed by the Illinois Supreme Court to fill a vacancy in 1991. She is the former General Counsel to the Illinois Department of Human Rights. Judge Hall is considered to be bright and well prepared in her current assignment. Lawyers report that she has an excellent judicial temperament and controls her courtroom well. Her fairness and integrity are unquestioned. The Council finds her Qualified for retention.

11/00 General Election – Appellate Court: Qualified

Shelvin Louise Marie Hall, 51, is a 1974 graduate of Boston University School of Law. She was admitted to practice law in Illinois in 1982. In February 1999, she was appointed to the Illinois Appellate Court. She was a judge in the Law Division on a civil jury trial assignment from 1995 to 1999. Prior to that, she served for four years in the Domestic Relations Division. Before becoming a judge, she was General Counsel for the Illinois Department of Human Rights for eight years. She supervised a staff of twelve attorneys handling civil rights, administrative, labor, and legislative law issues. Prior to being admitted to practice law in Illinois, she gained extensive civil rights litigation experience in Texas. She has a broad range of legal experience and is considered to be a fair, competent, and hard-working Appellate Court judge. The Council finds her Qualified.

2010 Retention Election: Qualified

Judge Shelvin Hall was appointed to the Appellate Court in 1999, and presently sits in the First District, First Division. She was appointed as a Circuit Court Judge in 1991 and served in the Domestic Relations and Law Divisions of the Circuit Court. Prior to her election to the bench, Justice Hall was an attorney and General Counsel with the Illinois Department of Human Rights.

Judge Shelvin Hall is considered to be a diligent, hard-working Appellate Court judge with a very good temperament. She is exceptionally active in community affairs. Most lawyers say that she is active in oral argument and that her written decisions are well-reasoned. There are some lawyers who question the clarity and consistency of her rulings. On balance the Council finds her Qualified for retention to the Appellate Court.

1994-2001: Administrative Presiding Judge, Circuit Court, Juvenile Justice and Child Protection Resource Section; 1992-1994: Presiding Judge, Circuit Court, Juvenile Division; 1986-1992: Chancery Division; 1983-1986: Criminal Division; 1981-1982: Municipal, P.I.; 1980-1981: Municipal (forcible detainer)

Elected to the Circuit Court in 1980.

Evaluation

11/86 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Judge Hall has been a Circuit Court judge since 1980, serving in the criminal court building as a felony trial judge for the past three years. She is praised by attorneys for her diligence, judicial demeanor, intellect, legal acumen and courtesy to lawyers, witnesses and victims—especially child victims. Her judicial integrity is above reproach, perhaps a result of her long-observed rule that no one may enter her chambers to discuss a case ex parte. She was not familiar with criminal law when she came on the bench, and, therefore, at first she was thought somewhat indecisive. However, her practice of thinking cases through before ruling in an area where she lacked sufficient experience was far better than ruling quickly without sufficient thought. Many practitioners note that she has progressed steadily as a criminal court judge.

11/92 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Judge Hall, 49, has been a judge since 1980. She served two years in the Municipal District, two years in the Criminal Division, and six years as a Chancery judge. In February 1992 she was appointed to be the head of the Juvenile Division.

In the Chancery Division, Judge Hall is reported to have been a very good judge. She has good analytical skills, presides well at trial, writes clear opinions in which she explains her reasoning clearly, is well organized, fair, and has a good temperament. She has been especially careful to avoid ex parte contacts or any conduct that could present an appearance of impropriety. Some lawyers complained that she was, on occasion, slow to rule and inflexible on procedural matters, and suggested that she at times allowed lawyers to argue beyond the point where any argument was productive. While many lawyers praised her ability in more complex matters, a few lawyers questioned it. On balance, most lawyers reported that she was regarded as one of the better judges in the Chancery Division.

During her brief time as the presiding judge of the Juvenile Court, Judge Hall has moved to bring much-needed improvement to a badly-run division. She is uniformly regarded by lawyers and judges as a welcome change. Judge Hall has assembled committees of practitioners and participants in the Juvenile Division system, including, for instance, the Department of Children and Family Services, the Legal Assistance Foundation, the Public Defender's office, the Public Guardian's office, and the State's Attorney's office, and has begun to work with them to create standard procedures for the Juvenile Court. She is interested in improving the quality of court training, and the professionalism of the judges and lawyers that practice there. Judge Hall has demonstrated that she is willing to give direction to the judges she supervises to expedite the administration of justice.

The Council applauds Judge Hall's efforts in the Juvenile Division and looks forward to the implementation of new and effective procedures. Much work remains to be done, however, including the implementation of these procedures, staggered court calls, and creation of an effective permanency planning system.

Judge Hall has performed very well in both the Chancery and Juvenile Divisions, and is well qualified for retention.

11/98 Retention – Circuit Court: Highly Qualified

Sophia H. Hall, 55, is the Administrative Presiding Judge of the Juvenile Justice and Child Protection Resource Section. In an unusual dual assignment, she also sits in the Law Division, hearing contested civil motions. She has previously served in the Chancery and Criminal Divisions, having been on the bench since 1980. Lawyers appearing before her in the Law Division say she is an excellent judge. She is smart and decisive. She runs a well-managed courtroom, and her integrity and fairness are unquestioned. As an Administrative Presiding Judge, she spends an extraordinary amount of time meeting with community groups, school officials, representatives of the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services, and other relevant groups seeking reforms in the way the Circuit Court of Cook County deals with juveniles. She can also fairly take partial credit for many of the much needed reforms made to the Juvenile Court since she began her stint as Presiding Judge of that Division in 1992. The Council finds her Highly Qualified for retention.

11/04 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

Sophia H. Hall sits in the Chancery Division. She is the former Administrative Presiding Judge of the Juvenile Justice and Child Protection Resource Section, where she received very positive reviews. Judge Hall has good legal ability and temperament. Her integrity is unquestioned. The Council finds her

Qualified for retention.

11/04 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

Sophia H. Hall sits in the Chancery Division, She is the former Administrative Presiding Judge of the Juvenile Justice and Child Protection Resource Section, where she received very positive reviews. Judge Hall has good legal ability and temperament. Her integrity is unquestioned. The Council finds her qualified for retention.

11/10 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

Judge Hall was elected to the Circuit Court judge in 1980 and currently serves in the Chancery Division of the Circuit Court and is the presiding judge of the Resource Section of the Juvenile Justice/Child Protection Division. Previously she was a felony trial judge in the Criminal Division of the Circuit Court and a presiding Judge in the Juvenile Division. She was admitted to practice in 1967.

Judge Hall is especially praised for her work in the Juvenile Division. She has been effective in bringing new diversionary programs and is very active in juvenile court reform activities. She is considered to have good legal ability and temperament. As a Chancellor, she is praised for her courtroom management skills. Most respondents find her to be a satisfactory Chancellor. The Council finds her Qualified for retention.

David Haracz was admitted to the bar in 1989 and has spent his entire career with the Legal Assistance Foundation of Metropolitan Chicago. He currently supervises a neighborhood intake office. He began as a staff attorney, and, later became a senior attorney (1994-1996), and head of the Foreclosure Prevention Project (1996-97). Mr. Haracz is a 1989 graduate of the University of California.

Mr. Haracz has a wide range of litigation experience in the civil law area. He is considered to have good legal ability and is a solid practitioner and supervisor. His integrity is unquestioned. He is praised for his temperament. The Council finds Mr. Haracz Qualified to serve in Circuit Court.

La Quietta J. HARDY-CAMPBELLPresent Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Domestic Relations Division

Elected to the Circuit Court in 1998.

Evaluation

1998 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Not Recommended

LaQuietta J. Hardy did not participate in the Council's evaluation process, submitting no information in support of her candidacy. The Council received insufficient information to judge his qualifications for the Circuit Court. The Council finds her Not Recommended.

11/04 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

La Quietta J. Hardy was elected to the bench in 1998. She currently sits in the Domestic Relations Division. She has good legal ability and temperament and is praised for her diligence and courtroom management skills. The Council finds her Qualified for retention.

11/10 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

Judge LaQuietta Hardy-Campbell was elected to the bench in 1998. She is currently assigned to the Domestic Relations Division where she has served since her election. Judge Hardy-Campbell was admitted to practice in 1978. Prior to election, she was in private practice.

Judge Hardy-Campbell is considered by most lawyers to have good legal ability and a professional demeanor. She is praised for being well-prepared and for being particularly adept in dealing with pro se litigants. Some lawyers, however, say she can be late in starting her call. The Council finds her Qualified for retention to the Circuit Court.

Edward S. HARMENINGPresent Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Appointed Circuit Judge in 2008

2008 Evaluation: Qualified

Edward Harmening was admitted to the bar in 1994. From 1994 to 1997, and since 2003, he has been an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney. He spent 1997 to 2003 in private practice handling insurance defense matters. Mr. Harmening is reported to have good legal ability and temperament. He has had sufficient litigation experience in complex matters to overcome the relatively few number of years that he has been in practice. The Council finds him Qualified to serve in the Circuit Court.

2010 Primary and General Elections, Circuit Court:

Sheldon A. HARRIS

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Illinois Appellate Court, First District

Previous Judicial Duties

Judge, Law Division

Appointed Circuit Court Judge in 2000. Appointed to the Illinois Appellate Court by the Illinois Supreme Court in 2010.

2002 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Not Qualified

The Honorable Sheldon A. Harris has been serving as a Circuit Judge by appointment since April 1, 2000. He served in the Traffic Division from April 1, 2000 to May 1, 2001. Since May of 2001, he has been assigned to Supplemental and Miscellaneous Remedies for the Municipal and Divorce Divisions, where he disposes of motions to execute, vacate, and dismiss judgments. Before he was appointed to the bench, he spent thirty-four years as a civil litigator, principally as a sole practitioner. He was admitted to the bar in 1966. He reports having tried thirty jury cases and one hundred and fifty non-jury cases during that time; he also argued ten appeals. He receives generally favorable remarks for his work as a litigator. However, he receives consistently negative remarks regarding his temperament as a judge. His demeanor on the bench is described as arrogant and rude. Based on the large number of adverse comments regarding his demeanor as a judge, we find the candidate Not Qualified for the position of Circuit Judge.

March 2009 Evaluation

Judge Sheldon A. Harris is presently assigned to the Law Division, Trial Section, where he presides over jury and non-jury trials. He was appointed to the bench in 2000, but lost in the primary election. He was reappointed to the bench in 2005 and served in the Municipal Department until January 2008. Judge Harris enjoyed an excellent reputation as a lawyer. However, the Council in its 2002 evaluation noted that as a judge, he was experiencing difficulties with his temperament and found him Not Qualified. However, since being on the bench since 2005, practitioners report that Judge Harris has demonstrated a good temperament with a patient and professional demeanor. He earns praise from those appearing before him as a hard-working judge with good legal ability. The Council finds him Qualified for the Circuit Court of Cook County.

Russell William HARTIGAN

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Appointed as a Circuit Judge by the Illinois Supreme Court in 2010

Evaluation: Qualified

Russell William Hartigan was admitted to practice in 1976. He has been in private practice throughout his career with extensive personal injury litigation experience. He reports acting as lead counsel in 45 civil jury trials and in numerous arbitrations. He has personally handled fifteen cases as principal appellate counsel and argued orally eight of these in the U.S Court of Appeals, the Illinois Appellate Court, and the Illinois Supreme Court. He is active in bar association activities, and currently is on the Illinois State Bar Association Board of Governors. He has published articles on civil practice matters and is active in community affairs. Mr. Hartigan is reported to have good legal ability and a very good temperament. He is praised as a hard-working, conscientious, and knowledgeable practitioner. The Council finds him Qualified for the Circuit Court.

Donald R. HAVIS

Present Judicial Duties

Associate Judge, Circuit Court, 1st Municipal District

Elected Associate Judge by Circuit Judges in 2005.

2005 Evaluations for Associate Judge: Qualified

Donald R. Havis has been an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney since his admission to the Illinois Bar in 1983. Since 1999, he has been Chief of the General Litigation Division. From 1994 to 1999, he was a Supervisor handling workers' compensation claims. Before that he served as an Assistant State's Attorney handling worker's compensation, criminal-traffic misdemeanors, preliminary hearings, felonies, grand juries, traffic, and paternity and child support matters. Mr. Havis is a 1982 graduate of Howard University in Washington, D.C. He has been President of the Chicago Chapter of the National Black Prosecutor Association and is currently the association's local and national Treasurer.

Mr. Havis is considered to be a solid prosecutor with good legal ability and temperament. He has substantial litigation experience in both civil and criminal law matters. The Council finds Mr. Havis Qualified to serve in Circuit Court.

Curtis HEASTON

Present Judicial Duties

Presiding Judge, Circuit Court, Juvenile Justice Division

Previous Judicial Duties

Judge, First Municipal District: 1988-1998: Judge, Circuit Court, County Division (acted as Presiding Judge of Division in absence of Presiding Judge):1986-1988: Associate Judge, Circuit Court, Juvenile and other divisions Elected Associate Judge in by Circuit Judges in 1986; elected to the Circuit Court in 1988; recalled in 2006.

Evaluation

1988 (D) Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court (Hechinger Vacancy): Qualified

Associate Judge Curtis Heaston sits in juvenile court. Lawyers who practice before him believe that he does a good job in this assignment. Both prosecutors and defense attorneys believe they receive fair trials, though some note an occasional defense orientation. All agree that judge Heaston is compassionate and competent. The Council finds Judge Heaston qualified.

11/94 Retention – Circuit Court: Highly Qualified

Curtis Heaston, 63, is a Circuit Judge sitting in the County Department of the County Division, Circuit Court of Cook County. He presides over trials and other matters involving such subjects as adoptions, elections, mental health, domestic violence, special education, real estate matters and tax rate objections. He has served in this assignment since December 1988, having previously served in the Juvenile Division hearing delinquency matters. Before going on the bench in 1986, he was an advisor to then Sheriff of Cook County, Richard Elrod. He chaired the Illinois Judicial Conference Study Committee on Juvenile Justice, which in 1992 produced a substantial Juvenile Law Bench book now in use throughout the state.

Lawyers report that Judge Heaston is hard working, fair and knowledgeable about the law. He has an excellent temperament. Lawyers report that he is always prepared. If the law is unclear, he asks lawyers for briefs and does his own research. The bar reports that he considers every case fairly and rules with both compassion for the parties and unflinching respect for the rule of law. The Council finds him Highly Qualified.

11/00 Retention – Circuit Court: Well Qualified

Curtis Heaston, 69, has been a judge since 1988. He is the Presiding Judge of the Juvenile Justice Division. He has also served in the County Division and in the First Municipal District. Prior to becoming a judge, he served as Chief Legal Advisor to then Sheriff of Cook County, Richard Elrod, and was in private practice. Lawyers report that Judge Heaston has good legal ability and a good temperament. He is reportedly active and effective in his role as presiding judge. He has demonstrated a commitment to improving the administration of juvenile justice. The Council finds him Well Qualified.

Thomas J. HENNELLY

Present Judicial Duties

Associate Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Elected Associate Judge by Circuit Judges in 2005.

2005 Evaluations for Associate Judge: Qualified

Thomas J. Hennelly was admitted to practice in 1980. Since 2003, he has been a solo practitioner concentrating in criminal law. From 1982 to 2003, he was an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney and was most recently Deputy Chief of the Special Prosecutions Bureau. From 1980 to 1982 he was a private general practitioner. Mr. Hennelly has taught trial advocacy at the DePaul University College of Law as an adjunct professor since 1995. Mr. Hennelly has extensive trial and appellate court experience in complex matters. He is considered to be very capable and skilled as an attorney. He has very good legal ability and temperament. The Council is troubled, however, that he determined that it was not necessary to disclose on his judicial evaluation application that he was involved earlier in his career in a case where a Batson violation was found by a reviewing court. Although he was not named in the written opinion and the ARDC has determined that his trial partner (John "Jack" Hynes) was not guilty of unethical conduct in failing to list the decision in his own judicial application, the much better course would have been to disclose the matter if there was any question. In light of that decision not to disclose, the Council finds Mr. Hennelly Qualified for the Circuit Court, although his abilities and experience would otherwise dictate a higher rating.

Rosemary Grant HIGGINS

Present Judicial Duties:

Associate Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Elected Associate Judge by Circuit Judges in 2003.

1998 Primary Elections – Circuit Court: Qualified

Rosemary Grant Higgins was admitted to practice in 1986. She has spent her career as an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney. She is considered to have good legal ability and is of high integrity. She is perceived as being a hard-working and fair prosecutor. The Council finds her Qualified.

04/99 Associate Judge – Circuit Court: Recommended

In April 1999, the Council found Judge Higgins Recommended for the position of Associate Judge.

2000 Primary Elections – Circuit Court: Well Qualified

Rosemary Grant Higgins, 46, is a 1985 graduate of the John Marshall Law School. Since 1987, she has worked for the Cook County State's Attorney's Office. She is currently Felony/Preliminary Hearing Supervisor for the South Side, supervising Assistant State's Attorneys and prosecuting murder cases specifically assigned to her. From 1985 to 1987, she was a law clerk for the law offices of Ann M. Burke, Adrienne Geary, and Algius Baliunas. She has extensive criminal trial and appellate experience. She is considered to have excellent legal ability, integrity, and temperament. The Council finds her Well Qualified.

2001 Evaluations for Associate Judge: Recommended

In March 2001, the Council found Judge Higgins Recommended for the position of Associate Judge.

2002 Evaluations for Associate Judge: Well Qualified

Rosemary Grant Higgins was admitted to the bar in 1986. She has been with the Office of the Cook County State's Attorney since 1987 and is currently a felony / preliminary hearing supervisor in Branch 38. She is a 1985 graduate of the John Marshall Law School. In 2001, she was appointed by the Illinois Supreme Court to the Capital Litigation Screening Committee.

Ms. Higgins is considered to have excellent legal ability with extensive criminal and trial appellate experience. She has a very good temperament, and her integrity is unquestioned. She is well regarded as a zealous but fair prosecutor. The Council finds Ms. Higgins Well Qualified to serve in Circuit Court.

Arthur F. HILL, Jr.

Previous Judicial Duties

2003: Associate Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District, Traffic Court

Elected Associate Judge by Circuit Judges in 2003

2002 Evaluations for Associate Judge: Well Qualified

Arthur F. Hill, Jr. was admitted to practice in 1978. He has been at the Office of the Cook County State's Attorney since 1996, first as a Chief Deputy State's Attorney, and, currently as First Assistant State's Attorney. From 1996 to 1998, he was in private general practice as a partner with Haggerty Koenig & Hill. From 1989 until 1996, he was a member of the Board of Directors of the Chicago Transit Authority. During this period (1991 to 1996), he was also President (1994-1996) and Commissioner (1991-1994) of the Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission. For the first ten years of his career, Mr. Hill was an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney. Mr. Hill is a 1978 graduate of Northwestern University School of Law. He has taught Trial Advocacy at Northwestern since 1990, but is currently on sabbatical.

Mr. Hill is considered to have excellent legal ability and temperament. He has extensive litigation experience in both criminal and civil law matters. He is praised for his community service and well regarded as both a prosecutor and private practitioner. The Council finds Mr. Hill Well Qualified to serve in Circuit Court.

Stanley L. HILL

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Evaluation: Qualified

Stanley Hill is widely reported to be a knowledgeable and tenacious lawyer, although the Council's current investigation turned up an issue that warrants special mention. In 1994, Mr. Hill was held in contempt by Judge James B. Zagel for professional misconduct, a ruling that was upheld by the Seventh Circuit Court of Appeals. In reported opinions, the district judge found, and the appellate court agreed, that Mr. Hill acted at trial with the specific intent to prejudice a fair and impartial proceeding by refusing to abide by the rulings of the court. Nevertheless, the balance of the Council's investigation leads it to conclude that the passage of time and sufficient seasoning likely have tempered the approach to litigation reflected in those judicial opinions.

Based on the totality of its investigation, therefore, the Council finds Mr. Hill Qualified for the Circuit Court.

Appointed Associate Judge in 1984; appointed to the Illinois Appellate Court in 1993; elected to the Illinois Appellate Court in 1994.

Evaluation

1988 (D) Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court (Gerrity Vacancy): Highly Qualified

Associate Judge Hoffman has distinguished himself as one of the finest judges and administrators in the Circuit Court of Cook County. He has, through his administrative abilities, greatly reduced the case backlog in the Law Division where he sits. His knowledge of the law is excellent. He is among the hardest working judges, and his integrity is beyond reproach. The Council finds him Highly Qualified.

3/94 Appellate Court and 11/94 Retention: Qualified

Thomas E. Hoffman, 46, was appointed by the Illinois Supreme Court in January 1993 to sit on the Illinois Appellate Court. He first took the bench as an Associate Judge in 1984 and was assigned to the Law Division in 1985 where he sat until becoming an Appellate Court Justice. He is running in this election both for retention as a Circuit Court Judge and for election to the Appellate Court.

Justice Hoffman distinguished himself as one of the finest judges and administrators in the Circuit Court of Cook County. He was instrumental in implementing the experimental program in the Law Division in which selected judges are given individual calendars. As a Circuit Judge, he was considered to be among the hardest working judges and his legal ability was considered to be excellent. His integrity was always considered to be above reproach.

As an Appellate Court Justice, he is considered to be fair, intelligent, and hard working. He is always prepared and has issued two dissents in the last year, an unusual but praiseworthy practice as an appellate justice. He has greatly reduced the case backlog in his division of the Appellate Court.

In the March 1994 primary, the Council rated Judge Hoffman highly qualified for election to the Appellate Court. After that rating, just before the primary election, Judge Hoffman paid for his name to appear with other candidates on an election flier urging voters to vote for real Democrats and to avoid voting for LaRouche party candidates. The clear implication of this flier was that the opponents of the candidates listed on it were LaRouche party candidates. The flier would be understood by most voters to mean that Judge Hoffman's opponents were LaRouche party members and would be understood by many voters to impugn those candidates. Unfortunately, Judge Hoffman and the other judicial candidates listed on this flier had no LaRouche party opponents. The flier was deceptive and likely to mislead voters.

Judge Hoffman has indicated to us that it was a mistake that he now regrets to participate in paying for the distribution of this flier, that he did it in the heat of an election campaign, and that it was a means, otherwise not possible, to get his name before the voters.

The Council finds this incident to be significant in two ways. First, it is an example of how selecting judges by election is likely to lead to campaign behavior that can damage the reputation for integrity of candidates and courts. Second, we conclude, regretfully, that under pressure in an election campaign Judge Hoffman participated in an election device likely to mislead voters. We cannot continue to rate him highly qualified given these circumstances. We find him qualified for election to the Appellate Court.

11/04 Retention Election, Appellate Court: Well Qualified

Thomas E. Hoffman was appointed by the Illinois Supreme Court in January 1993 to sit on the Illinois Appellate Court. He first took the bench as an Associate Judge in 1984 and was assigned to the Law Division in 1985, where he presided until becoming an Appellate Court Justice.

Justice Hoffman distinguished himself as a judge and administrator in the Circuit Court of Cook County. He was instrumental in implementing an experimental program in the Law Division in which selected judges are given individual calendars. As a Circuit Judge, he was considered to be among the hardest working judges and his legal ability was considered to be excellent.

As an Appellate Court Justice, he is considered to be fair, intelligent, and hard working. He is said to be always prepared. The Council finds him Well Qualified for retention.

William H. HOOKS

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Criminal Division

Appointed Circuit Judge in 2008

Evaluation

2008 Evaluation to fill vacancy: Well Qualified

William H. Hooks received his law degree from ITT Chicago-Kent in 1981 and was admitted to the Illinois bar in that year. An officer in the U.S. Marine Corps and Reserves, he resumed active duty as a Judge Advocate, and in that capacity prosecuted and defended criminal cases. He left active duty in 1985 (though remained in the Reserves for an additional 10 years) and until 1991 practiced civil litigation (mainly insurance defense) with Pretzel & Stouffer, Hinshaw & Culbertson, and Garland W. Watt and Associates. Since 1995, he has practiced on his own and in partnership with others, concentrating on criminal defense and a wide range of civil litigation. He has extensive jury and bench trial experience in both federal and state courts, and since 1992 has served as a hearing officer and hearing board chair for the ARDC. He has taught at the DePaul University College of Law and the Mandel Legal Aid Clinic of the University of Chicago Law School. He lectures frequently in continuing legal education and public information seminars, and has published practice-related articles. Mr. Hooks is regarded as a knowledgeable, skillful, and aggressive advocate. His professional conduct and personal integrity are above reproach. He convincingly expresses his desire to take the bench as a wish to devote himself to public service. The Council finds him Well Qualified.

Elected to the Circuit Court in 1996.

Evaluation

3/96 Primary Election—Circuit Court: Not Recommended

Vanessa A. Hopkins did not participate in the Council's evaluation process, submitting no information in support of her candidacy. The Council received insufficient information to judge her qualifications for the Circuit Court. The Council finds her Not Recommended.

11/02 Retention – Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Hon. Vanessa A. Hopkins was first assigned to the Traffic Division following her election in 1996. She has been assigned to Juvenile and Municipal Districts, and presently hears jury cases in the First District Municipal District. Judge Hopkins came to the bench with just two years of legal experience. No one questions her good faith efforts to perform her job, but a significant portion of lawyers contacted report that her knowledge of the law and her ability to manage a trial is limited, if not inadequate. For these reasons, the Council finds Judge Hopkins Not Qualified.

2008 Retention: Not Qualified

Hon. Vanessa A. Hopkins was first assigned to the Traffic Division following her election in 1996. She has been assigned to Juvenile and Municipal Districts, and presently hears jury cases in the First Municipal District. Judge Hopkins came to the bench with just two years of legal experience. In her 2002 evaluation, the Council questioned her ability to manage her call. In her 2008 investigation, while some lawyers say she has improved, there are continuing negative reports about her courtroom management. Lawyers complain that she too often loses control over her courtroom, has an impatient temperament, and is sometimes not punctual. The Council finds Judge Hopkins Not Qualified for retention.

1994-1996: Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Elected to the Circuit Court in 1994.

Evaluation

11/00 Retention – Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Garritt E. Howard, 48, has been a judge since 1994. He sits in the Second Municipal District. Before becoming a judge he served as an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney. Most lawyers report that Judge Howard has average legal ability. He receives generally good reports on temperament. However, the Council has received numerous reports that Judge Howard has a pro-state bias that affects the outcomes in his courtroom. Many criminal defense practitioners told us that they will ask for a substitution of judge whenever possible in light of their view that Judge Howard favors the prosecution. The Council finds him Not Qualified.

2006 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Hon. Garritt E. Howard has been a judge since 1994. He hears felony trials in the Second Municipal District, where he is currently acting Presiding Judge. Before becoming a judge, he served as an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney for twelve years. Judge Howard is considered to have good legal ability and is especially praised for his temperament. He runs an efficient courtroom. Some criminal defense lawyers claim that he is pro-prosecution in his rulings. Most lawyers say that he is fair. On balance, the Council finds him Qualified.

Michael J. HOWLETT, Jr.

Evaluation

1998 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Not Recommended

Nathaniel Roosevelt Howse, Jr. did not participate in the Council's evaluation process, submitting no information in support of his candidacy. The Council received insufficient information to judge his qualifications for the Circuit Court. The Council finds him Not Recommended.

11/04 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

Nathaniel Roosevelt Howse currently sits in the County Division, hearing tax deed, adoption, mental health, election, and annexation cases. Lawyers report that Judge Howse is doing a good job as a jurist. He has adequate legal ability and good temperament. He manages his call well. The Council finds him Qualified for retention in his current position.

Evaluation at the time of Judge Howse's appointment to the Illinois Appellate Court: Qualified

Judge Nathaniel Howse, Jr. sits in the County Division. He has been on the bench since being elected in 1998. Prior to assuming the bench, he practiced about 22 years in small law firms and as a sole practitioner. He is considered to have good legal ability and temperament. He is praised for his courtroom management skills and for being knowledgeable about the variety of subjects involved in his court call, including election law, mental health adjudications, and tax deeds. He is considered to be a very good jurist and is praised for the quality of his written opinions. The Council finds him Qualified for the Appellate Court.

11/10 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

Justice Nathaniel Howse was appointed to the Appellate Court in 2009 and presently sits in the First District, Fifth Division. He was elected to the Circuit Court in 1998 and presided in the County Division, hearing tax deed, adoption, mental health, election, and annexation cases. Justice Howse was admitted to practice in 1976.

As a judge, he was considered to have good legal ability and temperament. He was praised for his courtroom management skills and for being knowledgeable about the variety of subjects involved in his court call, including election law, mental health adjudication, and tax deeds. He was considered to have been a good trial judge. In his current assignment on the Appellate Court, he is performing adequately. The Council finds him Qualified for retention.

Arnette R. HUBBARD

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Law Division, Jury Section

Previous Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Appointed Circuit Court Judge in 1997; elected to the Circuit Court in 1998.

Evaluation

1998 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Not Recommended

Arnette R. Hubbard did not participate in the Council's evaluation process, submitting no information in support of her candidacy. The Council received insufficient information to judge her qualifications for the Circuit Court. The Council finds her Not Recommended.

11/04 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Arnette R. Hubbard was appointed to the bench in 1997 following a distinguished career in private practice. Judge Hubbard began her career as a staff attorney for the Lawyers' Committee for Civil Rights under the Law, but left after a year to establish a solo practice, focusing initially on criminal matters and appeals, and later expanding to develop a more commercial practice. Between 1989 and her appointment to the bench, Judge Hubbard also served as a member of the Chicago Board of Election Commissioners, where she handled voting and administrative matters. In addition, she has been an active member of various bar associations.

The Council has no information about Judge Hubbard's performance in her initial judicial assignments following her appointment to the Circuit Court in 1997. Since moving to the Law Division in 2001, she has been assigned to several different positions, including a two-year stint in a contested motions call. Judge Hubbard currently is assigned to the Administrative Section, where she occasionally assists with the calls in Room 2005.

Judge Hubbard is an esteemed member of the bar who always is proper in her demeanor on the bench. However, during her assignment as a motions judge, a substantial number of attorneys have raised significant and wide-ranging questions about Judge Hubbard's inability to deal with the legal issues before her, as well as her apparent lack of diligence in resolving the matters being litigated. Based on its review of Judge Hubbard's judicial record, including her judicial retention materials, the Council shares those concerns. In light of its reservations about Judge Hubbard's ability to handle a challenging call, the Council is constrained to find her not qualified for retention.

11/10 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

Judge Arnette Hubbard was appointed to the bench in 1997 and elected in 1998. She is currently assigned to the Law Division. Previously, she was in the First Municipal District. Judge Hubbard was admitted to practice in 1969. Prior to election, she was in private practice.

Judge Hubbard is praised for her fairness and temperament. She is an esteemed member of the bar who is active in community activities. There are some lawyers who question her ability to handle complex matters in her current call, but most respondents say she has good legal ability. On balance, the Council finds her Qualified for retention.

Moshe Jacobius, 45, was appointed to fill a Circuit Court vacancy about one year ago, and has been sitting in the Domestic Relations Division. He was admitted to practice in 1975, and worked in the Illinois Attorney General's Office until his appointment to the bench. He worked his way through the ranks, finishing his service there as Counselor to former Attorney General Hartigan. His work as an attorney was generally praised.

Judge Jacobius is described as having excellent temperament, integrity, fairness, and common sense. He has issued written opinions in cases. The Council believes that Judge Jacobius is well qualified for election to the Circuit Court.

11/94 General Election – Circuit Court: Qualified

Moshe Jacobius, 47, was appointed to be a judge in January 1991 and since then has served in the Domestic Relations Division. He is described by lawyers as hard working, with good legal ability, and demeanor. He is known to work into the evenings and try cases on weekends. He issues written opinions. The Council finds him Qualified.

11/00 Retention – Circuit Court: Well Qualified

Moshe Jacobius, 53, has been a judge since 1991. He is the Presiding Judge of the Domestic Relations Division. He has served as a judge in both the Domestic Relations Division and in the Chancery Division. Prior to becoming a judge, he was an Assistant Illinois Attorney General. Judge Jacobius has excellent legal ability and his integrity is unquestioned. Lawyers report that his judicial temperament is very good, and that in general he has been an excellent judge. The Council finds him Well Qualified.

2006 Retention – Circuit Court: Well Qualified

Hon. Moshe Jacobius has been a judge since 1991. He is the Presiding Judge of the Domestic Relations Division. He has served as a judge in both the Domestic Relations Division and in the Chancery Division. Prior to becoming a judge, he was an Assistant Illinois Attorney General. Judge Jacobius is considered to have very good legal ability. He is respected for his court management skills and for reforms that he has brought to the Domestic Relations Division. He is praised by many lawyers for his willingness to listen to those seeking to improve the way the Division operates. Based on these attributes, the Council would consider a Highly Qualified rating for Judge Jacobius. However, many lawyers say that he demonstrates at times a poor judicial temperament. We urge Judge Jacobius to remedy this problem. On balance, the Council finds him Well Qualified.

Raymond Jagielski was admitted to the bar in 1981. He has served as a Republican member of the Chicago Board of Elections. Mr. Jagielski has not participated in the Council's evaluation process. The Council has received insufficient information to judge his qualifications for the Circuit Court. Mr. Jagielski, therefore, is not recommended.

11/98 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Raymond L. Jagielski, 45, sits in the County Division hearing adoption, mental health, tax, and election law cases. He was elected to the bench in 1992 after a career which included being a member of the Chicago Board of Elections and an Assistant Cook County Public Defender. Lawyers report that Judge Jagielski possesses good legal ability and that he treats all parties with equal respect. A substantial number of lawyers, however, noted that Judge Jagielski can be short-tempered, although some reported that when he loses his temper it is due to a lawyer's being unprepared or otherwise acting inappropriately. He is considered to be hard working and punctual. On balance, the Council finds him Qualified for retention.

Lionel JEAN-BAPTISTE

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Appointed as a Circuit Judge by the Illinois Supreme Court in 2011

Evaluation: Not Qualified

Lionel Jean-Baptiste was admitted to practice in 1991. He is involved in numerous community service pro bono activities, including immigration law work for Haitians to pursue political asylum, Temporary Protective Status, and other relief under immigration law. He has served as the Alderman for the 2nd Ward of Evanston, Illinois since 2001. He is currently a sole practitioner doing administrative law (such as representing clients before the Illinois Department of Human Rights) and litigation. From 1997 to 2001 he practiced law with state Senator Kwame Raoul. He was a sole practitioner between 1993 and 1997 and from 1991 to 1993 he practiced in the firm of Gainer & Dillard.

Mr. Jean-Baptiste is reported to be a hard-working lawyer dedicated to social justice. He is considered to have good legal ability and temperament. However, the Council is concerned that his practice is narrow and that he has not demonstrated that as a lawyer he has experienced a substantial depth of involvement in all aspects of more complex legal matters. On balance, the Council finds him Not Qualified for the Circuit Court.

Sharon Dolores Oden-Johnson was admitted in 1996. She is a sole practitioner focusing on real estate, family law, probate, and small business matters. She reports having no jury trial experience and acting as lead counsel in 4 civil bench trials. She is very active in community activities and pro bono work. Ms. Oden-Johnson is praised as a smart lawyer with a good temperament. The Council is concerned, however, that she has little litigation experience in more complex matters. The Council believes that a judicial candidate must have substantial litigation experience before becoming a judge. The Council finds her Not Qualified for the Circuit Court.

Dorothy F. JONES

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Elected to the Circuit Court in 1992.

Evaluation

11/92 Seventh Subcircuit: Not Recommended

Dorothy Jones was admitted to the bar in 1979. She has not participated in the Council's evaluation process. The Council has received insufficient information to judge her qualifications for the Circuit Court. Ms. Jones therefore is not recommended.

11/98 Retention – Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Dorothy F. Jones sits in the First Municipal District. She failed to submit materials for evaluation, which the Council believes to be unacceptable for a sitting judge seeking retention to the bench. Even aside from her failure to submit to evaluation, however, an independent evaluation revealed a widespread belief among lawyers who have appeared before Judge Jones that she appears to lack the legal ability to serve as a judge. Lawyers complain that she is not decisive and has a poor judicial temperament. The Council finds her not qualified for retention.

11/04 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Dorothy Jones was admitted to the bar in 1979. Since her election to the Circuit Court in 1992, Judge Jones principally has been assigned to the First Municipal District, where she currently sits in the Pro Se courtroom. Beginning with her initial judicial candidacy in 1992 and continuing to date, Judge Jones consistently has refused to submit to the various bar associations, including the Council, any materials or information by which to evaluate her professional credentials or history. The Council believes Judge Jones's continued refusal to participate in the evaluation process is unacceptable, particularly for a sitting judge seeking retention to the bench. Notwithstanding her failure to participate in the evaluation process, however, a previous, independent investigation conducted without her assistance revealed a widespread belief among lawyers who appeared before her that Judge Jones lacked the legal skills and ability necessary to serve as a judge at that time. In addition, these attorneys complained that she consistently was indecisive and demonstrated poor judicial temperament. The Council finds her not qualified for retention.

11/10 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Judge Dorothy Jones refused to participate in the evaluation process. The Council finds her Not Recommended for retention.

Recalled Circuit Court Judge in 2008

Evaluation

11/98 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Sidney A. Jones III, 54, has been a judge since 1985. He has served in the First Municipal District throughout his judicial career, now serving as Supervising Judge. From 1975 to 1984 he had an extensive general private practice. The investigation revealed that in general, Judge Jones is credited with significantly reducing an overcrowded caseload in the First Municipal District through a variety of procedural reforms. He has helped change a legal culture that accepted delay as the norm. He is considered to have good to excellent legal ability and his integrity is unquestioned. He is punctual and widely praised for his diligence and impartiality.

The only area of concern raised by a few lawyers has to do with fairness to lawyers and temperament. Although no one suggested that Judge Jones is not fair to litigants, some lawyers complained that in his haste to expedite cases, Judge

Jones can be unreasonable in denying what these lawyers see as reasonable continuances. They also complained that he can be short-tempered when dealing with what Judge Jones considers to be unreasonable requests for continuances. On balance, however, lawyers believe that Judge Jones is an example for other judges to follow. He is exceptionally hard-working and his courtroom management is considered excellent. The Council finds him qualified for retention. 1986 Evaluation for Judicial Primary & General Elections: Qualified

Sidney Jones is currently a Circuit Court judge, handling contested non-jury civil cases. From 1975-1984, he had an extensive general private practice. Since his appointment to the bench, Judge Jones has significantly reduced an overcrowded caseload and initiated various procedural reforms. He has demonstrated an adequate knowledge of the law and a proper judicial temperament. The Council finds Judge Jones qualified for election to the Circuit Court.

11/92 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Judge Jones, 48, has been a Circuit Judge since 1985. He currently has three separate roles in the First Municipal District: the supervising judge of personal injury matters, the supervisor of the mandatory arbitration call, and a trial judge. He is the former supervising judge of non-personal injury tort and contract matters.

Lawyers report that Judge Jones has many significant strengths, as well as several weaknesses. All lawyers agree that Judge Jones has high integrity, and is independent from political and institutional influences. Most lawyers report that Judge Jones has good to excellent ability, although some lawyers report his legal knowledge can be spotty. The consensus is that Judge Jones knows the law, applies it well, and will learn the law when he is not certain of it.

Lawyers have different opinions about Judge Jones' temperament, and his management of his various responsibilities. All lawyers agree that Judge Jones runs his courtroom firmly, with tight discipline. Some describe him as calm, while others describe him as short-tempered, with an undercurrent of smugness. Lawyers agree that his rulings on evidence and law are fair. However, some lawyers report that Judge Jones' desire to reduce the backlog in his court sometimes leads him to run over individual litigants. For example, Judge Jones has taken major steps to change the "legal culture" in the Municipal District by denying lawyers continuances that used to be routine. There are reports, however, that Judge Jones' zeal to eliminate delay can cause him to deny even reasonable continuances.

Even Judge Jones' greatest strength, his extraordinary, hard-working character, is viewed by many lawyers as a weakness. They suggest that Judge Jones has undertaken too many responsibilities. Because of his other responsibilities, he often cannot give much of his day to the trials he conducts. This can cause trials to be heard in short segments, frustrating attorneys and litigants. In addition, his large responsibilities can lead him to be short and unduly inflexible with cases. Nevertheless, lawyers believe he has been very effective in improving case flow in his courtroom, and in moving cases to trial or settlement. And lawyers do not criticize the substantive result he reaches in the cases assigned to him.

On balance, the Council believes Judge Jones is qualified for retention. His hard work is an example for other judges, and he has substantial judicial abilities. Judge Jones has tried to reform the "legal culture" and reduce delay in his courtroom, and some of the criticism of him is clearly the response of attorneys who do not welcome the change. At the same time, much of the criticism of Judge Jones is valid. Judge Jones should be less inflexible in procedural matters – there is no need to refuse legitimate continuances or dismiss a case if a lawyer was in the hall or another courtroom and comes in minutes after the case was called for the first time. Judge Jones may wish to reduce the burden on himself, and the tension in his courtroom, by relinquishing one of his responsibilities. But the Council recommends that voters give Judge Jones the opportunity to continue to serve on the bench.

Judge Jordan is considered to have very good legal ability with a thorough knowledge of the rules of evidence and other applicable law. His integrity is unquestioned and he is considered to be fair and even-tempered. The Council finds him Qualified for retention.

11/10 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

Judge Daniel Jordan was elected to the bench in 1992 and presently sits in the Second Municipal District. He was admitted to practice in 1981. Prior to his election to the bench, Judge Jordan was an Assistant State's Attorney. Judge Jordan previously served in the First District Traffic Court and the Juvenile Division. Cases before Judge Jordan in the Second Municipal District include civil cases (including school cases), criminal cases (including traffic cases), child protection and domestic relations matters, and probate.

Judge Jordan is considered to have good legal ability and is specially praised for his courtroom management skills. He is reported to have a good temperament and is hard working. A recent Chicago Tribune article labeled Judge Jordan as one of four judges who are the most "forgiving" for driving offenses involving speeders going 100 mph or faster. Judge Jordan has defended himself, saying that he has the judicial authority to give supervision in these cases but more important, the situations in question involved a prosecutor who changed the charge as part of a negotiated deal. The Council has uncovered no bias issues regarding Judge Jordan. The Council finds him Qualified for retention to the Circuit Court.

Michelle D. JORDAN

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Elected to the Circuit Court in 2004.

2004 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Well Qualified

Michelle Jordan was admitted to practice in 1977. From the time of her admission to the bar until 1982, she was an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney. From 1982 until 1984, she was a solo private practitioner. From 1984 to 1990, she served in the Illinois Attorney General's Office handling significant environmental litigation, and from 1991 to 1993, she practiced environmental law at Hopkins & Sutter. From 1994 to 2001 she was Deputy Regional Administrator with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency. During that period she was also given permission to be detailed to the U.S. Attorney's Office in Hammond to obtain additional trial experience. From 2001 to 2003, she was the National Director of Fund Development for Rainbow / PUSH. She has been in private practice handling criminal cases for the past year. Ms. Jordan has extensive experience as an attorney with a wide variety of complex matters, and is praised for her very good legal ability and temperament. She is always well prepared and is respected for her integrity and good judgment. The Council finds her Well Qualified for the Circuit Court.

11/10 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Well Qualified

Judge Michelle Jordan was admitted to practice in 1977. She was elected to the Circuit Court in 2004, when she was assigned to the 1st Municipal District. After a brief tenure with the Child Protection Division, in December 2005 she returned to the 1st Municipal District, where she currently serves in a Felony Preliminary Hearings Courtroom. Judge Jordan began her legal career as an assistant Cook County state's attorney before working as a private practitioner, an assistant Illinois attorney general and chief of the Environmental Division, a partner at Hopkins & Sutter, deputy regional administrator for the Environmental Protection Agency, an assistant U.S. attorney, and national director of fund development for CEF.

Judge Jordan is considered to have very good legal ability. She is exceptionally hard working and respectful to all parties in her courtroom. She is praised for her courtroom management skills. The Council finds her Well Qualified for retention.

Timothy Joseph JOYCE

Present Judicial Duties:

Associate Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Elected Associate Judge by Circuit Judges in 2007.

2002 Evaluations for Associate Judge: Well Qualified

Timothy J. Joyce was admitted to practice in 1981. From 1993 to the present, he has been in private practice, concentrating primarily in criminal defense work. For ten years before that, he was an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney. From 1981 to 1983, he was associated with the firm of Daley & George.

Mr. Joyce is considered to be a superb trial lawyer with excellent legal ability. He is always well prepared and he has a very good temperament. He has substantial trial experience as both a prosecutor and a defense lawyer. He also has experience in civil law matters. Judges contacted as part of the evaluation praise Mr. Joyce as a zealous advocate who is also ethical and who does not "cut corners." The Council finds Mr. Joyce Well Qualified to serve in Circuit Court.

Themis N. KARNEZISPresent Judicial Duties

Judge, Appellate Court, First District, Third Division

Previous Judicial Duties

1998-2002: Presiding Judge, Circuit Court, Fourth Municipal District; 1985-1998: Supervising Judge, Circuit Court, Criminal Division, Felony Trials; 1984-1985: Substitute Judge, Criminal Division; 1982-1984: First Municipal District, Preliminary Hearing Courtroom

Elected Associate Judge by Circuit Judges in 1982; appointed Circuit Court Judge in 1989; elected to the Circuit Court in 1990; appointed to the Illinois Appellate Court in 2002.

Evaluation

1990 (D) Circuit Court: Qualified

Judge Karnezis has been a sitting judge hearing felony trials since 1985. Judge Karnezis is considered to be one of the more hard-working and competent judges sitting at 26th and California. The Council has heard reports that he has had problems with his temper. Judge Karnezis recognizes these concerns, however, and is improving. Moreover, Judge Karnezis' temper is usually reserved for unprepared attorneys who may, therefore, deserve the criticism. The Council finds him Qualified for the Circuit Court.

11/96 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Judge Themis N. Karnezis, 54, has been a judge since 1982. Since 1985, he has heard felony trials in the Criminal Division. In 1990, the Council found Judge Karnezis qualified for the Circuit Court, although noting reports that he occasionally had problems with his temper. These reports continue, although again his temper has been directed primarily at attorneys he considers unprepared or dilatory and who may in fact be deserving of criticism. Judge Karnezis gets uniformly high marks for being one of the hardest-working and best-prepared judges sitting in the Criminal Courts, and he is widely praised by both prosecutors and defense counsel for being fair and evenhanded. He is considered to possess high integrity and to be very knowledgeable about the law. The Council finds him Qualified.

11/02 Retention – Circuit Court: Highly Qualified;

3/02 Appointment – Appellate Court: Highly Qualified

Hon. Themis N. Karnezis has served as an Associate Judge, and later Circuit Judge, on the Circuit Court of Cook County since 1982. From 1983 until 1998, he was assigned to the criminal division hearing the full range of felony criminal cases. From June of 1998 to February of 1999, he was assigned to the Law Division, where he presided over a variety of civil jury trials involving personal injury, product liability, medical malpractice, and Structural Work Act matters. Since February of 1999, he has served as the Presiding Judge of the Fourth Municipal District in Maybrook, where he continues to conduct hearings and felony cases in addition to his administrative duties. In 1999, the Illinois Supreme Court appointed Judge Karnezis to serve on the Court's Special Committee on Capital Cases. Lawyers with experience before Judge Karnezis remark favorably upon his legal knowledge, integrity, temperament, and diligence. He is regarded as one of the Circuit Court's best trial judges. In view of Judge Karnezis' depth and breadth of experience as a trial judge, the Council finds him Highly Qualified.

2008 Retention: Highly Qualified

Hon. Themis N. Karnezis has served as an Associate Judge, and later Circuit Judge, on the Circuit Court of Cook County since 1982. He was appointed to the Illinois Appellate Court in 2002. He has extensive criminal trial experience, including cases in which the death penalty was sought. Mr. Katz is regarded as having strong legal knowledge in the criminal area, and receives high marks on his temperament, integrity, and character. He devotes a considerable portion of his free time to counseling Jewish youth. The Council finds Mr. Katz Well Qualified to serve in Circuit Court.

Lynne KAWAMOTO

Present Judicial Duties

Associate Judge, Circuit Court, Probate Division

Previous Judicial Duties

1992-2001: Associate Judge, Circuit Court, Child Protection Division; 1991-1992: Traffic Court

Appointed Associate Judge in 1991.

Evaluation

3/94 Primary Election – Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Lynne Kawamoto, 43, is an Associate Judge sitting in the Juvenile Court of Cook County. She took the bench in February 1991 at which time she was assigned to the Traffic Court. In June 1992 she was transferred into Juvenile Court. Prior to becoming a judge, she spent ten years as an Assistant

Cook County State's Attorney, ultimately becoming supervisor of the juvenile division.

We received many favorable comments about Judge Kawamoto. However, a number of the attorneys who reported described Judge Kawamoto as showing a significant pro-State bias in criminal cases. Because there are questions about her fairness, the Council finds her not qualified.

Joseph G. KAZMIERSKI, Jr.

Appointed Circuit Court in 1991; elected to the Circuit Court in 1992.

Evaluation

3/90 (D) Circuit Court: Qualified

James W. Kennedy is currently the Head Assistant Attorney for the Metropolitan Water Reclamation District, formerly the Metropolitan Sanitary District. He has been an attorney there since 1967, concentrating on litigation. Mr. Kennedy is considered by attorneys to be a knowledgeable and fair individual who is a conscientious and hard-working attorney. He receives praise from his adversaries and associates for his political independence and integrity. The Council finds him Qualified.

11/92 (Porter Vacancy—Chicago only): Qualified

Judge Kennedy, 54, was appointed by the Illinois Supreme Court to fill a vacancy in 1991. He sits in the Probate Division hearing cases involving the estates of disabled persons. He first served in the First Municipal District, hearing both civil and criminal trials. Before taking the bench, Judge Kennedy was Head Assistant Attorney for the Metropolitan Water Reclamation District. Judge Kennedy is praised as being fair and compassionate. He possesses good legal ability and works hard. The Council finds him Qualified.

11/98 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

James W. Kennedy, 60, was appointed by the Illinois Supreme Court to fill a vacancy in 1991 after a long career with the Metropolitan Water Reclamation District. He was elected to the bench in 1992. He serves in the Probate Division. Judge Kennedy has a reputation as being an excellent probate judge. Practitioners uniformly praise his skills as a judge. He has above average legal ability and is able to distill legal issues from irrelevant argument. His integrity is above reproach. He is considered fair to all who appear before him. His temperament is excellent, he renders decisions in a timely fashion, and he requires practitioners to adhere to the schedules that he sets. The Council finds him Well Qualified for retention.

11/04 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

Kathleen G. KENNEDY

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Domestic Relations Division

Elected to the Circuit Court in 1996.

1996 Primary & General Election—Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Hon. Kathleen G. Kennedy, 44, has been practicing law for 13 years. Since November 1994, Ms. Kennedy has served as a hearing officer in child abuse and neglect cases in Cook County Juvenile Court. She served as a Supervising Attorney with the Office of the Cook County Public Guardian from 1989 to 1994. From 1985 to 1989, she was a judicial law clerk to Magistrate Judge Joan Lefkow in the United States District Court for the Northern District of Illinois, and from 1982 to 1985 she was a judicial law clerk to Justice Dom J. Rizzi in the Illinois Appellate Court. Attorneys and judges report that Ms. Kennedy has good legal ability. Overall, however, she lacks courtroom experience in contested or complex litigation matters. The Council finds her not qualified.

11/02 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Hon. Kathleen G. Kennedy has been assigned to the expedited child support court of the Domestic Relations Division since her election in 1996. Judge Kennedy has performed effectively in a demanding assignment in expedited child-support court, where she presides over cases involving many pro se litigants and disputed issues over child support amounts, arrears, and non-payment. Judge Kennedy drew praise for her patience and fairness in dealing with pro se litigants and her management of frequent bench trials on issues including child custody and visitation. She also has developed a reputation for being a hard-working judge who is not afraid to devote the amount of time she deems necessary to the matters before her. The Council finds Judge Kennedy Qualified

2006 Primary Election – Appellate Court: Qualified

Hon. Kathleen G. Kennedy has been assigned to the Domestic Relations Division as an expedited hearing judge since 2003. From the time of her election in 1996 until 2003, she was assigned to the expedited child support court. Judge Kennedy is widely praised as a solid jurist demonstrating patience and fairness in her judicial assignment. She is very bright, hard-working and impartial in her current assignment. The Council is concerned, however, that Judge Kennedy has not demonstrated the breadth of experience or the writing and analytical ability necessary for an appellate judge. The Council finds her Not Qualified for the Appellate Court.

2008 Retention: Qualified

Hon. Kathleen Kennedy was admitted to the bar in 1982 and, prior to her election to the Circuit Court in 1996, she worked as a law clerk to Illinois Appellate Court Justice Rizzi and to (then) U.S. Magistrate Lefkow. She was a supervising attorney in the Cook County Public Guardian's Office for approximately 5 years, and a Circuit Court hearing officer in child protection cases for approximately 2 years. Her initial assignment as a judge was to the expedited child support calendar, and since 2003 she has been assigned to the Domestic Relations Division as an expedited hearing judge. She is regarded as well-informed in the law and thorough in her handling of the matters coming before her. She is diligent and has an excellent temperament. The Council finds her Qualified for retention.

Mr. Kirby has very good legal ability and is considered to have good temperament. He is fair and of high integrity. The Council finds him Qualified.

11/10 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Highly Qualified

John Patrick Kirby was elected to the bench in 1998 and presently sits in the Criminal Division of the Circuit Court. He was admitted to practice in 1979. Before his election to the bench, Judge Kirby served as a solo practitioner and an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney.

Judge Kirby is considered to have excellent legal ability and temperament. But he receives extraordinary praise for his dedication to using alternative sentencing in cases where the defendants are non-violent. He is respectful to all persons in his courtroom, and has personally been involved in developing a cyber high school as an alternative sentence for youthful offenders. Upon the awarding of a high school diploma, Judge

Kirby enters a motion to vacate the judgment. He has implemented a special program for defendants who are veterans, and he has personally sought to find alternative treatment programs to become part of his sentencing. The Council finds him Highly Qualified for retention.

From 1996 to late 2001, he was supervisor of the Financial Crimes Division. Prior to that, he had assignments in the Felony Trial, Juvenile, Narcotics, Felony Review, and Preliminary Hearings Divisions. He also served as a legislative liaison for the office. He began his career by spending six months at Hinshaw & Culbertson. Mr. Kottaras is a 1984 graduate of Chicago-Kent College of Law, where he has taught Trial Advocacy as an adjunct professor since 1992. He has been on the Board of Directors of the Hellenic Bar Association since 2000.

Mr. Kottaras is considered to have good legal ability and temperament. He is particularly well regarded as a lawyer dealing with financial crimes. He has a good temperament, and his integrity is unquestioned. He is a solid practitioner known for his good judgment. The Council finds Mr. Kottaras Qualified to serve in Circuit Court.

Joan M. KUBALANZA

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Child Protection Division

Appointed Circuit Judge in 2008

Evaluation

Evaluated to fill vacancy: Qualified

Joan Kubalanza was admitted to practice in 1984. She is currently in private practice. From 1984 to 1986, Ms. Kubalanza served as a law clerk to Justice William Clark and then served as an Associate with what was Wilson & McIlvaine. She was an Associate and then a Partner with Foley and Lardner from 1990 to 1998. For one year she served as an Associate Judge before going back to private practice. She reports acting as lead counsel in 1 civil jury trial and about 8 civil bench trials. She has been involved in extensive motion practice in complex matters. Ms. Kubalanza is considered to have good legal ability with solid litigation experience in more complex matters. She is praised for her temperament. The Council finds her Qualified for the Circuit Court.

Geary W. KULL

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Fourth Municipal District

Appointed to fill a judicial vacancy by the Illinois Supreme Court in 2009

Elected as a Circuit Judge in 2010

Evaluation

2010 Primary and General Elections: Well Qualified (Evaluated for Associate Judge in 2004. Judge Kull was appointed to the bench in 2009 by the Illinois Supreme Court)

After being admitted to practice in 1974, Geary Kull served as an Assistant Cook County Public Defender until 1981, when he left to establish a private criminal defense practice as a sole practitioner. Mr. Kull is considered to have very good legal ability, an excellent temperament, and unquestioned integrity. He has extensive litigation experience in complex matters. Mr. Kull is a solid practitioner who has earned the respect of his colleagues, lawyers and judges alike, who uniformly praise him highly. The Council finds him Well Qualified for the Circuit Court.

Margaret KULYS HOFFMAN

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Fifth Municipal District

Appointed Circuit Judge in 2006 and was elected to the bench in 2008

Evaluation

Qualified

Margaret Kulys-Hoffman has been a lawyer since 1983. She was appointed to the bench by the Illinois Supreme Court in 2006. She currently presides over traffic court and misdemeanor courtrooms in the Rolling Meadows courthouse. The Council, in an earlier evaluation done before she took the bench, found Judge Kulys-Hoffman Not Qualified due to insufficient litigation experience. The Council's current evaluation is based on her performance as a judge. She is considered by lawyers appearing before her to have good legal ability and temperament. She is praised for her courtroom management skills in high volume courtrooms. The Council finds her Qualified for the Circuit Court.

William J. KUNKLE

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Elected to the Circuit Court in 2004.

Evaluation

2004 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Qualified

William J. Kunkle has been practicing since 1970. He is currently a partner with the firm of Wildman, Harrold, Allen & Dixon. He has been in private practice since 1985. From 1973 to 1985, Mr. Kunkle was an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney. From 1970 to 1973, he served as an Assistant Cook County Public Defender. Mr. Kunkle is considered to have excellent legal ability with extensive litigation experience. There were some reports questioning his temperament but most respondents describe him as having a professional demeanor and being a zealous advocate. The Council finds him Qualified for the Circuit Court.

11/10 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

Judge William J. Kunkle was elected to the bench in 2004 and presently serves in the Fifth Municipal District. Previously, he was in First Municipal District and Felony Preliminary Hearing section. He was admitted to practice in 1969. Prior to his election to the bench, Judge Kunkle served first as a Public Defender and then as a States Attorney and spent some time in private practice.

Cases in the Municipal Districts cover a broad range from civil suits for damages up to $100,000, housing cases, and small claims, to misdemeanor criminal cases, felony preliminary hearings, domestic violence and traffic cases.

Judge Kunkle is described as exceptionally knowledgeable and is respected by most respondents for giving a fair trial, but many lawyers say that he can be "arrogant and rude." A few defense counsel say they think he is pro state but describe it as when all things are equal he comes down on the side of the state. All respondents praise him for his diligence and for his courtroom management skills. The Council finds him Qualified for retention.

Maria KURIAKOS CIESIL

Present Judicial Duties:

Associate Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

As lead counsel he reports taking 10 criminal trials to a jury verdict and 125 trials to a bench verdict. Mr. Kriakopoulos is reported to have good legal ability and temperament. He has substantial litigation experience in complex matters and is praised for being a honest and zealous prosecutor. The Council finds him Qualified for the Circuit Court.

William G. LACY

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Criminal Division

Previous Judicial Duties

1996-1998: Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District; First Municipal District, Traffic Court

Elected to the Circuit Court in 1996.

Evaluation

3/96 Primary Election – Circuit Court: Not Recommended

Hon. William G. Lacy did not participate in the Council's evaluation process, submitting no information in support of his candidacy. The Council received insufficient information to judge his qualifications for the Circuit Court. The Council finds him Not Recommended.

11/02 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Hon. William G. Lacy was first elected to the Circuit Court in 1996. He has been assigned to the Criminal Division since 2001. Before that, he was a back-up judge in that division. From 1998 to 2000, he sat in the Evening Narcotics Section. His first assignment, from 1996 to 1998, was in the First Municipal District, where he sat in Traffic Court, Branch 44, and Branch 66. He also handled felony preliminary hearings and bond hearings for prisoners arrested overnight. He is regarded as a competent jurist whose legal knowledge is appropriate to his assignment and whose temperament is respectful and even-handed. He is praised by some attorneys for decisiveness and is generally well-regarded by those who practice most frequently in his courtroom. The Council finds Judge Lacy Qualified for retention.

Bertina E. LAMPKIN

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Illinois Appellate Court Justice, First District

Previous Judicial Duties

Supervising Judge, Circuit Court, Criminal Division
Supervising Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District: Criminal Division; 1989-1992: Evening Narcotics Court; 1987-1989: First Municipal District; 1988-1989: Assistant Supervisor, Traffic Court

Elected Associate Judge by Circuit Judges in 1987; elected to the Circuit Court in 1992.

Judge Lampkin was appointed to the Illinois Appellate Court by the Illinois Supreme Court in 2009.

11/92 Second Subcircuit Judgeship A: Qualified

Judge Lampkin, 43, presently sits in evening narcotics court. From 1974 to 1987 she had extensive experience as an Assistant State's Attorney and member of the Chicago Corporation Counsel's office. She is described by lawyers who have appeared before her as a good, solid judge. A few lawyers question whether she unduly favors the position of Assistant State's Attorneys who appear before her and report that she rarely, if ever, will discredit the testimony of a police officer. Most lawyers, however, believe she is fair. The Council finds her Qualified.

11/98 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Bertina A. Lampkin, 49, sits in the Criminal Division. Lawyers report that she has very good legal ability and that she makes a conscientious effort to keep fully abreast of changes in criminal law. Most lawyers say she has a good judicial temperament, although some complain that she can be rude to attorneys. Her fairness and integrity are unquestioned, and she is known to be consistently punctual and exceptionally hard-working. The Council finds her Qualified for retention.

11/04 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

Bertina A. Lampkin sits in the Criminal Division. Those who appear before her report that she has adequate legal ability and that she makes a conscientious effort to keep abreast of changes in the criminal law. Her integrity is unquestioned, and she is known to be a punctual and exceptionally hard-working jurist. The Council is concerned, however, about persistent reports of Judge Lampkin's conduct in the courtroom. Judge Lampkin occasionally engages in inappropriate displays of temper to the attorneys who appear before her. She also is reported to treat lawyers rudely, occasionally lectures counsel in front of seated juries, and can be strident and dismissive when attorneys take issue with aspects of her decisions. Notwithstanding the Council's serious concerns about these issues, on balance it finds her Qualified for retention.

11/10 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

Justice Bertina E. Lampkin was appointed to the Appellate Court in 2009 and presently sits in the First District, First Division. Prior to her appointment to the Appellate Court, she was a supervising Judge in the Circuit Court, Criminal Division. She was admitted to practice in 1974. Prior to her election, Justice Lampkin was an Assistant State's Attorney and member of the Chicago Corporation Counsel's office.

As a Circuit Judge, she was considered to have good legal ability and was reported to be an exceptionally hard working jurist. She served on the Illinois Supreme Court criminal pattern jury instructions committee and was chair for the last five years. In that position, she was responsible for writing the new death penalty instructions. She has taught for the last several years in the area of death penalty litigation and created her own seminar materials. As an Appellate Justice, Justice Lampkin receives many positive reports focusing on her preparedness and vigor during oral argument. Her opinions are considered to be well-reasoned. She has made a successful transition to the Appellate Court. The Council finds her Qualified for retention.

2009 Evaluation: Qualified for the Appellate Court

Hon. Bertina Lampkin was elected to the Circuit Court in 1992. She currently hears criminal law matters at the Courthouse at 26th and California. Judge Lampkin is considered to have good legal ability and is reported to be an exceptionally hard-working jurist. Her written materials include approximately 100 opinions from cases she heard at 26th street, including findings on post-conviction petitions and motions to quash and suppress. Additionally, she has been on the Supreme Court criminal pattern jury instructions committee for fifteen years, the last five as chair of the committee. In that position, she was responsible for writing the new death penalty instructions and the instructions for specific specialized jury verdict required by the Apprendi case. She has taught for the last several years in the area of death penalty litigation and creates her own seminar materials. She has also taught in the new judge classes and written practice guides for new judges. Judge Lampkin has demonstrated that she meets the higher standards that the Council uses in evaluating candidates for the Appellate Court. The Council finds Judge Lampkin Qualified for the Appellate Court.

Diane J. LARSEN

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Law Division, Motions Section

Previous Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Elected to the Circuit Court in 1998.

1998 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Qualified

Diane J. Larsen was admitted to practice in 1983. She has spent most of her career as an Assistant Corporation Counsel for the City of Chicago. She is currently the Chief of the Policy Litigation Division of the Chicago Department of Law. Ms. Larson is widely praised as a fair and highly ethical attorney with excellent legal ability. She is considered to be exceptionally fair to her opponents. The Council finds her Qualified.

11/04 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

Diane J. Larsen was elected to the bench in 1998. She had spent most of her career as an Assistant Corporation Counsel for the City of Chicago. She currently sits in the Law Division, Motions Section. Ms. Larson is considered to be a good jurist. She had good temperament and her integrity is unquestioned. A few lawyers during the evaluation questioned her knowledge of the law and believe she exhibited a pro-plaintiff attitude, but most say that she has good legal ability and is fair to those who appear before her. The Council finds her Qualified for retention.

11/10 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

Judge Diane Larsen was elected to the Circuit Court in 1998 and presently serves in the Law Division, Motions Section. She was admitted to practice in 1983. Prior to her election, Judge Larsen was an Assistant Corporation Counsel for the City of Chicago.

Judge Larsen is considered to be a smart judge who issues timely and well-reasoned opinions. She is praised for her courtroom management and temperament. The Council finds her Qualified for retention.

(appointed in 2010 by the Illinois Supreme Court)

Jeffrey LAWRENCE

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Law Division, Motions Section

Previous Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Law Division, Jury Section;
1992-2003: Judge, Circuit Court, Domestic Relations Division

Elected to the Circuit Court in 1992.

Evaluation

11/92 Thirteenth Subcircuit: Qualified

Jeffrey Lawrence, 52, was admitted to practice in 1969. He has been a civil litigator throughout his career. Mr. Lawrence is hard working, of high integrity and has an excellent demeanor. He is praised for his knowledge of the law. The Council finds him Qualified.

11/98 Retention – Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Jeffrey Lawrence, 58, sits in the Domestic Relations Division. He was elected to the bench in 1992 after a long career in private practice. He is considered to have good legal ability and his integrity is unquestioned. Many lawyers consider him to be a very good judge in many ways. However, some practitioners find that he can be unpredictable in his rulings and that his demeanor on the bench is sometimes unacceptable. A few practitioners say that he is often late to start his call. Finally, we have received a substantial number of reports that Judge Lawrence has made inappropriate comments toward women attorneys who appear before him. When questioned about these reports, Judge Lawrence said he was unable to recall having made inappropriate remarks. While Judge Lawrence appears to be a good judge in many ways, the Council is disturbed both by the reports regarding inappropriate remarks and by Judge Lawrence's inability to recall any such incidents. On balance, the Council finds him Not Qualified for retention.

11/04 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

Jeffrey Lawrence was elected to the bench in 1992 after a long career in private practice. Upon taking the bench, Judge Lawrence principally was assigned to the Domestic Relations Division until 2003, when he was transferred to the Law Division, where he now presides over a motion and case management call.

Judge Lawrence is considered to have good legal ability and his integrity is unquestioned. Many lawyers consider him to be a very good judge in many ways. However, some practitioners find that he can be unpredictable in his rulings. In addition, the Council has received reports that Judge Lawrence occasionally is late to start his call, and that he seems to have difficulty in making some rulings since assuming his new position. On balance, however, the Council finds him Qualified for retention.

11/10 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Judge Jeffrey Lawrence was elected to the bench in 1992. He is currently assigned to the Law Division. Previously, he was in the Domestic Relations Division. Judge Lawrence was admitted to practice in 1969. Prior to election, he was in private practice.

Judge Lawrence is considered to have good legal ability. He is a capable judge who is praised for his ability to handle more complex cases. However, the Council is concerned that there are numerous reports that Judge Lawrence is not punctual in terms of starting his court call. This is a complaint that lawyers have directed at Judge Lawrence since the 1998 retention election evaluation conducted by the Council. In addition, there are lawyers who report that he is sometimes not prepared for their cases and that he is sometimes intemperate on the bench. On balance, the Council finds him Not Qualified for retention.

Marjorie C. LAWS

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Criminal Division

Previous Judicial Duties

1999-2000: Judge, Circuit Court, Juvenile Justice Division; 1996-1998: Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District:

Elected to the Circuit Court in 1996.

Evaluation

3/96 Primary Election—Circuit Court: Not Recommended

Marjorie C. Laws did not participate in the Council's evaluation process, submitting no information in support of her candidacy. The Council received insufficient information to judge her qualifications for the Circuit Court. The Council finds her Not Recommended.

11/02 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Hon. Marjorie C. Laws was elected to the Circuit Court in 1996. Her first assignment was to the First Municipal District. In 1999, she was transferred to the Juvenile Justice Division. Since 2000, she has sat in the Criminal Division, first in the Evening Narcotics Section, and, since March 2002 as a floating judge. She was criticized in an appellate court opinion for her handling of an April 2000 bench proceeding in People v. Gregory Williams, where she was found not to have afforded reasonable accommodations to allow a defendant with hearing disabilities to participate in his defense. There are no indications that Judge Laws acted out of bias or other wrongful motive in this case. We find Judge Laws Qualified for retention.

2008 Retention: Qualified

Hon. Marjorie C. Laws was elected to the Circuit Court in 1996. She is a former Cook County Assistant State's Attorney. She has been assigned to a felony trial courtroom in the Criminal Division since 2002. She was recently appointed to be a supervising judge overseeing the caseloads of five other judges. She is considered to have good legal ability and temperament. She is especially praised for her courtroom management skills and for her willingness to spend the time trying to understand the circumstances of the defendants before her so she can consider alternative programs when sentencing. We find Judge Laws Qualified for retention.

Pamela M. LEEMING

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Appointed as a Circuit Judge by the Illinois Supreme Court in 2009

11/10 Retention Election – Qualified (Evaluated for Associate Judge in 2004 and reviewed in 2009; evaluated for recall in 2010)

Hon. Pamela M. Leeming was appointed to the bench in 2009 by the Illinois Supreme Court. She ran for election in the 2010 primary and was defeated. Before being appointed to the bench she served an Assistant Cook County Public Defender since her admission to practice in 1990. She concentrated her practice in the areas of paternity, criminal misdemeanor, preliminary hearings, a variety of other pre- and post-trial matters, and appeals. As both a lawyer and as a judge, she is considered to have good legal ability and temperament. The Council was concerned that as a lawyer she lacked breadth and depth in her legal experience, as well as an absence of sufficient experience in more complex litigation matters. As a judge she receives good marks for her temperament and ability to control a courtroom. The Council finds her Qualified for recall as a Circuit Judge.

Alfred L. LEVINSON

Present Judicial Duties

Associate Judge, Circuit Court, Third Municipal District

Elected Associate Judge by Circuit Judges in 2005

2005 Evaluations for Associate Judge: Not Qualified

Alfred Lee Levinson received his license to practice law in 1967. Mr. Levinson has been in private practice since 1973 and has been a sole general practitioner since 1975. From 1967 to 1973, he was an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney. Mr. Levinson is a 1967 graduate of the DePaul University College of Law. Mr. Levinson has been the President of the Northwest Suburban Bar Association Foundation and a member of the Board of Governors of the Northwest Suburban Bar Association. He has been a chair-qualified arbitrator since the inception of the Cook County program.

Mr. Levinson is considered to have good legal ability. His professional experience appears to be substantial and varied. The Council, however, is concerned that Mr. Levinson has little recent trial experience. In addition, the Council has received reports indicating that he has demonstrated inappropriate temperament on a number of occasions. The Council finds Mr. Levinson Not Qualified to serve in Circuit Court.

Casandra LEWIS

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Elected to the Circuit Court in 2002.

Evaluation

2002 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Not Recommended

The candidate elected not to participate in the evaluation process. The Council accordingly finds the candidate Not Recommended.

2006 Primary Election – Appellate Court: Not Qualified

Hon. Casandra Lewis elected to the bench in 2002. She currently hears jury and bench trials in the First Municipal District. Prior to becoming a judge, she spent nine years in private practice and two years as an Assistant Kane County State's Attorney. Judge Lewis has adequate legal ability for her current assignment and is praised for her temperament. She receives mixed reviews, however, for her work ethic – many lawyers complain that she is not well prepared and is often not punctual in taking the bench. The Council also is concerned that Judge Lewis has not demonstrated the breadth of experience or the writing and analytical ability necessary for an appellate judge. The Council finds her Not Qualified for the Appellate Court.

Appointed Circuit Court Judge in 1994; elected to the Circuit Court in 1994.

Evaluation

11/00 Retention – Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Robert Lopez Cepero, 42, has been a judge since 1994. He sits in the First Municipal District hearing matters brought under the Forcible Detainer statute (evictions). He has previously heard collection cases involving Post Judgment Remedies. While he was hearing collection cases, Judge Lopez Cepero displayed good knowledge of the law and a willingness to help educate the bar by participating in various seminars. However, we have received numerous reports that Judge Lopez Cepero frequently shows poor judicial temperament. He is reported to be short-tempered with both litigants and lawyers and has lost his temper and acted inappropriately on several occasions. On a number of occasions he has left litigants and lawyers feeling that they were treated injudiciously and unfairly. This is a serious problem for a judge that sits in a high volume courtroom with a large number of pro se defendants. To some extent these problems have apparently been exacerbated by the judge's health problems over the past year. The judge has shown a willingness to recognize the problem and a commendable commitment to improving his demeanor. Unfortunately, at this point, the Council is constrained to find him not qualified.

2/03 Appointment to Illinois Appellate Court: Not Qualified

Hon. Robert Lopez Cepero has sat in the First Municipal District since his appointment and later election in 1994. He currently hears the Municipal Jury Trial call. From 2000 until June 2001, he heard matters brought under the Forcible Detainer statute (evictions). From 1999 to 2000, he heard collection cases involving Post Judgment Remedies. For 2 years before that, he was Second Chair during Supplemental Proceedings. From 1995 to 1998 he rotated assignments. From the time of his appointment until late 1995, he sat in Traffic Court.

Judge Lopez Cepero spent ten years in private practice as a solo practitioner representing small and mid-sized businesses in civil matters. He was admitted to the Illinois Bar in 1983. Judge Lopez Cepero is reported to have a good understanding of the law, and reportedly does a good job of managing his courtroom. There are reports, however, that he at times rules inconsistently in cases with identical legal issues and facts. In addition, there have been a variety of questions raised about his performance on the bench. Moreover, prior to being elected to the bench, Judge Lopez-Cepero had little trial and appellate experience. The Council finds Judge Lopez-Cepero Not Qualified for the Appellate Court.

2006 Retention – Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Hon. Robert Lopez Cepero has sat in the First Municipal District since his appointment and later election in 1994. He currently hears the Calendar X Jury Motion Call. He has previously heard the Municipal Jury Trial call, matters brought under the Forcible Detainer statute, and collection cases involving Post Judgment Remedies. Prior to his appointment, Judge Lopez Cepero spent ten years in private practice as a solo practitioner representing small and mid-sized businesses in civil matters. Judge Lopez Cepero has a good understanding of the law, but there are many reports that he often is short-tempered and has issued unclear and inconsistent orders and opinions. The Council finds him Not Qualified.

Noreen Valeria LOVE

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Fourth Municipal District

Previous Judicial Duties

2002-2003: Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District, Traffic Court

Appointed Circuit Court Judge in 2002; elected to the Circuit Court in 2002.

2002 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Qualified

Noreen Valeria Love was admitted to the Illinois Bar in 1989 and has spent most of her career as a lawyer in the Cook County Public Defender's Office in the felony division. Currently she is a supervisor at the Public Defender's Office in the Markham Courthouse. Prior to the last year as a supervisor Ms. Love was in solo private practice for six years concentrating in felony criminal defense, misdemeanor and traffic violations as well as domestic relations. Adversary references commented that Ms. Love represents her clients zealously in the courtroom with an even-handed temperament. Further, she is an excellent litigator, very skilled and has vast experience trying felony and capital cases. Ms. Love's peers find her legal knowledge, ability, integrity, diligence, professional conduct and character to all be good. The Council finds Ms. Love Qualified to serve as Circuit Court Judge.

2008 Retention: Qualified

Hon. Noreen Valeria Love was admitted to the Illinois Bar in 1989 and was elected to the bench in 2002. She is assigned to the Fourth Municipal District. Before being elected, she spent most of her career as a lawyer in the Cook County Public Defender's Office in the felony division. Judge Love was considered to be an excellent litigator before she took the bench and she is now considered to be a very good jurist. She is reported to have good legal ability and an excellent temperament. She is always professional and courteous on the bench, but is praised for moving her cases forward expeditiously. She participates in numerous professional and civic activities, and is involved in legal reform efforts. The Council finds her Qualified for retention.

Michele Francene LOWRANCE

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Domestic Relations Division

Appointed Circuit Court Judge in 1995; elected to the Circuit Court in 1996.

11/02 Retention – Circuit Court: Well Qualified

Hon. Michele Lowrance was appointed to the Circuit Court in 1995 and was then elected to the bench in 1996. She has sat in the Domestic Relations Division for her entire judicial career. Practitioners in the Domestic Relations Division have praised Judge Lowrance for her even temperament and courtroom management skills in hotly contested divorce and custody cases, and for her creative and energetic approach to pre-trial settlement discussions. Judge Lowrance was praised for her sensitivity to family law litigants, and to how they may be affected particularly by the emotional, cultural, and financial issues that often arise in domestic relations litigation. The judge also is a frequent participant and sometime speaker and lecturer at seminars and conferences on domestic relations law. The Council finds Judge Lowrance Well Qualified.

2008 Retention: Qualified

Hon. Michele F. Lowrance has been a judge since 1995, serving all of that time as a trial judge in the Domestic Relations Division. After her admission to the Illinois bar in 1975 and prior to taking the bench, she was in private practice in Chicago, engaged primarily in civil litigation, including domestic relations. Attorneys appearing before her report that she knows the law very well and is committed to effecting settlement of cases. The comments regarding her character, temperament and competence are strongly positive. The Council finds her Qualified for retention.

Pamela E. LOZA

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Domestic Relations Division

Elected Circuit Judge in 2008

Evaluation

Qualified

Pamela E. Loza has been a lawyer since 1977. She is currently a sole practitioner specializing in family and criminal defense law. From 1984 to 2003, she handled similar cases as a lawyer in the firm of Cameron, Loza & Associates. From 1978 to 1981, she did appellate work as a Cook County Assistant State's Attorney. Lawyers report that she has good legal ability and that she is a zealous, but fair advocate for her clients. She has substantial litigation experience. The Council finds her Qualified for the Circuit Court.

Stuart F. LUBIN

Present Judicial Duties

1991-Present: Judge, Circuit Court, Juvenile Justice Division

Previous Judicial Duties

1991: First Municipal District (various courtrooms)

Appointed Circuit Court Judge in 1991; elected to the Circuit Court in 1994.

Evaluation

3/92 Circuit Court: Highly Qualified

Stuart Lubin, 42, was appointed as a Circuit Judge in 1991, and has been sitting in the Juvenile Division. He was an Assistant Public Defender from 1974 to 1991. In the Public Defender's Office, he tried felonies and was a supervisor. He had a reputation as an outstanding lawyer.

As a judge, Judge Lubin receives rave reviews. He has excellent demeanor, and is quiet but firm. His legal ability is excellent. Both sides of cases praise his work. The Council believes he is highly qualified for election to the Circuit Court.

3/94 Circuit Court: Highly Qualified

Stuart F. Lubin, 44, was evaluated by the Council of Lawyers in 1992 and at that time was found highly qualified for election to the Circuit Court. He was appointed as a Circuit Court judge in 1991 and through at least January 1994 was assigned to the Juvenile Division. He was an Assistant Public Defender from 1974 to 1991, where he tried felonies and was a supervisor. He had a reputation as an outstanding lawyer.

In 1992 we wrote, "As a judge, Judge Lubin receives rave reviews. He has excellent demeanor, and is quiet but firm. His legal ability is excellent. Both sides of cases praise his work."

Our investigation in 1994 revealed that Judge Lubin continues to be an excellent judge. Every person contacted described him in glowing terms. He is said to have excellent legal ability and knowledge, firm control of the courtroom, and a good demeanor. He holds both sides to high standards of compliance on pre-trial discovery matters. He is fair to the prosecution and the defense both at trial and in dispositions. He shows great compassion and interest in the litigants and treats all parties who appear before him with courtesy and respect. The Council finds Judge Lubin highly qualified for election to the Circuit Court.

11/00 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Stuart F. Lubin, 51, has been a judge since 1991. He sits in the Juvenile Justice Division. He served as an Assistant Cook County Public Defender before becoming a judge. Judge Lubin is praised by lawyers for having very good legal ability. He is a diligent and hard-working judge who maintains a firm control of his courtroom. However, while most lawyers describe Judge Lubin as having a good judicial temperament, the Council received reports from some lawyers saying that he can be short-tempered and impatient at times. On balance, the Council finds him Qualified.

2006 Retention – Circuit Court: Well Qualified

Hon. Stuart F. Lubin has sat in the Juvenile Justice Division since 1991. He served as an Assistant Cook County Public Defender for seventeen years before becoming a judge. Judge Lubin is considered to have very good legal ability. He is praised for his temperament and is described as being particularly conscientious while on the bench. He is efficient but allows sufficient time for each case. He is hard working and fair to all parties. The Council finds him Well Qualified.

Marvin P. LUCKMAN

Present Judicial Duties

1996 – Present: Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District, Branch 47, misdemeanor jury trials

Previous Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District, Branch 43

Appointed Circuit Court in 1991; elected to the Circuit Court in 1994.

3/92 Circuit Court: Qualified

Marvin Luckman, 59, was appointed to fill a vacancy in 1991. He has been assigned to Traffic Court. Prior to becoming a judge, he was a Managing Attorney at the Chicago Transit Authority. He worked on criminal and traffic-related matters. He also had a small private practice.

Lawyers report that Judge Luckman is performing his job very well. He is knowledgeable, fair, capable, and hard working. Judge Luckman is qualified for election as a Circuit Judge.

11/94 General Election (subcircuit) – Circuit Court: Qualified

Marvin Luckman, 61, was appointed to fill a vacancy in 1991. He sits in the Traffic Court, where he presides over DUI jury motion court. Prior to becoming a Circuit Judge, he was a Managing Attorney at the Chicago Transit Authority. Lawyers report that Judge Luckman performs his job well. As the Council reported in its 1992 evaluation of Judge Luckman, he is knowledgeable, fair, capable, and hard working. The Council finds him Qualified.

11/00 Retention – Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Marvin Phillip Luckman, 67, has been a judge since 1991. He currently sits in the First

Municipal District hearing both bench and jury trials. Prior to becoming a judge, he was the managing attorney for the Chicago Transit Authority. He also had a small private practice. Lawyers report that Judge Luckman is diligent and has a good judicial temperament. The Council, however, has received some reports that question his ability. The written materials that Judge Luckman submitted as part of this evaluation process failed to demonstrate the analytical and written skills the Council expects of members of the judiciary. In addition, there are some reports that Judge Luckman is not totally impartial in certain types of cases, such as those involving the City of Chicago. On balance, the Council finds him Not Qualified.

2006 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Hon. Marvin P. Luckman was appointed to fill a vacancy in 1991. He currently sits in the First Municipal District hearing both bench and jury trials. Prior to becoming a judge, he was the managing attorney for the Chicago Transit Authority. He also had a small private practice. Judge Luckman is considered to have average legal ability and is reported to be courteous and patient on the bench. He is praised for his diligence. The Council finds him Qualified.

William D. MADDUX

Present Judicial Duties

Presiding Judge, Circuit Court, Law Division

Previous Judicial Duties

1995-2001: Judge, Circuit Court, Law Division; 1993-1994: Presiding Judge, Juvenile Division; 1991-1993: Judge, Circuit Court, Law Division

Appointed Circuit Court Judge in 1991; elected to the Circuit Court in 1992.

Evaluation

1992 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court (Rakowski Vacancy): Qualified

William Maddux, 57, was appointed by the Supreme Court to fill a vacancy in 1991. He is sitting as a trial judge in the Law Division. Judge Maddux began his career as a lawyer at Kirkland & Ellis. From 1975-1979 he was in solo practice, doing insurance defense and corporate litigation. Upon the election of the late Justice Dooley to the Illinois Supreme Court, Judge Maddux took over Justice Dooley's plaintiff's personal injury practice.

Judge Maddux receives high praise for his ability, temperament, fairness and judicial skills. Many lawyers rate him among the best judges in the Law Division.

Based on his judicial performance alone, Judge Maddux would receive consideration for a highly qualified rating. However, Judge Maddux was one of the lawyers whom the Supreme Court found to have violated an ethical rule when he loaned money for the benefit of the mother of Judge Richard LeFevour, the former head of the First Municipal District, who was convicted in Operation Greylord. Judge Maddux did not have any cases before Judge LeFevour, and there was no suggestion that he was doing anything other than making a humanitarian gesture. The Supreme Court did not assess any discipline against Judge Maddux.

On balance, the Council does not believe that Judge Maddux's loan to Judge LeFevour's mother should permanently disqualify him from being a judge. Nevertheless, the Council cannot at this time find him highly qualified.

11/98 Retention – Circuit Court: Highly Qualified

William D. Maddux, 63, sits in the Law Division. He receives high praise for his legal ability and temperament. He is considered skillful at settlement negotiations. He is fair to all parties, knowledgeable and experienced. Lawyers widely praise his courtroom management skills. Nearly all respondents considered him to be an outstanding jurist. The Council finds him Highly Qualified for retention.

11/04 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Well Qualified

William D. Maddux sits in the Law Division. He receives high praise for his legal ability and temperament. He is considered skillful at settlement negotiations. He is fair to all parties, knowledgeable and experienced. Lawyers widely praise his courtroom management skills. Nearly all respondents considered him to be an outstanding jurist. The Council is concerned that he apparently did not take seriously the judicial evaluation process, but finds him Well Qualified for retention.

11/10 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

Judge William D. Maddux was appointed to the bench in 1991 and elected in 1992. He is currently Presiding Judge in the Law Division. Previously, he served both in the Law Division and the Juvenile Division. Judge Maddux was admitted to practice in 1959. Prior to appointment, Judge Maddux was in private practice.

Judge Maddux is praised for his legal ability and for his diligence. He is considered to be professional in his demeanor. While not all lawyers praise the changes he has brought to the Law Division, all praise his dedication to streamlining the Law Division. Most respondents say that he is doing an adequate job as Presiding Judge of the Law Division. The Council finds him Qualified for retention.

William O. MAKI

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Chancery Division

Previous Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Law Division, Jury Section;
1995-1999: Judge, Circuit Court, Criminal Division;
1992-1994: Judge, Circuit Court, Juvenile Division

Elected to the Circuit Court in 1992.

Evaluation

11/92 Twelfth Subcircuit: Qualified

William Maki, 44, has been a practicing lawyer for 18 years. He also has been the Village President of Arlington Heights for the past three years. Mr. Maki spent five years as a prosecutor in the State's Attorney's office and approximately thirteen years in private practice, where he has had both a criminal and a personal injury practice. He has also served as a village prosecutor, liquor commissioner, and a hearing officer for the Secretary of State.

Mr. Maki has extensive experience in both criminal and civil litigation. Lawyers questioned about his performance describe Mr. Maki as a solid practitioner. He is described as fair, with a good temperament. The Council believes he is qualified for election to the Circuit Court.

11/98 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

William O. Maki, 50, sits in the Criminal Division at the Skokie Courthouse. He is the former Village President of Arlington Heights and has been on the bench since 1992. He is considered to be a very good judge with good ability and temperament. His integrity and fairness are unquestioned. The Council finds him Qualified for retention.

11/04 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

William O. Maki sits in the Law Division. He is the former Village President of Arlington Heights and has been on the bench since 1992. He is considered to have adequate legal ability and temperament. His integrity and fairness are unquestioned. The Council finds him Qualified for retention in his current position.

11/10 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

Judge William O. Maki was elected to the bench in 1992 and is assigned to the Chancery Division. Previously, he served in the Juvenile, Criminal and Law Divisions. Judge Maki was admitted to practice in 1973. Prior to election he was in private practice.

Judge Maki is considered to be a diligent and hard working judge with a good temperament. He is praised for his impartiality. Some lawyers, however, expressed their wish that Judge Maki would provide more detailed explanation into his rulings. The Council finds him Qualified for retention.

Previous Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Law Division: Judge, Circuit Court, Child Protection Division

Elected to the Circuit Court in 1996.

Evaluation

1996 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Not Recommended

Patricia M. Martin did not participate in the Council's evaluation process, submitting no information in support of her candidacy. The Council received insufficient information to judge her qualifications for the Circuit Court. The Council finds her Not Recommended.

11/02 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Hon. Patricia Martin-Bishop was elected in 1996 and served in the Child Protection Division through July 1998, when she was transferred to the Law Division. She returned to the Child Protection Division as Presiding Judge in January 2000. She spent her entire legal career before becoming a judge as an Assistant Cook County Public Defender, where she became a trial supervisor (1989-1994) and Deputy Chief of the Fifth District (1994-1996). She drew some criticism for her performance in the Law Division, pertaining to legal knowledge, attributable largely to her then-lack of civil experience. But her tenure in juvenile court has been better received. She revealed, through her written submissions and interview, a genuine commitment to both the details of her work and the bigger picture of her present supervisory duties. The Council finds Judge Martin-Bishop Qualified.

2008 Retention: Well Qualified

Hon. Patricia Martin-Bishop was elected in 1996 and served in the Child Protection Division through July 1998, when she was transferred to the Law Division. She returned to the Child Protection Division as Presiding Judge in January 2000. She spent her entire legal career before becoming a judge as an Assistant Cook County Public Defender, where she became a trial supervisor (1989-1994) and Deputy Chief of the Fifth District (1994-1996). Judge Martin-Bishop is considered to have very good legal ability and is praised for the leadership she has brought to the Child Protection Division. She is reported to have an excellent demeanor, listening to all sides but focusing the arguments toward relevant facts and issues. She is reported to be fair to all parties and her opinions are well reasoned. She is praised for legal reform efforts. The Council finds her Well Qualified for retention.

Mary Anne MASON

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Chancery Division

Previous Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Juvenile Justice Division

Appointed Circuit Court Judge in 2000; elected to the Circuit Court in 2002

Evaluation

2002 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Highly Qualified

The Honorable Mary Anne Mason was appointed to the Circuit Court of Cook County in September 2000. She currently sits in the Juvenile Justice Division. She was admitted to the bar in 1977. After graduating law school, she served as a law clerk to Appellate Court Justice Daniel J. McNamara for two years. She served as an Assistant United States Attorney from 1979 to 1985. Ms. Mason is a sitting judge in juvenile court and was appointed to fill a vacancy in September 2000. From 1985 until 2000, she practiced commercial litigation in a small law firm. People who were interviewed about Judge Mason described her as very knowledgeable and “always two steps ahead of the attorneys” even from her first day on the bench. In her interview, she was articulate and knowledgeable. She seems to truly love her work and helping the children. She also seems to be sincere in her commitment to civil service and thinks that being a judge is the highest calling and a way to spend a career helping people. The Council finds Judge Mason Highly Qualified.

2008 Retention: Well Qualified

Hon. Mary Anne Mason was appointed to the Circuit Court of Cook County in September 2000. She currently sits in the Chancery Division, although she spent much of her judicial tenure in the Juvenile Justice Division. She was admitted to the bar in 1977. She served as an Assistant United States Attorney from 1979 to 1985. From 1985 until 2000, she practiced commercial litigation in a small law firm. Judge Mason is considered to possess very good legal ability and temperament. She was an excellent trial lawyer and as a judge is said to be well prepared and dedicated. She receives high marks for fairness and courtroom management skills. The Council finds her Well Qualified for retention.

Susan J. McDUNN

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Elected to the Circuit Court in 1992.

Evaluation

3/92 Primary Election – Circuit Court: Not Recommended

Susan McDunn was admitted to practice in 1980. Ms. McDunn did not participate in the Council's evaluation process in 1990, and has not participated again this year. The Council has received insufficient information to judge her qualifications for the Circuit Court.

In 1990, Ms. McDunn ran for election to the Circuit Court, for the vacancy created by the resignation of Judge Roger Kiley. After the election, she was declared the loser to Judge James H. Williams.

Ms. McDunn challenged the election in court. On March 23, 1990, Judge Michael J. Murphy entered a memorandum decision and order ruling in favor of McDunn on the issue of disputed ballots, and declared her to be the winner of the March 1990 Democratic primary election. He ordered her name to appear on the November 3, 1992 general election ballot as the Democratic Party's nominee to fill the Kiley vacancy. Judge Williams appealed to the Illinois Appellate Court. On September 30, 1992, the Appellate Court affirmed the ruling of the Circuit Court but because of what the court cited as "extenuating circumstances" ruled that Judge Williams shall continue to serve as a Circuit Judge even though Ms. McDunn's name was to be placed on the general election ballot. Justice Anthony Scariano dissented. While he concurred with the majority position upholding the Circuit Court's opinion, he took issue with filling a single vacancy with two persons, referring to the action as the "Judges' Full Employment Bill of 1992."

The Council agrees with Justice Scariano's dissent. An election cannot have two winners. Either Judge Williams' victory and appointment should have been voided, or Ms. McDunn should have been declared defeated.

11/98 Retention – Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Susan J. McDunn, 43, was elected to the bench in 1992, although she did not take the bench until September of 1993 due to litigation regarding the election. She has had numerous assignments over the years and has been sitting in the County Division since June 1998. Lawyers report that Judge McDunn is impartial, diligent, punctual, and independent. However, many lawyers complain that she appears to have difficulty handling a large volume court call in an efficient and timely manner. Several lawyers also reported that she loses her temper in court and appears unable to control her courtroom. In addition, a number of lawyers report that she does not possess adequate legal ability. These lawyers report that they do not believe that she understood the law or applied it properly, and that she lacked adequate understanding of the rules of evidence. The Council finds her not qualified for retention.

11/04 Retention, Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Susan J. McDunn was elected to the Circuit Court in 1992, though she did not take the bench until September of 1993, due to litigation in connection with the election. Judge McDunn had numerous assignments during her first term, including an assignment to the County Division in June 1998, where she heard adoption cases. In 1998, the Council reported in its judicial evaluation report that "many lawyers complain that she appears to have difficulty handling a large volume court call in an efficient and timely manner. Several lawyers also reported that she loses her temper in court and appears unable to control her courtroom. In addition, a number of lawyers report that she does not possess adequate legal ability. These lawyers report that they do not believe that she understood the law or applied it properly, and that she lacked adequate understanding of the rules of evidence.” Based on these reports, the Council found Judge McDunn not qualified for retention, but she nevertheless was re-elected to the Circuit Court in 1998

Since that time, Judge McDunn unfortunately has shown herself to be not only inept as a jurist, but has been publicly rebuked by the Illinois Appellate Court for judicial conduct the court says “disgraced the judiciary and the people of Illinois.” The matters that form the basis of the appellate court’s opinion began as uncontested adoptions by two same-sex couples, the legality of which previously had been upheld in the Illinois courts. Notwithstanding positive and favorable reports by the guardians ad litem responsible for conducting the pre-adoption investigations, Judge McDunn challenged the reports on the basis of the adopting couples’ sexual orientations. She then refused to rule on the pending adoptions, and on her own motion, appointed a Washington, D.C.-based group named the Family Research Council (“FRC”), an organization with a well-known anti-gay bias, as a “secondary” guardian ad litem in the two cases.

In support of her decision, Judge McDunn claimed that her appointment of the FRC was necessary because the group was “on record for the position that adoptions by unmarried persons and persons living a homosexual lifestyle are not in the best interests of children,” and because no party to the litigation had advocated this position. Not only is Judge McDunn’s conduct unsupported under Illinois law — at the time this case was heard, Illinois courts had routinely and legally granted hundreds of adoptions to same-sex couples — but the Illinois Appellate Court already had ruled squarely that “nothing in the [Illinois] Adoption Act suggests that sexual orientation is a relevant consideration in adoption cases.” It also should be noted that Judge McDunn released confidential case files to the FRC, and also appears to have consulted with the members of the group outside of the formal courtroom setting, in an effort to further the FRC’s involvement in the case.

The adopting parents thereafter moved as a matter of legal right for a substitution of judge, and their motion was granted by Judge Francis Barth, the presiding judge of the County Division. Judge Barth then removed Judge McDunn from the case for cause, entered an order allowing the challenged adoptions, and transferred Judge McDunn to Traffic Court. Despite her removal from the case and her assignment to a division with no responsibility for adoption matters, however, Judge McDunn nevertheless entered orders from Traffic Court declaring that her presiding judge’s actions were void because Judge Barth had no jurisdiction over the adoption cases.

On appeal, the Illinois Appellate Court ruled decisively against Judge McDunn, finding that she had demonstrated “extreme and patent bias against the adoptive parents based upon their sexual orientation.” The appellate court also reminded Judge McDunn of the well-settled principle of Illinois law that once a motion of substitution of judge for cause has been brought, that judge loses all power and authority over the case. Furthermore, the court found that Judge McDunn inappropriately had joined the two adoption cases based only on the sexual orientations of the two sets of adoptive parents. “As a result, she not only injected inadmissible facts into each of the cases, but also inflicted anguish on the petitioners and needlessly prolonged what should have been a simple and straightforward process.” The court further concluded that Judge McDunn had erred in bringing the FRC into the case, because “there is no provision in Illinois statutory or case law authorizing the addition of FRC as a party We find Judge McDunn’s actions in appointing FRC as a ‘secondary guardian’ to be legally and logically indefensible.” Not only did the Illinois Appellate Court then vacate Judge McDunn’s orders, but issued an immediate apology, at the close of oral argument, to the adoptive parents for the improper and unlawful actions taken against them by Judge McDunn.

Following the Appellate Court’s decision, the Illinois Judicial Inquiry Board commenced an investigation of Judge McDunn’s conduct in connection with the case, based on its belief that Judge McDunn’s actions inappropriately had been fueled by personal prejudice. Then-Chief Judge Donald O’Connell placed McDunn on an administrative leave from the bench during the JIB’s investigation. Ultimately, the Illinois Courts

Commission, a body comprised exclusively of judges, found that McDunn never made any specific statements against persons based on their sexual orientation and the dismissed the complaint with prejudice. Judge McDunn subsequently has resumed her judicial duties in another assignment.

The Council believes that Judge McDunn's actions in handling these matters are unacceptable and fall well beyond the pale of appropriate judicial conduct. In open disregard for the rule of law in this jurisdiction, Judge McDunn unfairly and inappropriately attempted to exploit her authority in the legal system to advance her own personal beliefs, at the substantial expense of the litigants. The Council regards these recent events as confirmation that Judge McDunn is not qualified to sit as a judge. She abused her position and should not be retained.

11/10 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Judge Susan McDunn was elected to the bench in 1992. She is currently assigned to the Law Division. Previously, she was in the County Division and the First Municipal District. Judge McDunn was admitted to practice in 1980. Prior to election, she was in private practice.

Judge McDunn is considered to have adequate legal ability. Judge McDunn was found Not Qualified for retention in 2004, having been publicly rebuked by the Illinois Appellate Court for judicial conduct the court says, "disgraced the judiciary and the people of Illinois." The Council found her behavior in failing to follow Illinois adoption law based on her personal beliefs to be "unacceptable and fall well beyond the pale of appropriate judicial conduct." The Council believes this behavior alone disqualifies Judge McDunn, but an evaluation conducted for the 2010 retention election revealed that many lawyers believe she has difficulty handling complex matters that come before her and that she demonstrates an inappropriate temperament. The Council finds her Not Qualified for retention.

11/92 Circuit Court: Highly Qualified

Judge McGann, 45, has been an Assistant Supervising Judge in Traffic Court since 1988. Judge McGann was admitted to the bar in 1972, and was an Assistant State's Attorney and in private practice before becoming a judge.

Judge McGann is described as the most knowledgeable judge in Traffic Court. Lawyers report that he is respectful of defendants, prepared for court, and knowledgeable about the law. Lawyers praise him as a teacher, willing to improve the performance of younger lawyers. Judge McGann has also taken on administrative responsibilities, assisting in the reform of Traffic Court. He has remained in Traffic Court to implement reforms, despite opportunities for transfer to more glamorous assignments. The Council believes he is highly qualified for election to the Circuit Court.

11/98 Retention – Circuit Court: Highly Qualified

2002 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court:
Not Qualified

Sheila M. McGinnis has served as an Assistant State's Attorney since her admission to the Illinois bar in 1989. Before then, she had been employed as a victim/witness specialist with the Cook County State's Attorney's Office. From all accounts, Ms. McGinnis is considered to be fair, diligent, professional, and knowledgeable with a good temperament and integrity. Since 1989, Ms. McGinnis has been assigned to a variety of divisions within the Office of the State's Attorney, including criminal appeals, child support enforcement, narcotics, misdemeanor, and traffic. However, although Ms. McGinnis clearly has experience with a wide-range of matters, she does not appear to have developed sufficient depth in any area of her practice and does not appear to have handled complex trials. At this time, the Council considers Ms. McGinnis Not Qualified.

2008 Retention: Qualified

Hon. Sheila M. McGinnis was elected to the bench in 2002. She is currently assigned to the Fifth Municipal District. Before her election, she served as an Assistant State's Attorney since her admission to the Illinois bar in 1989. Before then, she had been employed as a victim/witness specialist with the Cook County State's Attorney's Office. Lawyers give Judge McGinnis positive remarks for her judicial performance. She is considered to have good legal ability and temperament. She is praised for her courtroom management skills and she is hard working. Based on her judicial performance, Judge McGinnis would warrant an unquestioned qualified for retention. However, Judge McGinnis was accused of drunk driving and arrested by the Tinley Park Police after she hit a car on May 9, 2008. She was initially assigned by Chief Judge Evans to administrative duties but as of May 20, 2008, she was assigned to a call doing civil cases. Her case is pending at the time of this evaluation. Judge McGinnis has not been convicted of a crime, although she has been arrested. The Council is concerned about the judgment shown by Judge McGinnis, but finds her Qualified for retention.

Elected Associate Judge by Circuit Judges in 2005.

2005 Evaluations for Associate Judge: Well Qualified

Mary Regina Minella was admitted to practice in Illinois in 1983. Since 1986, Ms. Minella has been a partner with Mullen & Minella, where her practice involves litigation, negligence, medical negligence, products liability, and worker's compensation. For three years before that, she was an associate at Mullen & Clancy. The candidate has considerable experience in complex litigation, as well as strong appellate experience. She is a good writer and teacher and is very involved in volunteer efforts. Those contacted found her to be a very good attorney. The Council finds Ms. Minella Well Qualified to serve in Circuit Court.

Raymond W. MITCHELL

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Appointed Circuit Judge in 2008

Evaluation

2010 Primary and General Elections, Circuit Court: Qualified

Judge Raymond William Mitchell was admitted to practice in 1993. He was appointed to the bench by the Illinois Supreme Court in October 2008. From 1998 to 2008 he was an associate and then partner with the law firm of Winston & Strawn where he was involved in all aspects of more complex litigation matters. He served as an associate lawyer with Gardner, Carton & Douglas. Prior to his appointment to the bench, he reports being involved in numerous pro bono efforts. Judge Mitchell is considered to have good legal ability and was well-respected as an attorney in private practice. Lawyers appearing before him in Traffic Court, where he now sits, report that he has a very good temperament and demonstrates good legal ability. The Council finds him Qualified for the Circuit Court.

Present Judicial Duties:

Associate Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Elected Associate Judge by Circuit Judges in 2007.

2002 Evaluations for Associate Judge: Qualified

Martin Paul Moltz has been licensed to practice law in Illinois since 1971. He has been at the State's Attorney's Appellate Prosecutor's Office in Elgin since 1972 and has been the Deputy Director of that office since 1997. From 1971 to 1972, he was an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney; he was a clerk at that office for one year before that. Mr. Moltz was awarded his JD by the University of Oklahoma in 1969. He lists numerous bar association activities and has been on the Board of Directors of the Public Interest Law Initiative. He has taught legal research at Roosevelt University since 1987.

Mr. Moltz is considered to have good legal ability and to be a student of the law. Although his trial court experience is limited, he has extensive appellate court experience. He has authored substantial articles on criminal law issues. He has a very good temperament. The Council finds Mr. Moltz Qualified to serve in Circuit Court.

Colleen McSweeney MOORE

Present Judicial Duties

2005-present: Judge, Circuit Court, Fifth Municipal District, misdemeanor and traffic

Previous Judicial Duties

1998-2005: Supervising Judge, Circuit Court, Criminal Division; 1995-1998: Judge, Circuit Court, Criminal Division; 1994-1995: Criminal Division,

Evening Narcotics

Elected to the Circuit Court in 1994.

Evaluation

11/00 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Colleen McSweeney Moore, 45, was first elected to the bench in 1994 and presently serves as a Supervising Judge in the Criminal Division. She has not previously been rated by the Council. Before reaching the bench, for eleven years she served as an Assistant States Attorney. In general, attorneys rate the Judge good to very good on legal knowledge, integrity, sensitivity to diversity, diligence and impartiality. There is one notable mark against the Judge: an incident where once, during a trial, she ordered a defense attorney handcuffed and jailed for contempt for what has been reported as repeated violations of a court order. It is difficult to imagine what behavior by an attorney during trial would ever justify such a harsh response, especially in the light of reasonable alternatives (such as a post-trial hearing for contempt). This lapse of judgment, while serious, appears to be an aberration in an otherwise good career. The Council finds the Judge qualified.

2006 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Hon. Colleen McSweeney Moore was first elected to the bench in 1994 and presently serves in the Fifth Municipal District in Bridgeview hearing misdemeanor and traffic cases. Before that, she was a Supervising Judge in the Criminal Division. Before reaching the bench, she served as an Assistant States Attorney for eleven years. Judge Moore is considered to have good legal ability and manages her courtroom well. Although some lawyers report that she can be short-tempered on the bench, many others say that her temperament is fine and that she is only short with unprepared lawyers. On balance, the Council finds her Qualified.

John J. MORAN, Jr.

Present Judicial Duties

1998-Present: Supervising Judge, Circuit Court, Criminal Division

Previous Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Criminal Division

Appointed Circuit Court Judge in 1991; elected to the Circuit Court in 1992.

Evaluation

3/92 Circuit Court: Unopposed

This candidate is running unopposed in the Democratic primary. The Council will evaluate him prior to the general election.

11/92 Circuit Court (Mackey Vacancy): Qualified

Judge Moran, 40, was appointed as a Circuit Judge to fill a vacancy in 1991. Prior to becoming a judge, he was an Assistant State's Attorney from 1978 to 1982. He was then in a civil litigation practice with the law firm of State Senate President Phil Rock from 1986 to 1991. Since his appointment to the bench, he has been serving in the Criminal Division.

Judge Moran is reported to be a good judge, with solid integrity and fairness. His legal experience is extensive and varied. His legal ability and temperament are good. While Judge Moran is reported to have strong political ties, all lawyers contacted believed he is independent on the bench. He had a good reputation as an Assistant State's Attorney. The Council believes Judge Moran is qualified.

11/98 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

John J. Moran, 46, was appointed to fill a vacancy in 1991. He was elected to the bench in 1992. He sits in the Criminal Division at 26th & California hearing felony trials. Judge Moran is reported to be a solid jurist with good legal ability and temperament. His fairness and integrity are unquestioned. The Council finds him Qualified for retention.

11/04 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

John J. Moran was appointed to fill a vacancy in 1991. He was elected to the bench in 1992. He sits in the Criminal Division at 26th & California hearing felony trials. Judge Moran is reported to be a solid jurist with good temperament. His fairness and integrity are unquestioned. He has a somewhat high reversal rate on appeal, but on balance the Council finds him Qualified for retention.

Judge, Circuit Court, Law Division, Jury Section

Previous judicial experience

1996-2002: Judge, Circuit Court, Child Protection Division

Elected to the Circuit Court in 1996.

Evaluation

1996 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Qualified

Mary Alice Mulhern, 43, has been practicing law for 18 years. Since 1987, she has practiced in a general-practice law firm. From 1986 to 1987, she was general counsel to the Illinois Department of Labor. She was an Assistant Illinois Attorney General from 1980 to 1986, doing federal-court litigation in the General Law Division. She was in private practice between 1977 and 1980. Ms. Mulhern is a hard-working and fair litigator with good legal ability. Attorneys give her high marks for integrity. The Council finds her Qualified.

11/02 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Hon. Mary Alice Mulhern was elected to the Circuit Court in 1996. She was transferred to the Law Division, Trial Section in July 2002. She was first assigned to the Child Protection Division from 1996 to 1999. After that, she served in the First Municipal District and in the Law Division. Immediately prior to her current assignment, starting in March 2002, she was assigned to the Commercial Calendar Section. She is considered by those contacted to be performing her job with the requisite legal ability, promptness, temperament and control over her docket, and with appropriate sensitivity to the litigants. We therefore find her Qualified for retention.

2008 Retention: Qualified

Judge, Circuit Court, First Judicial District

Appointed Circuit Court Judge in 2007.

2006 Evaluation to fill a Circuit Court Vacancy: Well Qualified

Thomas Mulroy has practiced law since 1973. Since 2003, he has been Chairman of the Litigation Committee at McGuire Woods. For two years before that, he was a partner at Mulroy Scandaglia Marrinson & Ryan. From 1976 until 2001, he was at Jenner & Block. He spent 1972 to 1976 as an Assistant U.S. Attorney. Mr. Mulroy is considered to have excellent legal ability and temperament. He is involved in community service activities and has published articles. The Council is concerned that he provided little attention to the evaluation materials he supplied to the Alliance of Bar Associations for Judicial Screening. On balance, however, the Council finds him Well Qualified.

Appointed Associate Judge in 1985; elected to the Circuit Court in 1992; appointed to the Illinois Appellate Court in 2005; elected to the Illinois Appellate Court in 2006.

Evaluation

1992 Primary & General Elections—Circuit Court (Hamilton Vacancy): Qualified

Michael Murphy, 50, became an Associate Judge in 1985. Prior to that, he was Executive Director of the Southeast Chicago Commission, a community group, and also was an Assistant Attorney General.

Judge Murphy is assigned to the County Division where he hears real estate tax sale objections, election law, adoption and mental health cases. He is widely regarded as one of the better judges in that Division. Judge Murphy displays good knowledge of the specialized legal areas with which he deals, and his decisions are prompt and well reasoned. He is hard working and manages his docket well. He consistently treats all parties fairly and courteously, and acts with high integrity. He is involved with a number of efforts aimed at improving the judicial system.

As an Associate Judge, Judge Murphy has also heard domestic violence cases. Attorneys who practiced before him during his earlier years on that call reported that he occasionally overstepped procedural bounds in handling those matters. Judge Murphy told the Council that he recognized that he had not been handling domestic violence cases well and he took steps to improve his performance. Lawyers who had cases before him during the latter part of his assignment to that call confirmed that his performance substantially improved.

On balance, the Council finds Judge Murphy well qualified for election to the Circuit Court.

11/98 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Michael James Murphy, 56, became an Associate Judge in 1985. He was elected to the bench in 1992. He was previously assigned to the county division, hearing real estate, tax, mental health, and adoption matters. More recently, Judge Murphy has been assigned to head the Housing Court, a position involving both administrative and courtroom duties. Practitioners have been uniformly supportive of Judge Murphy's administrative work involving attempts to improve the functioning of Housing Court. Judge Murphy's courtroom work has also won him high praise, especially for integrity and independence. He has good legal ability and his fairness is unquestioned. The Council finds him Well Qualified for retention.

11/04 Retention Judge, Circuit Court: Well Qualified

Michael James Murphy became an Associate Judge in 1985. He was elected to the bench in 1992. He is currently the Presiding Judge of the County Division where real estate, tax, mental health, and adoption matters are heard. Judge Murphy has served as head of the Housing Court, a position involving both administrative and courtroom duties. Practitioners were uniformly supportive of Judge Murphy's administrative work involving attempts to improve the functioning of Housing Court. He continues to receive high marks by lawyers. Judge Murphy's courtroom work has won him high praise, especially for integrity and independence. He has good legal ability and his fairness is unquestioned. The Council finds him Well Qualified for retention.

2006 Primary & General Elections – Appellate Court: Well Qualified

Judge Michael J. Murphy is the Presiding Judge of the County Division, Circuit Court of Cook County. He has served as a judge since 1986. Judge Murphy is reported to be an excellent jurist with a high level of legal knowledge and ability. He has a very good temperament and is reported to be a good administrator. He has also been responsible for a number of reforms aimed at improving the administration of justice. In addition, Judge Murphy has substantial teaching and public service experience. The Council finds him Well Qualified.

Patrick T. MURPHYPresent Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Domestic Relations Division

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Elected to the Circuit Court in 2004.

Evaluation

2004 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court:
Not Qualified

Patrick T. Murphy was admitted to practice in 1964. He has been the Cook County Public Guardian for the past 25 years. From 1981 to 1986, he worked part-time as Public Guardian while maintaining a solo practice. From 1976 to 1981, he was a partner in a private firm. His experience before 1976 included work as a consultant, a research fellow, an attorney for the National Legal Aid and Defender Association and the Legal Assistance Foundation, a member of the Peace Corps and an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney.

The judicial candidacy of Mr. Murphy presents a number of difficult questions. He is a very smart and hard-working lawyer who is a forceful and often effective advocate for children. He has attracted good lawyers to the Public Guardian's Office and is an accomplished litigator in a variety of areas. Over the years he has frequently helped lead the fight for systemic changes to better protect the rights of particularly vulnerable parties, such as abused children, elderly people with diminished capacities and the poor. The Council, however, is concerned whether Mr. Murphy possesses the requisite temperament to be a judge. We heard from many lawyers who find his dogged efforts on behalf of children and others to be enough to qualify him for a judgeship. But we also heard from many other attorneys who expressed serious and substantial reservations as to whether Mr. Murphy has the capacity to put his personal views aside and be a neutral arbiter. These lawyers have criticized Mr. Murphy's tactics in seeking what Mr. Murphy viewed as the right result for a child, often without apparent regard for the viewpoints of others and in some cases seemingly without due deference for the wishes of his own wards. A substantial number of lawyers have also criticized Mr. Murphy's conduct toward opposing parties and counsel as often personal or as otherwise overzealous, including, on occasion, inappropriately leaking information to the press in an effort to gain a tactical advantage. To many lawyers, these tactics are a barrier to good advocacy, and reflect an inability to distinguish what Mr. Murphy personally believes the "correct" result to be from the use of inappropriate means to achieve it. This may be tolerable in an advocate, but if carried to the bench, it could seriously undermine Mr. Murphy's ability to be an even-handed judge. In light of these concerns, the Council finds him Not Qualified for the Circuit Court.

11/10 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Judge Patrick T. Murphy was elected to the bench in 2004, and serves in the Fifth Municipal District Domestic Relations Division, where he runs the Unified Family Court Project. Previously, he served in the First Municipal District and the Sixth Municipal District Domestic Relations Division. Judge Murphy was admitted to practice in 1964 after earning his J.D. Prior to election, Judge Murphy served as the Cook County Public Guardian. He was also an assistant Cook County state's attorney, an attorney with the National Legal Aid & Defender Program and Legal Assistance Foundation, and in private practice.

Judge Patrick Murphy is considered to have very good legal ability and is held in high esteem by many for his work as Public Guardian prior to the time he took the bench. But many practitioners report that he is inconsistent in his rulings as a judge. They say he often makes inappropriate, sometimes insulting remarks to the parties in front of him. Some say that he fails to follow the law, ruling in a way that he believes is correct. He is considered to be an advocate rather than a neutral arbiter. The Council respects Judge Murphy for his commitment to reform but finds him Not Qualified for retention to the Circuit Court.

The Honorable James C. Murray currently serves as a Circuit Judge by Supreme Court appointment. Before being appointed, he was a partner at Katten, Muchin & Zavis, where his practice concentrated in bankruptcy, environmental, and insurance litigation. He was admitted to practice in Illinois in 1969. While Mr. Murray does not have extensive jury trial experience, it is compensated by his extensive experience with bench trials, appeals, and complex motion practice. He is reported to be an excellent attorney who has practiced for over thirty years. He has extensive involvement in pro bono activities, including novel public interest litigation. We note that Mr. Murray serves on the board of a Chicago area chapter of the Boy Scouts of America, an organization which discriminates on the basis of sexual orientation. Mr. Murray has told us that he opposes this policy and that he is working internally to bring reform to his organization. Based on this representation, although the Council finds such discrimination wrong, we do not believe that Mr. Murray's involvement with this organization disqualifies him from the bench. We find the candidate Well Qualified.

1998 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Qualified

Judge Rita Novak was appointed to be a judge by the Illinois Supreme Court in November 1997. She sits in Traffic Court where she reportedly has been doing a good job. She was admitted to practice in 1978. She has served as an Assistant Professor of Law at Indiana University and has been a staff person for the American Bar Association where she authored a book on delay in state appellate courts. From 1978 to 1980 she clerked for the Hon. John Powers Crowley. From 1991 to 1997, she was the Chief of the Civil Appeals Bureau where she did appellate work for the Illinois Attorney General's Office. She is praised as having outstanding legal ability and temperament. She is hard working and of the highest integrity. All of her legal work, however, has been appellate in nature. As a lawyer, she has not been involved in trial work. Judge Novak's lack of trial experience is the only reason the Council cannot find her to be highly qualified at this time. The Council finds her Qualified.

William Timothy O'Brien obtained his license in 1984 and has been employed by the Cook County State's Attorney's Office since then. He has been the Chief of the Narcotics Prosecutions Bureau since 1998. He has also been both Chief and Supervisor of the Felony Trial Division. Though currently a supervisor, he still takes complex and high profile cases to trial. Mr. O'Brien has extensive trial experience and some appellate experience. The persons contacted consistently commented favorably on his integrity, character, professionalism, and fairness. He was reported to be diligent, punctual and professional. He was also described as having strong legal knowledge, particularly in the areas of DNA and scientific evidence. We find him Well Qualified to serve as a circuit court judge.

2008 Retention: Qualified

Hon. William O'Brien was elected to the bench in 2002. Before his election, his legal career was with the Cook County State's Attorney's Office. He is dually assigned to the Criminal Division and to the Second Municipal District. As a lawyer, Judge O'Brien was highly respected. As a judge, he is considered to have very good legal ability and is praised for being hard working, punctual, and always well prepared. He has a professional and low key demeanor. Some respondents who are defense practitioners complained that he is too willing to accept police officer's testimony. Most lawyers find that he is fair. The Council finds him Qualified for retention.

Evaluation

2002 Primary & General Election – Circuit Court: Qualified

Lawrence D. O'Gara was admitted to the bar in 1969. Upon graduation from law school, he joined the Cook County State's Attorney's office, where he prosecuted criminal matters and rose through the ranks to become the Chief Deputy State's Attorney. In 1985, he left that office and became a solo practitioner specializing in criminal defense and plaintiff's personal injury work. Mr. O'Gara has extensive litigation experience and is regarded as an excellent trial lawyer. The Council finds Mr. O'Gara Qualified for the position of Circuit Judge.

2008 Retention: Qualified

Hon. Lawrence D. O'Gara was elected to the Circuit Court in 2002. He was admitted to practice in 1969 and was an Assistant State's Attorney for the next 16 years. He then was a sole practitioner, handling criminal defense matters and some civil matters. Since his election, he has worked in the 1st Municipal District, first hearing traffic cases and then misdemeanor bench and jury trials. For the last year, he has presided in Room 1501 of the Daley Center, hearing pretrial motions in civil cases. Judge O'Gara is reported to have excellent temperament. He is punctual, and his high-volume call runs efficiently. He is patient with attorneys and pro se litigants, listening carefully to arguments and explaining his rulings. Some attorneys assert that Judge O'Gara favors defendants, especially insurers, the CTA and the City of Chicago. Most attorneys find him to be fair and very capable. 11/92 Second Subcircuit: Not Recommended

William D. O'Neal, 54, was admitted to the bar in 1972. Mr. O'Neal has not participated in the Council's evaluation process. The Council has received insufficient information to judge his qualifications for the Circuit Court. Mr. O'Neal therefore is not recommended.

11/98 Retention – Circuit Court: Not Qualified

William D. O'Neal, 60, sits in the Markham Courthouse. He was elected to the bench in 1992. Lawyers report that Judge O'Neal's fairness and integrity are unquestioned. However, many lawyers question whether he has the necessary legal ability to handle complex matters. Some lawyers also report that he does not always follow the law, taking an unduly informal approach to the legal issues before him. In addition, some lawyers also question his judicial temperament, complaining that he is sometimes inappropriately impatient on the bench. The Council finds him Not Qualified for retention.

2002 Primary & General Elections – Appellate Court: Not Qualified

The Honorable William D. O'Neal has been serving as a judge on the Circuit Court of Cook County since 1996. He was admitted to the Illinois bar in 1972. He is currently assigned to the Sixth Municipal District in Markham, where he hears civil, criminal, and domestic violence cases. His supervisors speak favorably of his knowledge, ability, work ethic, and integrity. Attorneys who have appeared in front of Judge O'Neal were divided as to his impartiality: a number of prosecutors believe that he is defense-minded, while defense attorneys believe he is fair and impartial. Judge O'Neal reports having presided over ten to twelve misdemeanor jury trials during his time on the bench. Investigation of Judge O'Neal's background and experience was hampered by the fact that he left large portions of the application that he submitted to the Alliance of Bar Associations for Judicial Screening blank. In sum, the Council does not believe that Judge O'Neal has sufficiently distinguished himself to qualify for service on the Appellate Court. The Council finds Judge O'Neal Not Qualified.

11/04 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Since his election to the Circuit Court in 1992, William D. O'Neal has sat in the Markham Courthouse. Although lawyers who practice before him report that Judge O'Neal's fairness and integrity are unquestioned, many state that he does not always follow the law, and that he takes an unduly informal approach in handling the legal issues before him. In addition, a significant number of lawyers complain about his temperament and impatience on the bench. The Council finds him Not Qualified for retention.

11/10 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Judge William O'Neal was elected to the Circuit Court in 1992. He has served in the Sixth Municipal District since his election. Judge O'Neal was admitted to practice in 1971. Prior to election, he was in private practice and had been a Cook County Public Defender.

Judge O'Neal is reported to demonstrate concern about each defendant who comes before him. His integrity is unquestioned. However, many lawyers question whether he always follows the law. In addition, some lawyers complain about his impatience on the bench. The Council finds him Not Qualified for retention.

Evaluation:

1999 Evaluation for Associate Judge: Recommended

In April 1999, the Council found Judge Otaka Recommended for the position of Associate Judge.

2002 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Qualified

The Honorable Sandra R. Otaka was admitted to practice in 1987. She was appointed to the Circuit Court of Cook County in 2000. For the past year, Judge Otaka has been assigned to the Child Protection Division of the Juvenile Court. Prior to this, she served in Traffic Court. Before being appointed, Judge Otaka was a Section Chief for the U.S. EPA. During her time with the EPA, she also spent one year as an Assistant State's Attorney by appointment. From 1987 to 1990, Ms. Otaka was in private practice at Sidley & Austin. Judge Otaka is reputed as being smart, hard working and sensitive to diversity issues. Her legal knowledge is rated as very good to excellent. Judge Otaka has also been actively involved in a variety of bar and community organizations.

Judge Otaka has had an uneasy transition into her current assignment. There have been reports that Judge Otaka is too state-oriented. Viewed against the background of her whole career, and given Judge Otaka's reputation for probity, we find her at this time to be Qualified.

2008 Retention: Qualified

3/94 and 11/94 Circuit Court: Highly Qualified

Stuart Palmer, 39, was appointed to the Circuit Court to fill a vacancy in January 1994 and has been assigned to Traffic Court. Mr. Palmer graduated from Northwestern University Law School and was admitted to the bar in 1979. From November 1979 to April 1987 he was an Assistant State's Attorney, where he prosecuted murder, attempted murder, rape, and sexual assault cases, among others. He was a first chair in the Felony Trial Division, managing a caseload of over 200 cases at a time.

After leaving the State's Attorney's office he had a practice that included both civil and criminal work, including significant experience in the Domestic Relations Division. He served as a Hearing

Officer for the Illinois State Police Merit Board starting in 1988 and has taught trial practice for the National Institute of Trial Advocacy (NITA) and DePaul Law School

Mr. Palmer is reported to be an excellent trial lawyer. He is said to have been extremely well prepared, with a very good temperament, very knowledgeable in evidentiary matters, and excellent with juries. He has written opinions as a Hearing Officer that are well organized and clear. In his interview he offered good suggestions for improvement of the Domestic Relations division. He is reported to be handling his current assignment in the Traffic Division very well.

Because of his excellent trial skills, wide range of experience in both civil and criminal matters, good legal knowledge and ability, proven writing ability, and excellent demeanor and temperament, the Council finds Mr. Palmer highly qualified for election to the Circuit Court.

11/00 Retention – Circuit Court: Well Qualified

Stuart E. Palmer, 46, has been a judge since 1994. He is currently assigned to the Criminal Division at 26th and California Ave. Before becoming a judge, he served as an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney and was in private practice. Associate Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Elected Associate Judge by Circuit Judges in 2007.

1998 Primary Election – Circuit Court: Qualified

Angela Petrone was admitted to practice in 1985. From 1985 to 1988 she was an Assistant Cook County Public Defender. From 1988 to the present, she has served as an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney. She is the Deputy Supervisor of the Sexual Crimes Division. Ms. Petrone has good legal ability and is considered to be fair and of high integrity. The Council finds her Qualified.

2006 Evaluations for Associate Judge: Qualified

Angela Petrone was admitted to practice in 1985. She has been an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney since 1988 and is currently Supervisor of the Delinquency Division. She has been Supervisor of the Child Advocacy Division and was a Deputy Supervisor of the Sex Crimes Division. From 1985 to 1988 she was an Assistant Cook County Public Defender. Ms. Petrone is reported to have good legal ability and temperament. She has substantial litigation experience as both a prosecutor and as a public defender. She brings to the bench her experience as a supervising attorney. The Council finds her Qualified to serve in the Circuit Court.

Donna PHELPS-FELTON

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Third Municipal District

Previous Judicial Duties

2000-2001: Judge, Circuit Court, Juvenile Justice Division

Elected to the Circuit Court in 2000.

Evaluation

1998 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Not Recommended

Donna Phelps Felton did not participate in the Council's evaluation process, submitting no information in support of her candidacy. The Council received insufficient information to judge her qualifications for the Circuit Court. The Council finds her Not Recommended.

2000 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Donna Phelps Felton is a 1983 graduate of Loyola University Law School. Since 1997, she has worked as a Labor Relations Hearing Officer, presiding over labor disputes between management and employees at the appeal level. From 1996 to 1998, she worked for the Illinois Department of Public Aid. Prior to that, she spent eleven years as an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney. Since 1985, she has also had her own general private practice. Lawyers report that she has good temperament and her integrity is unquestioned. But she reportedly has average legal ability, and she has not demonstrated sufficient experience in complex litigation matters to be a judge. The Council finds her not qualified.

2006 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Hon. Donna Felton was elected in 2000 and presently sits in the Third Municipal District hearing violations of village ordinances, traffic, and misdemeanor cases. Prior to her election, she worked as a Labor Relations Hearing Officer. From 1996 to 1998, she worked for the Illinois Department of Public Aid. Prior to that, she spent eleven years as an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney. Judge Phelps Felton is considered to be a capable jurist in her current assignment. She is considered to have average legal ability. Some lawyers question her temperament, saying that she can be short-tempered and arbitrary. On balance, the Council finds her Qualified.

Daniel J. PIERCE

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Law Division

Appointed Circuit Court Judge in 2008

Evaluation

None

11/10 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

Judge Daniel J. Pierce was admitted to practice in 1972 and was appointed to the bench by the Illinois Supreme Court in April 2008. Before becoming a judge, he was in private practice doing civil and criminal law litigation and real estate tax cases. His practice involved complex legal issues. He also served for five years as a Chief Deputy in the Cook County Assessor's Office and for five years as an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney. As a judge, he served for a time in Traffic Court and then was assigned to preside over aging Law Division cases with the goal of getting them to trial. Lawyers praise him for his court management skills and for his temperament. He is considered to have very good legal ability. The Council finds him Qualified for the Circuit Court.

Edward N. PIETRUCHA

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Juvenile Justice Division

Previous Judicial Duties

1996-1998: Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Elected to the Circuit Court in 1996.

Evaluation

3/96 Primary Election–Circuit Court: Not Recommended

Edward N. Pietrucha did not participate in the Council's evaluation process, submitting no information in support of his candidacy. The Council received insufficient information to judge his qualifications for the Circuit Court. The Council finds him Not Recommended.

11/02 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Hon. Edward N. Pietrucha was elected to the bench in 1996. He began his judicial career with an assignment to the First Municipal District. Since 1998, he has sat in the Juvenile Justice Division, where he has been a floating judge since January 2002. Judge Pietrucha is hard working and well respected for his legal ability. He runs a "tight ship," and has turned around a poorly run call, clearing up a backlog of cases. Judge Pietrucha is seen as honest and respectful to the parties that appear before him in the Juvenile Division. The Council finds Judge Pietrucha Qualified for retention.

2008 Retention: Not Qualified

Hon. Edward N. Pietrucha was elected to the bench in 1996. He began his judicial career with an assignment to the First Municipal District. Since 1998, he has sat in the Juvenile Justice Division, where he has been a floating judge since January 2002. Judge Pietrucha is considered to be a smart and hard working judge. However, during his evaluation, many judges, defense counsel, prosecutors, and probation officers expressed outrage at the temperament displayed by Judge Pietrucha. He is reported to exhibit bullying behavior toward lawyers, children, and their parents and guardians. Some lawyers commented that he can be inconsistent in his rulings. Other commented that he inappropriately does not take into account the recommendations of probation officers – an important part of the juvenile justice system. The Council finds him Not Qualified for retention.

Edmund PONCE DE LEON

Present Judicial Duties

Presiding Judge, Circuit Court, Fourth Municipal District

Previous Judicial Duties

2001-2002: Judge, Circuit Court, Law Division;
1996-2001: Present: Judge, Circuit Court, Domestic Relations Division

Elected to the Circuit Court in 1996.

Evaluation

1996 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court:
Not Qualified

Edmund Ponce De Leon, 42, has practiced law for eleven years. He is currently of counsel to a private firm, specializing in bankruptcy litigation and creditor/debtor litigation. He has also been a solo practitioner and a partner in a small private firm. He is a former Chicago police officer. He is considered to be of high integrity and has an excellent temperament. Overall, however, he has little experience in contested or complex litigation matters. The Council finds him Not Qualified.

11/02 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Hon. Edmund Ponce de Leon was elected to the Circuit Court in 1996. From his election until 2001, he sat in the Domestic Relations Division. After that, he sat for one year in the Individual commercial calendar Section of the Law Division. Since February 2002, he has been the Presiding Judge in the Fourth Municipal District. He is also a member of the Executive Committee of the Office of the Chief Judge of the Circuit Court of Cook County. The comments from attorneys who have been before Judge Ponce de Leon varied. Many commented that Judge Ponce de Leon was doing well at his job: hard working, sensitive, and capable of handling his docket. A few commented that while the Judge sat on the Domestic Relations call, although he was sensitive to the parties' needs and feelings, he sometimes looked at the whole case rather than carefully resolving the particular legal dispute presented to the court. He was also said to have given great deference to the opinions of experts and child representatives rather than reaching a decision based upon the law and the facts. The Council finds these concerns to be serious ones, yet these objections did not pervade the overall investigation. For these reasons, the Council finds Judge Ponce de Leon Qualified.

2/03 Appointment to Illinois Appellate Court:
Qualified

Hon. Edmund Ponce de Leon was elected to the Circuit Court in 1996. From his election until 2001, he sat in the Domestic Relations Division. After that, he sat for one year in the Individual Commercial Calendar Section of the Law Division. Since February 2002, he has been the Presiding Judge in the Fourth Municipal District. He is also a member of the Executive Committee of the Office of the Chief Judge of the Circuit Court of Cook County. He was admitted to practice in 1984. Judge Ponce de Leon practiced law for 11 years. Immediately prior to his election, he was of counsel to a private firm, specializing in bankruptcy litigation and creditor/debtor litigation. He was also been a solo practitioner and a partner in a small private firm. He is a former Chicago police officer. Judge Ponce de Leon is considered to be a capable jurist and administrator. He has good judicial temperament and unquestioned integrity. As a jurist he is hard working and has issued lengthy and well-written opinions. The Council finds Judge Ponce de Leon Qualified for the Appellate Court
2008 Retention: Qualified

Hon. Edmund Ponce de Leon was elected to the Circuit Court in 1996. From his election until 2001, he sat in the Domestic Relations Division. After that, he sat for one year in the Individual commercial calendar Section of the Law Division. Since February 2002, he has been the Presiding Judge in the Fourth Municipal District. Judge Ponce de Leon is considered to have good legal ability and temperament. He is praised for his willingness to hear all sides in administrative matters as the Presiding Judge. He is praised equally for his courtroom management skills. The Council finds him Qualified for retention.

Joan E. POWELLPresent Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Appointed Circuit Judge in 2006 and was elected to the bench in 2008

Evaluation

2006 Evaluation to fill Judicial Vacancy: Qualified

Joan E. Powell has been practicing law since 1992. She maintained a solo practice between 1992 and 1996, focusing on contract, family, and elder law. She then became a Law Clerk with the Circuit Court of Cook County, and spent four years as a law clerk to the Honorable Joseph N. Casciato. From 2000 to the present, Ms. Powell has been an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney doing medical malpractice defense, employment and labor law, and civil rights litigation. Ms. Powell is reported to possess good legal ability and she is praised for her temperament. She is considered to be a good practitioner and has been involved in a sufficient amount of sophisticated litigation to warrant the Council finding her Qualified to fill a vacancy.

Lee PRESTONPresent Judicial Duties

1997-present: Judge, Circuit Court, Law Division, Individual Commercial Calendar Section (Supervising Judge since 2005); 2005-present: Supervising Judge

Previous Judicial Duties

1994-2007: 1994-19997: Judge, Circuit Court, Child Protection Division

Elected to the Circuit Court in 1994.

Evaluation

11/00 Retention – Circuit Court: Well Qualified

Lee Preston, 56, has been a judge since 1994. He has been assigned to the Juvenile Protection Division and currently is assigned an Individual commercial calendar in the Law Division. Prior to becoming a judge, much of his legal career was spent as a sole practitioner. Judge Preston is praised for his ability to handle an often-complex court call. He has very good legal ability and is considered to be a hard-working judge with unquestioned integrity. His judicial temperament is excellent. He is always courteous but is also firm with lawyers. The Council finds him Well Qualified.

2006 Retention – Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Hon. Lee Preston has been a judge since 1994 and for the past seven years has been assigned an individual commercial calendar in the Law Division, where he is a Supervising Judge. He was previously assigned to the Juvenile Protection Division. Prior to becoming a judge, much of his legal career was spent as a sole practitioner. Judge Preston presents a difficult case for the Council. In 2000 the Council reported Judge Preston as a very good judge. The investigation in 2006 uncovered a very different situation. While Judge Preston is reported to have good legal ability and temperament, half of the lawyers contacted during the current evaluation report that he is often indecisive and does not have good command of his court schedule. He is reportedly ill-prepared on occasion – failing to have a good command of the issues before him. The Council finds him Not Qualified.

Lorna E. PROPES

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Appointed as a Circuit Judge by the Illinois Supreme Court in 2010

Evaluation: Well Qualified

Lorna Propes was admitted to practice in 1975. She is currently a partner in the firm of Propes & Kaveny LLC. She served as an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney between 1975 and 1980. She has been in private practice since 1980, concentrating on medical malpractice, product liability, and personal injury litigation. Ms. Propes is considered to be an excellent trial attorney with substantial experience in more complex litigation matters. She brings to the bench a knowledge of both civil and criminal law. She has a good temperament and has been active in community service activities. The Council finds her Well Qualified for the Circuit Court.

Aurelia PUCINSKI

Present Judicial Duties:

Judge, Illinois Appellate Court, First District

Previous Judicial Duties:

Judge, Circuit Court, Domestic Relations Division

Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Elected to the Circuit Court in 2004. Elected to the Illinois Appellate Court in 2010.

2004 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Aurelia Pucinski is the Chairman of the Illinois Environmental Regulatory Review Commission. She is the former Director of the Illinois Department of Professional Regulation, and the former Director of Administration and Marketing for Abacus Financial Group, an asset management firm. From 1988 to 2000, she served as the elected Clerk of the Circuit Court of Cook County. Before that, she served as an elected Commissioner of the Metropolitan Water Reclamation District of Greater Chicago. After her admission to the bar in 1975, she began her career as an Assistant Corporation Counsel for the City of Chicago, and was Regional Counsel for the U.S. Small Business Administration before beginning her career in elective office. She has been in private practice as a sole practitioner and as a partner in a small firm, concentrating her practice in real estate transactions.

Ms. Pucinski had serious disagreements with the Chief Judge of the Circuit Court of Cook County when she served as Clerk of the Circuit Court, but she brought integrity back to the Clerk's office. She is a hard worker and made important improvements in the operation of the Clerk's office.

Despite her admirable record of public service, however, the Council is concerned that Ms. Pucinski has little trial experience and has minimal appellate experience. Ms. Pucinski's strengths as an administrator qualify her for many important positions in both the private and public sectors, but they do not qualify her to be a trial judge. The Council believes that candidates for the Circuit Court bench must have significant experience litigating and trying cases, whether in paid or volunteer efforts. Unfortunately, while Ms. Pucinski's record is replete with many significant accomplishments, she lacks the requisite legal experience. The Council finds Ms. Pucinski Not Qualified.

2010 Primary and General Elections for the Illinois Appellate Court: Not Qualified

Hon. Aurelia Pucinski became a judge in 2004. After serving in Traffic Court, she was assigned from 2005 to 2008 to Domestic Violence Court. She currently sits in the County Division where she hears cases involving tax deeds, tax objections, adoptions, mental health, and elections. Before becoming a judge she was the Chairman of the Illinois Environmental Regulatory Review Commission. She is the former Director of the Illinois Department of Professional Regulation, and the former Director of Administration and Marketing for Abacus Financial Group, an asset management firm. From 1988 to 2000, she served as the elected Clerk of the Circuit Court of Cook County. Before that, she served as an elected Commissioner of the Metropolitan Water Reclamation District of Greater Chicago. After her admission to the bar in 1975, she began her career as an Assistant Corporation Counsel for the City of Chicago, and was Regional Counsel for the U.S. Small Business Administration before beginning her career in elective office. She has been in private practice as a sole practitioner and as a partner in a small firm, concentrating her practice in real estate transactions. Judge Pucinski is well respected for her temperament. However, many respondents appearing before her in Domestic Violence court find her willingness to take on an advocacy role while on the bench to be inappropriate. On the other hand, respondents appearing before her on real estate tax matters praise her abilities as a judge. The Council is also concerned that Judge Pucinski does not have appellate court experience as a lawyer and has not demonstrated as a judge the depth of experience and scholarship necessary to be an Appellate Court judge. The Council finds her Not Qualified for the Appellate Court.

Carolyn QUINN

Present Judicial Duties

Associate Judge, Circuit Court, Chancery Division, Mechanics' Lien Section

Previous Judicial Duties

2003-2005: Judge, Circuit Court

Appointed Circuit Court Judge in 2003; appointed Associate Judge in 2005.

2005 Evaluations for Associate Judge: Qualified

Carolyn Gerard Quinn was admitted to the bar in 1987. Since 2001, she has been employed by Hubert Fowler & Quinn, where the majority of her practice involves products liability and medical malpractice cases. For six months before that, she was an associate director and senior attorney at the American Medical Association. From 1997 to 2000, she was Law Clerk to Justice Mary Ann McMorrow of the Illinois Supreme Court. From 1994 until 1997, she was an associate at Cassiday Schade & Gloor. For five years before that, she handled trial and appellate level litigation as an associate at Kelley Drye and Warren. For the first two years of her career, Ms. Quinn was Law Clerk to Justice Allen Hartman of the Illinois Appellate Court. Ms. Quinn is a 1987 graduate of Loyola University Chicago School of Law. Since 1995, she has been on the Illinois Supreme Court Committee on Professional Responsibility.

Ms. Quinn is considered by both lawyers and judges to have very good legal ability and temperament. Her integrity is unquestioned. She has a broad range of experiences as a lawyer and is well regarded as an exceptionally diligent, organized lawyer. Her litigation experience includes substantial appellate work. The Council is concerned that Ms.

Quinn has relatively little trial experience, but we conclude that her appellate work, her clerkships, and her reputation for excellent legal knowledge offsets her litigation deficiency. The Council finds Ms. Quinn Qualified to serve in Circuit Court.

Marguerite A. QUINN

Present Judicial Duties:

Associate Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Elected Associate Judge by Circuit Judges in 2007.

Evaluation

2006 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Qualified

Marguerite Anne Quinn was admitted to practice in 1986. She has been in private practice since 1999 where 99% of her practice is for the Tax Reactivation Program for the City of Chicago and for South Suburban Cook County. She had previously spent 12 years as an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney. Ms. Quinn is considered to have good legal ability and has had both criminal and civil law experience. She is praised for being hard working and for her reliability. She is involved in substantial amounts of community service. The Council finds her Qualified for the Circuit Court.

Patrick J. QUINN

Present Judicial Duties

Justice, Illinois Appellate Court, First District

Elected to the Illinois Appellate Court in 1996.

1996 Primary & General Elections: Appellate Court – Not Qualified

Patrick J. Quinn, 42, has been practicing law for 15 years, all of them as an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney. He is presently the supervisor of the Organized Crime Unit. He has been the supervisor of the Public Integrity Unit and was a supervisor in the Sixth Municipal District in Markham. Attorneys report that Mr. Quinn has good legal ability and that he is a talented prosecutor, but he has virtually no appellate experience or related experience that demonstrates his qualification for a seat on the Appellate Court. The Council finds him Not Qualified.

2006 Retention – Appellate Court: Not Qualified

Hon. Patrick J. Quinn was elected to the Illinois Appellate Court in 1996. Prior to his election, he spent fifteen years as an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney where he had been the supervisor of the Public Integrity Unit and was a supervisor in the Sixth Municipal District in Markham before that. Judge Quinn is considered to have good legal ability and is well-prepared at oral argument. However, serious concerns have been raised about his judicial performance. He is accused by many criminal defense practitioners as having a bias favoring the prosecution. Many claim that his opinions unfairly favor the prosecution, and he is reported to be derisive of criminal defense lawyers during court proceedings. In general, he is too often described as having a demeanor more appropriate for an advocate. The Council finds him Not Qualified.

Robert J. QUINN

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Chancery Division, Mechanic's Lien Section

Previous Judicial Duties

1992-1996: Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Elected to the Circuit Court in 1992.

Evaluation

1992 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court (Heneghan Vacancy): Qualified

Robert Quinn, 39, graduated from law school in 1983. He spent three years as an Assistant Corporation Counsel and five years in private practice, litigating cases in the Chancery and Law Divisions.

Lawyers describe Mr. Quinn as honest, competent, articulate and professional, with good temperament. His legal ability is described as good. Attorneys praise Mr. Quinn's maturity and believe he is well suited to being a judge. Despite his relative lack of experience, the Council finds him Qualified for the Circuit Court.

11/98 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Robert J. Quinn, 45, sits in the Mechanic's Lien section of the Chancery Division. He was elected to the bench in 1992. Lawyers report that Judge Quinn has good legal ability. His fairness and integrity are unquestioned. Respondents commented repeatedly on his pleasant and patient disposition and his ability to preserve decorum and dignity despite inadequate courtroom space. The Council finds him Qualified for retention.

11/04 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

Robert J. Quinn sits in the Mechanic's Lien section of the Chancery Division. He was elected to the bench in 1992. Lawyers report that Judge Quinn has good legal ability and temperament. His fairness and integrity are unquestioned. The Council finds him Qualified for retention.

11/10 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

Judge Robert Quinn was elected to the bench in 1992. He is currently assigned to the Chancery Division, mortgage foreclosure and mechanics' lien section. Previously, he has served in the First Municipal District and the Law Division. Judge Quinn was admitted to practice in 1983. Prior to election, he was an assistant corporation counsel for the City of Chicago and later in private practice.

Judge Quinn is considered to be very knowledgeable and understands the issues before him. He is praised for his timely rulings and for his temperament. The Council finds him Qualified for retention.

Thomas P. QUINN

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Law Division, Motions Section

Previous Judicial Duties

2002-2006: Judge, Circuit Court, Chancery Division; 1998-2002: Judge, Circuit Court, Law Division, Tax & Miscellaneous Remedies Section; 1989: Judge, Circuit Court, Law Division, Jury Section; 1987-1988: Law Division, Motion Section; 1986-1987: Law Division, Pretrial Section

Elected to the Circuit Court in 1986.

Evaluation

1986 Primary & General Elections—Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Thomas Patrick Quinn is an Assistant Corporation Counsel for the City of Chicago who graduated from law school in 1979. Mr. Quinn is considered to be a good attorney, knowledgeable, and promising. The Council believes that, with more experience, Mr. Quinn might merit consideration for the Circuit Court. The Council also believes, however, that he is not qualified at this time.

11/92 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Judge Quinn, 38, has been assigned to the Law Division since his election to the Court in 1986. He has served as a motion judge and as a trial judge. Previously, he served as an Assistant Corporation Counsel for seven years.

Lawyers report that Judge Quinn was hampered by his lack of experience when he first took the bench, but he has worked hard and has grown in the job. Lawyers describe Judge Quinn's legal ability as above average, and say that he is very fair. He is described as diligent, hard working and independent. A few lawyers criticize him as a little impatient. The Council believes he is qualified for retention.

11/98 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Thomas P. Quinn, 44, was assigned to the Tax and Miscellaneous Section of the Law Division in January 1998. He first became a judge in 1986 and sat in the Law Division doing motion calls and jury trials until his current assignment. His legal ability is uniformly praised. His fairness and integrity are unquestioned. His judicial temperament is considered to be excellent and he has good rapport with jurors. He is considered to be exceptionally hard-working. The Council finds him Well Qualified for retention.

11/04 Retention Election: Well Qualified

Thomas P. Quinn currently sits in the Chancery Division. In the past, he was assigned to the Tax and Miscellaneous Remedies Section of the Law Division. He first became a judge in 1986. Judge Quinn has very good legal ability and his integrity is unquestioned. He has an excellent temperament and he is considered to be exceptionally hard-working. He is widely praised by lawyers for being prepared and decisive. The Council finds him Well Qualified for retention.

Sandra G. RAMOS

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Elected as a Circuit Judge in 2010

2010 Primary and General Elections: Not Qualified

Sandra Ramos was admitted to practice in 1986. She has been a sole practitioner since 1993 doing mostly criminal defense work, and served for nine years as an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney (1986 to 1995). She reports acting as lead counsel on about 30 criminal jury trials and numerous bench trials. The investigation of Ms. Ramos yielded decidedly mixed results. Some lawyers and judges say she has good legal ability and temperament. But many others question her diligence and temperament. In light of these criticisms and the narrowness of her practice, the Council finds her Not Qualified for the Circuit Court.

Erica L. REDDICK

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Appointed as a Circuit Judge by the Illinois Supreme Court in 2010

Evaluation: Qualified (Appointed to the Circuit Court in 2010 by the Illinois Supreme Court)

Erica L. Reddick was admitted to practice in 1991. She was appointed to the Circuit Court by the Illinois Supreme Court in 2010. Prior to being appointed, Judge Reddick was an Acting Chief Assistant Cook County Public Defender. She has spent her career with the Office of the Cook County Public Defender. As a lawyer, Judge Reddick was considered to have good legal ability. She had a wide range of experience in criminal law matters and was praised for her litigation skills. She serves as an adjunct professor at Loyola University Chicago

School of Law. The Council finds her Qualified for the Circuit Court.

Jeanne M. Reynolds has been in private practice at the Law Offices of Reynolds & Reynolds since her admission to practice in 1986. She has a general practice representing corporations. She also handles contract, commercial litigation, real estate, labor, employment, and probate matters. Since 2000, she has been a court-appointed pro bono guardian ad litem. Ms. Reynolds is considered to have good legal ability and temperament, and since 2002 has had substantial litigation experience. The Council finds Ms. Reynolds Qualified to serve in Circuit Court.

James L. RHODES

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Sixth Municipal District

Previous Judicial Duties

1998-1999: Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal

District: Judge, Circuit Court, Juvenile Justice Division, handling mostly arraignments, and backing up other courtrooms

Elected to the Circuit Court in 1996.

Evaluation

3/96 Primary Election – Circuit Court: Qualified

James L. Rhodes, 47, has been practicing law for 20 years, all as an Assistant Cook County Public Defender. He has been a supervisor with that office since 1984 and currently is the supervisor of the Multiple Defendant Division. He is an active volunteer with community activities. Mr. Rhodes is considered to be intelligent, thoughtful, and a zealous advocate for his clients. The Council finds him Qualified.

11/02 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Hon. James L. Rhodes was elected to the Circuit Court in 1996. Since 1999, he has sat in the Sixth Municipal District, where he currently hears felony trials. Before his current assignment, he heard Misdemeanor & Traffic Violations and Miscellaneous Bonds. From 1998 to 1999, he was in the First Municipal District, Traffic Court. From the time of his election until late 1998, he was assigned to the Juvenile Court. In practice, Judge Rhodes spent his career as an Assistant Public Defender. Judge Rhodes was described to investigators as well versed in the law. He is very even-tempered, laid back, and always in control. He is diligent, hard working, and punctual. He has unchallenged integrity.

Some have reported that Judge Rhodes is thought to be biased in favor of defendants, although the investigation turned up no solid examples of this behavior. Judge Rhodes has been the subject of publicity regarding his adjudication of People v. Kasper Robinson, a home invasion and burglary case. In spite of the controversy, there are no indications that Judge Rhodes has acted out of bias or other wrongful motive in his handling of that case. The Council finds Judge Rhodes Qualified for retention.

2008 Retention: Qualified

Hon. James L. Rhodes was elected to the Circuit Court in 1996. Since 1999, he has sat in the Sixth Municipal District, where he currently hears felony misdemeanor and traffic cases. Before his current assignment, he heard Misdemeanor & Traffic Violations and Miscellaneous Bonds. From 1998 to 1999, he was in the First Municipal District, Traffic Court. From the time of his election until late 1998, he was assigned to the Juvenile Court. In practice, Judge Rhodes spent his career as an Assistant Public Defender. Judge Rhodes is considered to have good legal ability. He is diligent, hardworking, and punctual. However, there are reports that he can be rude and condescending toward lawyers. In addition, some lawyers report that Judge Rhodes is thought to be biased in favor of defendants. After a review of appellate court decisions and extensive interviews, there is no clear evidence of this. The Council urges Judge Rhodes to address his temperament issues, but the Council finds him Qualified for retention.

11/02 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Hon. Barbara Ann Riley was elected to the Circuit Court in 1996 and currently sits in the Domestic Relations Division. With the exception of a brief assignment to the Child Protection Division in 1997, she was assigned to the First Municipal District, Traffic Court Division from the time of her election until 2001. Before her election, she was a career Assistant Cook County State's Attorney. Judge Riley is said to have an excellent grasp of what is important and how to make decisions. She has a good temperament and fine legal ability. We find Judge Riley Qualified for retention.

2006 Primary Election – Appellate Court: Qualified

Hon. Barbara Ann Riley was elected to the Circuit Court in 1996 and currently sits in the Domestic Relations Division. With the exception of a brief assignment to the Child Protection Division in 1997, she was assigned to the First Municipal District, Traffic Court Division from the time of her election until 2001. Judge Riley is considered to be a good judge in the Domestic Relations Division. She has a professional demeanor and is decisive. The Council is concerned, however, that she has had a limited variety of experiences as a judge and has not demonstrated sufficient analytical writing ability. The Council finds her Not Qualified for the Appellate Court.

2008 Retention: Qualified

11/00 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Daniel A. Riley, 52, has been a judge since 1994. He sits in the Unified Family Court Pilot project in Bridgeview. He is the Presiding Judge of the Domestic Relations Division in the Fifth Municipal District. He has also served in the Domestic Relations Division. He was in private practice before becoming a judge. Lawyers report that Judge Riley enjoys a reputation as a solid jurist with good legal ability and an excellent temperament. He rules expeditiously and decisively. The Council finds him Qualified.

2006 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Hon. Daniel A. Riley has been a judge since his election in 1994. He sits in the Unified Family Court Pilot project in Bridgeview. He has also served in the Domestic Relations Division. He was in private practice for nineteen years before becoming a judge. Judge Riley is considered to be a solid jurist with good legal ability and good courtroom management skills. He is fair to all parties and is praised for his temperament. The Council finds him Qualified.

James Gerard RILEY

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Probate Division

Previous Judicial Duties

1996-1998: Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Elected to the Circuit Court in 1996.

Evaluation

3/96 Primary Election–Circuit Court: Qualified

James Gerard Riley, 41, has been practicing law for thirteen years. He is president of the law firm of Riley, Riley, & Riley, where he has spent his entire legal career. He has extensive civil and criminal litigation experience. Attorneys report that he has very good legal ability, is fair, and is of high integrity. The Council finds him Qualified.

11/02 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Hon. James Gerard Riley currently sits in the Probate Division, where he has been since 1998. After his election in 1996, he was first assigned to the First Municipal District, Traffic Court. Judge Riley has a very direct manner, but received favorable ratings from attorneys appearing before him for his knowledge of the law, willingness to listen, integrity, and decisiveness. He has been an active participant in CLE programs related to his area of the law and he displays a thoughtful, if frank, perspective in discussing issues faced by his Division. The Council finds Judge Riley Qualified for retention.

2008 Retention: Qualified

Hon. James G. Riley was admitted to the bar in 1982 and until his election in 1996 practiced with family members in a small suburban firm. After an initial assignment in the Traffic Division of the 1st Municipal District, he was assigned to the Probate Division, where he has remained for the last 10 years.

He now hears adult guardianship matters almost exclusively. He is regarded as knowledgeable on the law and as a common-sense problem-solver; the latter attribute is particularly important on a call involving social service issues as much or more than legal issues. Some practitioners comment that Judge Riley may adopt a view of a matter too quickly, but even those voicing that criticism note that he will hear the parties out and is willing to change his mind.

He can be blunt and provocative in his views and his manner of expression. Some lawyers see this evidencing a rough-edged personality, while others think it demonstrates a lack of judicial temperament. On balance, the Council finds him Qualified for retention.

Evaluation

2006 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Well Qualified

Hon. Mary Katherine Rochford was appointed to the bench in 1991. She is currently assigned to the Law Division in the Second Municipal District, where she has sat since 1993. Prior to becoming a judge, she was in private practice for six years. From 1979 to 1986, she worked for the Chicago Department of Law, Appeals Division, rising to the position of Chief Assistant Corporation Counsel in 1985. She was admitted to practice in 1979. Judge Rochford is considered to be a very good jurist with good legal ability and an excellent temperament. She has broad experience and is praised as being exceptionally well prepared, hard working, and fair to all parties. The Council finds her Well Qualified for the Circuit Court.

2010 Primary and General Elections for the Illinois Appellate Court: Well Qualified

Judge Rochford was admitted to practice in 1979. She became an Associate Judge in 2001 and was elected to the bench in 2006. Since July 2007 she has served in the Chancery Division. She has also been assigned to the Law Division in the Second Municipal District where she presided over bench and jury trials involving both civil and criminal law matters. Before becoming a judge, she was in private practice and then worked for the Chicago Department of Law in the Appeals Division, where in 1985 she rose to the position of Chief Assistant Corporation Counsel. Since 2005 Judge Rochford has participated as an instructor in weekend trial practice classes at the University of Notre Dame Law School. She is the author or co-author of a series of published articles. While serving in the Law Division in the Second District she was responsible for coordinating the mandatory arbitration program and authored a handbook regarding that program. She was the Chair of the Second District Community Safety Initiatives Committee and was a member of the Second District Family Violence Coordinating Committee, which addresses issues relating to domestic violence cases.

Judge Rochford is considered to have very good legal ability and temperament. She is praised for her courtroom management skills. She is praised as being exceptionally well-prepared, hard-working, and fair to all parties. She has demonstrated her ability to be an excellent appellate lawyer, to make the successful transition to being a highly respected trial judge in the Law Division, and to make the successful transition to being a Chancellor. She is involved in substantial community service efforts, and has demonstrated her writing ability. The Council finds her Well Qualified for the Appellate Court.

Patrick T. ROGERS

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Elected Circuit Court Judge in 2008

Evaluation

2006 for Primary Election: Not Qualified

Pat Rogers was admitted to practice in 1983. He has been in private practice since 1988 and, is currently a solo general practitioner handling municipal, criminal and traffic cases. From 1983 until 1988, he was an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney. Since 1993, he has been a Supervisor for the Township of Lyons and also serves as an Administrative Hearing Officer for several other cities. Mr. Rogers is considered to knowledgeable about his practice areas, which are mainly limited to traffic and municipal matters. His integrity is unquestioned and he has a good temperament. The Council is concerned, however, that he has little experience in complex litigation matters and does not have the range of experience necessary to be judge. The Council finds him Not Qualified for the Circuit Court.

Evaluation

2000 Primary & General Elections – Not Qualified

Thomas David Roti, 55, is a 1970 graduate of Loyola University Law School. Since 1997, he has not practiced law and instead has been engaged in private investing. Prior to that, he spent 22 years as Vice President and General Counsel of Dominick's. From 1972 to 1975, he worked as an associate. He was a senior law clerk for a federal judge in Chicago for the first two years of his legal career. Although he supervised litigation as General Counsel for Dominick's, he has no direct trial or appellate experience. Because of this lack of experience, the Council finds him Not Qualified.

2006 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Hon. Thomas David Roti was elected to the bench in 2000 and hears civil jury trials in Rolling Meadows. Prior to his current assignment, he heard misdemeanor trials in the First Municipal District. Before his election, he spent three years engaged in private investing. Prior to that, he spent 22 years as Vice President and General Counsel of Dominick's. Judge Roti is considered to have good legal ability and temperament. He is specially praised for his temperament in the way that he handles pro se litigants. He is fair and diligent. 1994-1995: Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Elected to the Circuit Court in 1994.

Evaluation

11/00 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Lisa Ruble Murphy, 42, has been a judge since 1994. She sits in the Domestic Relations Division. Before becoming a judge, she was the Deputy Chief Administrative Officer of the Committee on Finance of the City of Chicago related to the 1990 ward redistricting of the City of Chicago. Lawyers report that Judge Murphy is doing very well as a judge. She has good legal ability and temperament. She runs an efficient courtroom and she is considered to be hard working. The Council, however, is concerned because of a possible lack of political independence. She had very little litigation experience when she was elected to the bench, she worked on a powerful Chicago City Council committee chaired by Alderman Edward Burke, and she ran unopposed in 1994. However, because we have heard no reports demonstrating a lack of independence since she took the bench and because she is reportedly doing very well as a sitting judge, the Council finds her Qualified.

2006 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Hon. Lisa Ruble-Murphy has been a judge since her election in 1994. She hears pre and post-decree cases in the Domestic Relations Division. Before becoming a judge, she was the Deputy Chief Administrative Officer of the Chicago City Council Committee on Finance and was involved in the 1990 ward redistricting of the City of Chicago. Judge Ruble-Murphy is considered to have good legal ability. She is praised for her legal knowledge. Some lawyers say that she is too insistent that the litigants resolve disputes through pre-trial conferences, even where the parties have clear and irreconcilable differences that could better be resolved at trial. In addition, although some lawyers report that she can be short-tempered at times, most state that she is a solid jurist. The Council finds her Qualified.

Evaluation

2004 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Not Recommended

The candidate elected not to participate in the evaluation process. The Council accordingly finds the candidate Not Recommended.

11/10 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Judge James J. Ryan was admitted to practice in 1992 and was elected to the bench in 2004 after refusing to be evaluated by the Council. Before taking the bench, Judge Ryan was an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney from 1993 to 1995 and was the Director of Operations and General Counsel for the Cook County Sheriff's Office from 1995 to 2004. From 2004 to 2006 he sat in Traffic Court after which he was assigned to the courthouse in Bridgeview, where he presided over traffic and domestic violence cases. He currently hears felony preliminary hearings. His judicial career has mostly involved less complex matters.

While many praise Judge Ryan's ability to manage his voluminous court call, many others report that he can be short-tempered on the bench, and some have characterized his judicial behavior as an embarrassment. In addition, the Council has uncovered certain misstatements and omissions in Judge Ryan's evaluation material with respect to the circumstances surrounding his assignment in Bridgeview and his transfer to his current assignment. These misstatements and omissions raise concerns for the Council regarding the candidate's judgment, his candor, and his respect for the judicial screening process. Subsequent investigation of these matters did not allay the Council's concerns. The Council finds him Not Qualified for retention.

Associate Judge, Circuit Court, Criminal Division

Previous Judicial Duties

Associate Judge, Criminal Division, Evening Narcotics Section; 1989-1992: Associate Judge, Circuit Court, Juvenile Division

Elected Associate Judge by Circuit Judges in 1988.

3/92 Circuit Court: Highly Qualified

Stanley Sacks, 50, became an Associate Judge in 1988. He has been assigned to the Juvenile Division. Prior to his appointment, Judge Sacks was a lawyer with the Legal Aid Bureau for two years and an Assistant Public Defender from 1970-1981, where he tried over 100 felony trials and served as a member of the Murder Task Force. From 1981-1985, he was in private practice, and from 1985-1988 he was an Assistant Corporation Counsel. He had a reputation as a good attorney before becoming a judge.

Judge Sacks is described by lawyers as fair, unbiased, very intelligent, talented, professionally demanding, and of the utmost integrity. His courtroom is organized and efficient. He issues written opinions, which are organized, detailed and concise. He is diligent in his study of the law. Many attorneys consider him to be a model judge.

Because of the widespread praise of his work as a judge, the Council finds Judge Sacks to be highly qualified for the Circuit Court.

Marcus R. SALONE

Present Judicial Duties

Previous Judicial Duties

Associate Judge, Circuit Court, Criminal Division

1992-1995: Associate Judge, Criminal Division, Evening Narcotics Section

Elected Associate Judge by Circuit Judges in 1992. Appointed to the Illinois Appellate Court by the Illinois Supreme Court in 2010.

3/96 Primary Election – Circuit Court: Qualified

Marcus R. Salone, 46, is an Associate Judge presiding over a felony trial courtroom at the Criminal Courts Building at 26th Street and California Avenue. From December 1992 until March 1995, he presided over a courtroom in the Evening Narcotics program. Prior to that assignment, he sat in Traffic Court. Before becoming a judge, Mr. Salone was an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney and was in private practice, handling criminal-defense and real estate matters. He is a former Chicago Police Officer. Judge Salone is widely praised as a thoughtful and hardworking judge who has the ability to get to the heart of a matter while treating all parties with respect. He treats prosecutors and defense counsel evenhandedly. He is considered to have good legal ability and an excellent temperament. The Council finds him Qualified.

Evaluation when appointed to the Illinois Appellate Court:

Hon. Marcus Salone – Qualified

Marcus R. Salone presides over a felony trial courtroom at the Criminal Courts Building at 26th Street and California Avenue and is a supervising judge. Before becoming a judge, Mr. Salone was an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney and was in private practice, handling criminal-defense and real estate matters. He is a former Chicago Police Officer. Judge Salone is considered to have very good legal ability and is reported to be hard-working. He is respected as a jurist who treats all parties fairly. The Council finds him Qualified for the Appellate Court.

Leida J. Gonzalez SANTIAGO

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Domestic Relations Division

Elected to the Circuit Court in 1992.

Evaluation

11/92 Sixth Subcircuit: Not Recommended

Leida J. Gonzalez Santiago was admitted to the bar in 1985. She has not participated in the Council's evaluation process. The Council has received insufficient information to judge her qualifications for the Circuit Court. Ms. Santiago is therefore not recommended.

11/98 Retention – Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Leida J. Gonzalez Santiago, 39, sits in the Domestic Relations Division. She was elected to the bench in 1992. Lawyers report that she has adequate legal ability and that her fairness and integrity are unquestioned. However, some lawyers report that cases are not resolved as quickly as they should be – that Judge Santiago does not devote sufficient effort to assisting the parties in settling their disputes, or to achieving a prompt resolution through evidentiary hearing. The Council finds this especially troubling given that her current assignment involves custody battles where the lives of children are at stake and a prompt resolution of the dispute is particularly important. On balance, the Council finds her not qualified for retention.

11/04 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Leida J. Gonzalez Santiago sits in the Domestic Relations Division, where she principally has been assigned since her election to the bench in 1992. Lawyers report that she demonstrates adequate legal ability, though a significant number of those contacted question her knowledge of trial practice and evidence. This is particularly troublesome, given her current judicial assignment, in light of additional reports that her apparent unwillingness to try cases puts inappropriate pressure on the litigants to settle disputes in which they otherwise have serious and litigable differences. In addition, the Council has received reports the Judge Santiago does not demonstrate appropriate diligence in handling the matters before her, and that she sometimes makes inappropriate faces or gestures as commentary on the perceived credibility (or lack thereof) of particular witnesses' testimony. On balance, the Council finds her not qualified for retention.

11/10 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

Judge Leida Gonzalez Santiago was elected to the bench in 1992. She is currently assigned to the Domestic Relations Division. Judge Gonzalez Santiago was admitted to practice in 1985.

Judge Santiago is considered to have adequate legal ability. She is praised for her temperament and for her courtroom management skills. She is reported to be fair to all parties. The Council finds her Qualified for retention.

Before becoming a judge, she was a hearing officer in the expedited child support system, a legal assistant employed by the Illinois Appellate Court, and a sole practitioner. Lawyers report that she has a good knowledge of the law and has a good temperament. She is considered to be especially good with litigants unrepresented by lawyers. The Council finds her Qualified.

2006 Retention Circuit Court- Qualified

Drella C. Savage has sat in the Domestic Relations Division since her election in 1994; she is currently a Supervising Judge. Before becoming a judge, she was a hearing officer in the expedited child support system, a legal assistant employed by the Illinois Appellate Court, and a sole practitioner. Judge Savage is considered to have a very good knowledge of the law and she is praised for her temperament. She is fair and decisive in her rulings and has good courtroom management skills. She is reported to be very good in handling pro se litigants and is involved in legal reform efforts. The Council finds her Qualified.

Andrea M. SCHLIEFER

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Domestic Relations

Appointed as a Circuit Judge by the Illinois Supreme Court in 2010

Evaluation: Well Qualified (Appointed to the bench by the Illinois Supreme Court in November 2010)

Andrea Schleifer was appointed to the bench by the Illinois Supreme Court in November 2010. Before taking the bench, she was a solo practitioner concentrating in family law matters for most of her career since being admitted to practice in 1979. From 1986 to 1987 she was a partner in the general practice firm of Kaszak & Schleifer. From 1980 to 1981, she was a partner in the general practice firm of Mullane & Schleifer. Ms. Schleifer is reported to have very good legal ability and temperament. As a lawyer she has substantial litigation experience in complex matters and was praised for her community service and for her service to the legal profession. The Council finds her Well Qualified to serve in the Circuit Court.

Hon. James A. Shapiro has been a lawyer since 1985 and was appointed to the bench by the Illinois Supreme Court in August 2007. From 1996 to 2007 he was in private practice focusing on criminal defense in both state and federal courts. From 1989 to 1995 he served as an Assistant United States Attorney prosecuting gun, drug, public corruption and fraud cases, as well as defending Federal Tort Claims Act and employment discrimination cases. From 1985 to 1989 he was in private practice working on employment discrimination cases. He is an adjunct professor at the John Marshall law school, and he has an impressive record of community service. Judge Shapiro is respected for his intellect and for his integrity. He has experience in both the state and federal courts and in both criminal and civil litigation matters. Some lawyers have noted that Judge Shapiro on occasion can "lose his temper." While the Council believes Judge Shapiro is qualified for the bench, we urge him to focus on this issue. The Council finds him Qualified for the Circuit Court.

1998 Primary Elections – Circuit Court: Qualified

Judge Terrence Sharkey was appointed to the bench by the Illinois Supreme Court in 1995. He left the bench in 1996 after serving in the First Municipal District. For the past year, he has served as an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney doing felony prosecutions. He was also a prosecutor between 1986 and 1995. He was an FBI Special Agent between 1983 and 1986 and served as a Chicago police officer between 1971 and 1983. Mr. Sharkey was respected as a good judge and as a good prosecutor. He has a good temperament and is fair. The Council finds him Qualified.

2005 – Present: Judge, Circuit Court, Domestic Violence, Branch 64

Previous Judicial Duties

2002-2005: Judge, Circuit Court, Misdemeanor Jury; 2001-2002: Judge, Circuit Court, Felony Preliminary Hearings; 2000-2001: Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District, Traffic Court

Elected to the Circuit Court in 2000.

2000 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Colleen F. Sheehan, 38, is a 1987 graduate of the John Marshall Law School. For the past eight years, she has been a sole practitioner with a general practice. She is also a Hearing Officer for the Illinois Secretary of State. She spent the first four years of her legal career as an Assistant Public Defender. She has limited trial experience, and some attorneys question whether she has the legal ability or temperament required of a judge. The Council finds her not qualified.

2006 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Hon. Colleen F. Sheehan has sat in the First Municipal District since her election in 2000. She currently hears Domestic Violence cases in the Branch 64 court. For eight years before her election she was a solo practitioner with a general practice. She spent the first four years of her legal career as an Assistant Public Defender. Judge Sheehan is considered to have good legal ability and temperament. She is credited for developing innovative sentencing alternatives and for being involved in other legal reform efforts. The Council finds her Qualified.

Evaluation

1998 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Qualified

Kevin Michael Sheehan was admitted to practice in 1983. He has spent his career as an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney serving both as a trial attorney and in a supervisory role. He has good legal ability and a good temperament. He is respected by both his colleagues and his adversaries as a good prosecutor. The Council finds him Qualified.

11/04 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

Kevin Michael Sheehan was elected to the bench in 1998. Before becoming a judge, he spent his career as an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney serving both as a trial attorney and in a supervisory role. He is reported to have good legal ability and temperament. He is praised for his courtroom management skills. The Council finds him Qualified for retention.

11/10 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

Judge Kevin Sheehan was elected to the bench in 1998 and currently sits in the Criminal Division. Previously, he was in the First Municipal District. Judge Sheehan was admitted to practice in 1983. Prior to election, he was an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney.

Judge Sheehan is considered to be a knowledgeable judge who is praised for keeping up with recent caselaw. He has a calm demeanor and is reported to be hard working. Most respondents praised his fairness. The Council finds him Qualified for retention.

Elected to the Circuit Court in 2006.

Evaluation

2006 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Qualified

Diane M. Shelley was admitted to practice in Illinois in 1984. Since 1991, she has worked for the Metropolitan Water Reclamation District of Greater

Chicago and is currently Head Assistant Attorney, and has handled complex cases in that position. Before that, she spent seven years in private practice, including six years as a solo practitioner. Ms. Shelley is a knowledgeable practitioner and is considered a zealous advocate for her clients. She is active in community affairs. There have been occasional questions about her temperament, but on balance, the Council finds her Qualified for the Circuit Court.

Patrick J. SHERLOCK

Appointed Circuit Court Judge in 2007.

2006 Evaluations for Associate Judge: Qualified

Patrick Sherlock has practiced law since 1990. For the past 12 years he has handled a variety of primarily civil litigation as a solo practitioner. Prior to that, from 1990 until 1994, he was an associate at two different firms handling securities and commercial litigation matters. Mr. Sherlock is reported to have good legal ability and temperament. He has sufficient litigation experience in complex matters. The Council finds him Qualified to serve in the Circuit Court.

Darryl B. SIMKO

Present Judicial Duties

Associate Judge, Circuit Court, Chancery Division

Previous Judicial Duties

Associate Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District; 2001-2005: Judge, Circuit Court

Appointed Circuit Court Judge in 2001; elected Associate Judge by Circuit Judges in 2005.

Evaluation

2/01 Appointment – Circuit Court: Not Recommended

Darryl Simko was licensed as an attorney in Illinois in 1985. From 1985 to 1996, he served as a law clerk in progressively higher courts up through the state judiciary, culminating in 1992-96 with service to Justice Charles Freeman. Since 1996, Simko has worked for the Illinois Attorney General in the Criminal (and later, Civil) Appeals Bureau. By nearly all accounts, Simko has done well in each of his jobs, and is regarded as smart, even-tempered, ethical and diligent. While recognizing the candidate's many virtues, his one glaring weakness is a near absence of trial experience (he lists only one habeas corpus bench trial in federal district court). The candidate also appears to lack a professional background in administration that might compensate for this deficit. Minus such experience, we cannot be confident that this candidate will be capable of managing a high-volume courtroom or conducting a complex trial. For this reason, the Council cannot recommend Simko for the Circuit Court at this time.

9/02 Appointment – Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Darryl Simko was licensed as an attorney in Illinois in 1985. From 1985 to 1996, he served as a law clerk in progressively higher courts up through the state judiciary, culminating in 1992-96 with service to Justice Charles Freeman. Since 1996, Mr. Simko has worked for the Illinois Attorney General in the Criminal (and later, Civil) Appeals Bureau. By nearly all accounts, Mr. Simko has done well in each of his jobs as a lawyer, and is regarded as smart, even-tempered, ethical and diligent. He was appointed to fill a judicial vacancy and currently sits in Traffic Court where he has received good marks by lawyers who appear before him. While recognizing the candidate's many virtues, his one glaring weakness is a near absence of trial experience before taking the bench (he lists only one habeas corpus bench trial in federal district court). The candidate also appears to lack a professional background in administration that might compensate for this deficit. Despite the fact that Mr. Simko has been serving adequately in Traffic Court, he lacks sufficient trial experience in sophisticated and complex matters and we cannot be confident that this candidate will be capable of conducting the kind of complex trials that may face him in his next judicial assignment. For this reason, the Council finds Mr. Simko Not Qualified for Circuit Court at this time.

2005 Evaluations for Associate Judge: Qualified

Darryl B. Simko was admitted to practice in Illinois in 1985. He currently sits as a Circuit Court Judge in the Traffic Division. Prior to becoming a judge, he served in the Civil Appeals Bureau of the Illinois Attorney General's Office, and as a Law Clerk to Justice Charles E. Freeman. He has also clerked for Appellate Court Justices John M. O'Connor, Jr. and Francis S. Lorenz. He also served as Law Clerk to Judge Anthony J. Scotillo. From 1988 to the present, Judge Simko has served as an Adjunct Professor of Legal Writing at Loyola University of Chicago School of Law.

Judge Simko is considered to have very good legal ability and temperament. He is reportedly doing a good job in his current assignment. The Council is concerned about his lack of substantial trial court experience before he became a judge, but on balance the Council finds him Qualified.

Henry R. SIMMONS, Jr.

Present Judicial Duties

1992-Present: Judge, Circuit Court, Criminal Division

Previous Judicial Duties

1992: First Municipal District, Traffic Court

Appointed Circuit Court Judge in 1992; elected to the Circuit Court in 1994.

Evaluation

3/86 Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Henry R. Simmons, 30, is an Assistant State's Attorney assigned to the Sixth Municipal District in Markham. He is reported to be a competent and conscientious lawyer. At this time, however, the Council believes that he lacks sufficient legal experience to be a Circuit Court judge.

1988 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court (Hickey Vacancy): Not Qualified

Mr. Simmons is an Assistant State's Attorney. The Council found him not qualified for the Circuit Court in 1986 believing that he lacked sufficient legal experience. Because Mr. Simmons refused to participate in the Council's evaluation this year, the Council has no basis upon which to change its prior evaluation.

3/94 and 11/94 Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Henry Simmons, 38, was appointed to fill a judicial vacancy in 1992 after serving as an Assistant

Cook County State's Attorney for twelve years. He has presided in evening narcotics court since December 1992, after a brief assignment in traffic court. As an assistant state's attorney he handled felony trials, civil trials and appeals, and was highly regarded as a hard-working attorney with solid legal skills. As a judge he is considered to be conscientious and fair, and has made thoughtful suggestions for improving the administration of evening narcotics court.

Judge Simmons ran previously for the bench in 1986 (at age 30) and 1988. In 1986 he was reported to be competent and conscientious, but the Council found him not qualified because of lack of sufficient experience. In 1988 he refused to cooperate with the Council's investigation and the Council, therefore, repeated its earlier not qualified finding.

As described in the introduction to this report, Judge Simmons' candidacy presents unusual circumstances. He is the nephew of former Alderman Edward Vrdolyak. Six lawyers from the Vrdolyak firm filed for this race. (There are only fourteen lawyers in the firm.) All the male candidates from the firm then withdrew, while two women from the firm stayed in the race. Judge Simmons is now the only male candidate in the race. The women from the Vrdolyak firm have not submitted materials for review by bar associations and appear to be in the race solely to draw off votes from Judge Simmons's female opponents.

Judge Simmons denies any role in getting false candidates to run, says he has never talked to them, cannot control them, and wants to be evaluated on his record alone. But when this story was publicized Judge Simmons did nothing to discourage the Vrdolyak firm candidates from running and said nothing that indicated any disapproval of this scheme. A crucial part of the Council's evaluation is whether we are confident that a candidate is independent of political and institutional influences. A candidate running in this fashion, receiving this kind of support, who has done nothing to renounce it, does not meet that standard. We find Judge Simmons not qualified as a consequence.

11/00 Retention – Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Henry Richard Simmons, Jr., 44, has been a judge since 1992. He sits in the Criminal Court at 26th and California Avenue. He has sat in the Evening Narcotics Court. Prior to becoming a judge he served as an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney. Lawyers report that he has good legal ability and is conscientious and fair. However, there are two serious incidents relating to Judge Simmons's professional conduct.

In People v. Ramey, No. 1-97-3817 (February 22, 2000), a capital prosecution case decided by the Illinois Appellate Court, First Judicial District, the petitioner Irving Ramey argued that his post-conviction petition established a constitutional claim that he was denied due process by the State's knowing use of false testimony. He claims that the Assistant State's Attorney allowed the perjured testimony of a key witness to stand uncorrected. The Assistant State's Attorney in that case was Judge Simmons prior to the time he took the bench. The Appellate Court found that a defendant filing a post-conviction petition is entitled to an evidentiary hearing "when the allegations of the petition, supported by the record or accompanying affidavits, make a substantial showing of a violation of a constitutional right . . . " The Court concluded that ". . . Ramey showed a reasonable likelihood that [the witness's] allegedly false testimony could have affected the jury's verdict." The Court instructed the circuit court to proceed to the evidentiary stage of the post-conviction proceeding. Judge Simmons denies the petitioner's allegations.

The court held that "Although both [the witness] and Assistant State's Attorney Simmons testified that the State did not give [the witness] a deal in exchange for his testimony against Ramey, Simmons' comment that he would inform the judge of [the witness's] cooperation in the Ramey trial indicates otherwise." The strong inference of the court's holding is that Simmons was dishonest with the trial judge, which in a death penalty case such as this was especially problematic.

In addition to the issue presented in People v. Ramey, the Council continues to question the methods used when Judge Simmons was elected to the bench in 1994. Judge Simmons is the nephew of former Alderman Edward Vrdolyak. Six lawyers from the Vrdolyak firm filed for the race. All the male candidates from the firm withdrew, while two women from the firm stayed in the race. The women from the Vrdolyak firm did not submit evaluation materials for review by any bar association and appeared to be in the race solely to draw off votes from Judge

Simmons's female opponents.

Judge Simmons denies any role in getting false candidates to run but when this story was publicized he did nothing to discourage the Vrdolyak firm candidates from running and said nothing that indicated any disapproval of this scheme. A candidate running in this fashion, who has done nothing to renounce it, does not meet the Council's requirement of being independent.

In light of People v. Ramey and the 1994 electoral scheme, the Council finds Judge Simmons not qualified.

2006 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Hon. Henry Richard Simmons, Jr. has been a judge since 1992. He sits in the Criminal Court at 26th and California Avenue. He has also sat in the Evening Narcotics Court. Prior to becoming a judge he served as an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney. Judge Simmons is considered to be a solid jurist with good legal ability and temperament. He is praised for his impartiality. The Council finds him Qualified.

2002 Evaluations for Associate Judge: Not Qualified

David A. Skryd was admitted to the Illinois Bar in 1986. Since 1995, he has been a solo general practitioner. From 1991 to 1995, he was an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney. From 1986 until 1991, he was a partner in a general practice firm. From 1999 to 2000, Mr. Skryd was the Township Attorney for Berwyn Township. Mr. Skryd is a 1986 graduate of IIT/Chicago-Kent College of Law.

Mr. Skryd is considered to have adequate legal ability and temperament. He has focused his practice in recent years on traffic and misdemeanor defense work, and is considered a capable practitioner in these areas. The Council, however, is concerned that Mr. Skryd does not have recent, substantial trial experience in sophisticated and complex areas of the law. In addition, there were questions raised about his candor during Mr. Skryd's evaluation interview. The Council finds Mr. Skryd Not Qualified to serve in Circuit Court.

2006 Evaluations for Associate Judge: Qualified

Hon. David A. Skryd was appointed Circuit Judge in 2004. From 1995 until his appointment, he was a solo general practitioner. From 1991 to 1995, he was an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney. From 1986 until 1991, he was a partner in a general practice firm. From 1999 to 2000, he was the Township Attorney for Berwyn Township. He was admitted to practice in 1986. Judge Skryd is reported to be doing a good job on the bench. While the Council had some concerns about the level of Judge Skryd's experience before he took the bench, based upon his performance to date, the Council finds him Qualified for the position of associate judge.

Justice, Illinois Appellate Court, First District, Sixth Division

Previous Judicial Duties

1998-2002: Judge Circuit Court, Second Municipal District; 1995-1998: Judge, Circuit Court, Law Division; Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District; 1989-1994: Associate Judge, First Municipal District

Appointed Associate Judge in 1989; elected to the Circuit Court in 1992; elected to the Illinois Appellate Court in 2002.

Evaluation

11/92 (Walsh vacancy): Not Qualified

Judge Smith, 49, has been an Associate Judge since 1989. He submitted materials to the Council, but did not appear for an interview. He currently sits in the eviction court in the First Municipal District. Lawyers report that he is extremely pro-landlord in his duties. Indeed, the Council learned that Judge Smith refused to honor a jury demand filed by a defendant because the defendant's lawyer but not the defendant was present in court. Instead, Judge Smith entered a judgment against the defendant. A supervisory judge subsequently corrected the error by permitting defendant's attorney to file a motion to vacate the judgment in his courtroom.

The Council believes that Judge Smith's lack of fairness and respect for the rule of law render him not qualified for election to the Circuit Court.

11/00 Retention – Circuit Court: Not Qualified

James Fitzgerald Smith, 57, has been a judge since 1989. He sits in the Second Municipal District hearing both civil and criminal cases. He has also served in the Law Division and in the First Municipal District. Judge Smith is considered to have good legal ability and to be hardworking. The judge did disclose a 1995 incident concerning racial sensitivity. The Judicial Inquiry Board ruled that no disciplinary action was warranted. However, the Council continues to receive reports saying that his temperament can be impatient, brusque, and irascible. The Council finds him Not Qualified.

2002 Primary & General Elections – Appellate Court: Not Qualified

The Honorable James Fitzgerald Smith has been a Circuit Court Judge for the past twelve and one-half years. He was admitted to the Illinois bar in 1975. From 1989 through 1994, he was assigned to the First Municipal District, Chicago, where he heard both civil and criminal matters. From 1995 through 1998, he was assigned to Law Division, Jury, and, from 1998 through the present, he has been sitting in the Second Municipal District, Skokie, hearing both civil and criminal matters. Judge Smith has not written many opinions during his time on the bench.

Nor has he had any other type of experience, e.g., publishing articles or teaching, which would indicate that he is presently prepared to become a Justice of the Appellate Court. Moreover, the Council has concerns over Judge Smith's temperament. Attorneys report that Judge Smith has a bad temper. The Judicial Inquiry Board in 1998, upon closing an investigation against Judge Smith, nonetheless admonished him in writing for his use of profane language directed toward an attorney. Based on the foregoing, the Council finds Judge James Fitzgerald Smith Not Qualified for the position of Appellate Court Justice.

2004 Evaluation for Primary Election: Qualified

James E. Snyder was admitted to practice law in Illinois in 1988. Since 2000, he has served as General Counsel to the Illinois Human Rights Commission. Between 1994 and 2000, he was a sole practitioner representing small businesses, individuals, nonprofit organizations and local governments. During this time Mr. Snyder served as a Hearing Officer with the City of Chicago and as a City of Chicago Personnel Board Hearing Officer. From 1988 to 1991 he served as a staff attorney for the Chicago Housing Authority, working in forcible entry and detainer courtrooms. Mr. Snyder is described as a hard-working, knowledgeable practitioner with an excellent temperament. He has sufficient litigation experience and is reported to have good legal ability. The Council finds him Qualified for the Circuit Court.

Irwin J. SOLGANICK

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Law Division, Jury Section

Previous Judicial Duties

1987-1992: Judge, Circuit Court, Domestic Relations Division; 1986-1987: First Municipal District

Elected to the Circuit Court in 1986.

Evaluation

1986 Primary & General Elections—Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Irwin S. Solganick is a former Assistant State's Attorney and is presently in private practice. The Council does not believe that he has demonstrated either the legal ability or the diligence necessary to be a judge on the Circuit Court.

The Council also has serious reservations about Mr. Solganick's candidacy in that he is seeking to fill the vacancy created by the withdrawal, within hours of the filing deadline, of the retention notice of Judge Robert Sulski. The timing of Judge Sulski's withdrawal, and the immediately subsequent filing of Mr. Solganick's petition, resulted in this judicial vacancy being the sole uncontested Democratic primary race for election to a city vacancy on the Circuit Court. The Chicago Council of Lawyers brought a motion before the Illinois Supreme Court seeking to reopen the filing period so that other candidates could file for the Sulski vacancy. The Illinois Supreme Court chose not to hear the case but made no decision on the merits. The Council has also filed actions before the Attorney Registration and Disciplinary Commission and the Judicial Inquiry Board seeking an investigation of the circumstances which enabled Mr. Solganick to obtain an uncontested judicial candidacy.

The Council believes that the chain of events by which Mr. Solganick obtained this uncontested ballot position suggests that he lacks the requisite independence and freedom from political influence which are essential in a Circuit Court judge.

11/92 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Judge Solganick, 46, was elected to the Circuit Court in 1986. Since his election, he has been assigned to the Domestic Relations Division. Prior to running for the bench, Judge Solganick was an Assistant State's Attorney, and he also worked in the law firm of former Alderman, County Democratic Chairman, and County Republican Chairman, Edward Vrdolyak.

On the bench, Judge Solganick is reported to be a good judge. Most attorneys contacted say he is capable and fair, with adequate legal ability. A few attorneys claim that he is apparently bored in his position in the Domestic Relations Division, and is no longer diligent in his work.

Two incidents raise some questions about Judge Solganick's qualifications. First, Judge Solganick took the bench in 1986 under unusual circumstances. He overheard a conversation in a bar that Judge Sulski was not running for retention. That information was not yet publicly known. Judge Solganick went to his then-employer, Mr. Vrdolyak, and asked if it was true that Judge Sulski was planning to retire. Mr. Vrdolyak said he did not know, but encouraged Judge Solganick to run for the race. Mr. Vrdolyak helped Judge Solganick obtain the necessary petition signatures.

Judge Sulski filed his notice that he was not running for retention hours before the filing deadline for candidates who wished to succeed him. Two candidates, Judge Solganick and an Assistant State's Attorney who knew Judge Sulski and had learned of his plans, filed petitions. The other candidate subsequently withdrew his petitions, and Judge Solganick was left as the sole candidate. The General Assembly has subsequently amended the law to prevent a similar situation from recurring.

At his interview, Judge Solganick told us that he could understand why the Council and other judicial candidates might feel that his actions were inappropriate. He defended them as being within the law at the time, which they were.

Second, Judge Solganick's name came up in the trial of Judge David Shields, the former presiding judge of the Chancery Division, and Pat DeLeo, an attorney, who were convicted of federal criminal offenses arising out of Judge Shields' judicial position. During the trial, tapes were played of Judge Shields' and Mr. DeLeo's discussions in Judge Shields' chambers. The Government argued that Mr. DeLeo was in Judge Shields' chambers to bribe him. The defense argued, in part, that Mr. DeLeo was in Judge Shields' chambers discussing the possibility of reassigning their mutual friend, Judge Solganick, to the Chancery Division. There was absolutely no suggestion that Judge Solganick was in any aware or involved in the corrupt activities for which Judge Shields and Mr. DeLeo were convicted.

Judge Solganick acknowledged in his interview that he was unhappy with his assignment to the Domestic Relations Division, and that he had mentioned to Mr. DeLeo, an acquaintance, that he would like to be assigned to the Chancery Division. Again, there is absolutely no suggestion that Judge Solganick has done anything illegal or unethical.

Judge Solganick's mode of gaining the bench, together with his conversation with Mr. DeLeo about judicial assignments, raise questions to some lawyers about Judge Solganick's freedom from political and institutional influences. Because all lawyers report that Judge Solganick has been competent and fair in his service on the bench, and there has been no suggestion that Judge Solganick has engaged in any improper conduct, the Council, on balance, finds him Qualified for retention.

11/98 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Irwin J. Solganick, 50 sits in the Law Division. He was elected to the bench in 1986. He has adequate legal ability and his integrity and fairness is unquestioned. Lawyers report that he is an honest and patient judge who is not afraid to make decisions. He is praised by those winning and losing before him as being decisive. He runs a tight courtroom but can get angry if lawyers do not cooperate with his rules. Yet most lawyers overlook the occasional anger because they are pleased with his courtroom efficiency. The Council finds him Qualified for retention.

11/04 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

Irwin J. Solganick sits in the Law Division.

He was originally elected to the bench in 1986 under circumstances that raised some questions. He has adequate legal ability and lawyers report that he is decisive. The Council finds him Qualified for retention.

11/10 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

Judge Irwin J. Solganick was elected to the bench in 1986. He is currently assigned to the Law Division. He has also served in the First Municipal District and the Domestic Relations Division. Judge Solganick was admitted to practice in 1972. Prior to election, he was an assistant state's attorney and also in private practice.

Judge Solganick is considered to have good legal ability. He is praised for his courtroom management skills and for his ability to grasp more complex issues that come before him. The Council is concerned that Judge Solganick can be short-tempered on the bench. On balance, the Council finds him Qualified for retention.

11/02 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Hon. Cheryl A. Starks was elected to the Circuit Court in 1996. She currently sits in the Trial Section of the Law Division. Her first judicial assignment was to the First Municipal District, Traffic Section after which she was transferred to the Child Protection Division. In her current assignment, Judge Starks has been described by her colleagues and by counsel that have appeared before her as fair, decisive, and possessing reasonable legal knowledge and ability. She has demonstrated a willingness to reconsider her decisions when presented with new facts or case law. The Council finds Judge Starks Qualified.

2008 Retention: Qualified

Hon. Cheryl A. Starks was elected to the Circuit Court in 1996. She served in Traffic Court and the Child Protection Division before being assigned to the Law Division in December 1999. She has served in the Law Division since then, hearing jury trials. Prior to her election, Judge Starks was an Assistant Corporation Counsel for the City of Chicago and an Assistant Attorney for the Chicago Board of Education. Attorneys appearing before her report that she is hard-working and well-prepared. Where legal issues are new to her, she is willing to learn and to reverse herself if warranted. She is fair and courteous to litigants and lawyers, and makes juries feel at ease. The Council finds her Qualified for retention.

Elected to the Circuit Court in 2004.

Evaluation

11/94 Circuit Court: Not Recommended

Victoria A. Stewart did not participate in the Council's evaluation process, submitting no information to support her candidacy. The Council has received insufficient information to judge her qualifications for the Circuit Court.

11/00 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Victoria Stewart, 49, presently sits in the First Municipal District conducting preliminary hearings. Before she was elected to the bench in 1994, she had twenty years experience as an attorney; at different times working as an Assistant States Attorney, and for the U.S. Interstate Commerce Commission, the Circuit Court of Cook County Juvenile Division, the Chicago City Council and for three years in private solo practice. In 1994, the Council found Judge Stewart not recommended because she did not participate in the Council's evaluation process. During the current investigation, the judge drew generally good reviews regarding her integrity, fairness and efficiency in handling her docket. She is considered to have average legal ability. The Council finds her Qualified.

2006 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Hon. Victoria Stewart presently hears felony narcotics trials in the Criminal Division. Before her current assignment, she sat in the First Municipal District. Before she was elected to the bench in 1994, she had twenty years experience as an attorney; at different times working as an Assistant States Attorney, and for the U.S. Interstate Commerce Commission, the Circuit Court of Cook County Juvenile Division, the Chicago City Council and for three years in private solo practice. Judge Stewart is praised as being knowledgeable and hard-working. She has a good judicial temperament and is fair to all parties. The Council finds her Qualified.

Paul STRALKA

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Juvenile Justice Division

Previous Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Elected to the Circuit Court in 1998.

Evaluation

1998 Primary & General Election – Circuit Court: Qualified

Paul Stralka was admitted to practice in 1976. He has served as an Assistant Cook County Public Defender throughout his career. Mr. Stralka is described as having excellent temperament, integrity, and common sense. He has good legal ability and is of high integrity. The Council finds him Qualified.

11/04 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

Paul Stralka was elected to the bench in 1998. He had served as an Assistant Cook County Public Defender throughout his non-judicial career. Judge Stralka is described as having good legal ability and temperament. A few lawyers complained that he has on occasion not properly applied the law, but most find him a compassionate and able jurist who cares about the well being of the children appearing before him. The Council finds him Qualified for retention.

11/10 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

Judge Paul Stralka was elected to the bench in 1998. He is currently assigned to the Juvenile Justice Division. Previously, he was in the First Municipal District traffic court. Judge Stralka was admitted to practice in 1976. Prior to election, he was a Cook County Public Defender.

Judge Stralka is considered to have good legal ability. He is praised for his dedication to juvenile justice reform and his focus on finding a just outcome for each juvenile coming before him. He has a good temperament. The Council finds him Qualified for retention.

Jane Louise STUART

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Probate Division

Previous Judicial Duties

1996-2003: Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Elected to the Circuit Court in 1996.

Evaluation

1996 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Not Recommended

Jane Louise Stuart did not participate in the Council's evaluation process, submitting no information in support of her candidacy. The Council received insufficient information to judge her qualifications for the Circuit Court. The Council finds her Not Recommended.

11/02 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Hon. Jane Louise Stuart was elected to the Circuit Court in 1996. She has served in the First Municipal District for her entire judicial career and currently sits in the Forcible Entry and Detainer Section. Judge Stuart has displayed an ability to manage a difficult call with many pro se litigants. She maintains a calm, even temperament despite the high emotions which often boil over in her courtroom. She displays sincere concern for the needs of litigants who cannot afford to retain an attorney. For example, she gives a lengthy speech to all present at the beginning of each call explaining the court procedures to litigants who may be unfamiliar with courtroom procedure. Although some lawyers criticize Judge Stuart for starting her call late, she does so in order to make sure all or most litigants are present at the time she begins the call and to give practitioners confidence that she will be consistent from one day to the next. Attorneys report that Judge Stuart displays sufficient legal knowledge for her present assignment. The Council finds Judge Stuart Qualified for retention.

2008 Retention: Qualified

Hon. Jane Louise Stuart was elected to the Circuit Court in 1996. Before being elected she did civil matters as an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney. She served as a teacher before becoming a lawyer. As a judge, she has served in the First Municipal District and currently sits in the Probate Division. Judge Stuart is considered to have good legal ability and is described as being serious and even-tempered on the bench. She is reported to be well prepared and impartial. However, Judge Stuart has a serious and persistent problem with starting her court call on time. The Council urges Judge Stuart to correct this problem that has a negative impact on lawyers, litigants, and court personnel. Judge Stuart, however, is a well respected jurist in all other respects. On balance, the Council finds her Qualified for retention.

Michael W. STUTTLEY

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Juvenile Justice Division

Previous Judicial Duties

1994-2006: Associate Judge, Circuit Court, Juvenile Justice Division; 1990-1994: Supervising Associate Judge, First Municipal District; 1989-1990: First Municipal District, Traffic Court and Misdemeanor Section

Elected Associate Judge by Circuit Judges in 1989; elected to the Circuit Court in 2006.

Evaluation

3/96 Primary Election – Circuit Court: Not Recommended

Michael W. Stuttley did not participate in the Council's evaluation process, submitting no information in support of his candidacy. The Council received insufficient information to judge his qualifications for the Circuit Court. The Council finds him Not Recommended.

2002 Primary Elections – Circuit Court: Well Qualified

The Honorable Michael Stuttley is currently serving by appointment as presiding judge in 6th Municipal District, Juvenile Justice. His prior assignments on the bench has included abuse and neglect matters; Supervising Judge, 1st Municipal District, Forcible Entry & Detainer Section; and traffic court. Before becoming a judge, he practiced either on his own or in small firms, specializing in family law, general civil, real estate and personal injury. He was admitted to the Illinois bar in 1979. The lawyers who appear before Judge Stuttley have nothing but the highest praise for him. Everyone enjoys appearing in front of him; they regard his judicial temperament as excellent and commend the job he is doing turning kids' lives around. It was noted during the investigation that Judge Stuttley has assigned juveniles to perform community service in houses of worship, on condition that they receive at least one hour a week of counseling there. By all accounts, the program has been a success, and the Judge has recognized that those uncomfortable with service inside a church may be assigned to secular organizations instead. We find the candidate Well Qualified.

2006 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Well Qualified

The Honorable Michael W. Stuttley is currently serving by appointment as presiding judge in 6th Municipal District, Juvenile Justice Division. 11/92 Circuit Court: Not Recommended

Mr. Sullivan did not participate in the Council's evaluation process. The Council has received insufficient information to judge his qualifications for the Circuit Court. Accordingly, he is not recommended.

11/98 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Daniel J. Sullivan, 43, sits in the Domestic Relations Division. He was elected to the bench in 1992 after spending eight years as an Assistant Cook County Public Defender. Lawyers report that he has good legal ability. Lawyers comment on his willingness to do independent research and to learn an area of the law he knew little about when he was first assigned to the Domestic Relations Division. His fairness and integrity are unquestioned. He receives particular praise for his concern for the best interests of children. He has a good judicial temperament and lawyers give him high marks for punctuality. The Council finds him Qualified for retention.

11/04 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

Daniel J. Sullivan sits in the Domestic Relations Division. He was elected to the bench in 1992 after spending eight years as an Assistant Cook County Public Defender. Lawyers report that he has good legal ability, is fair to those who appear before him, and has a good judicial temperament. There have been some concerns as to his diligence, but on balance, the Council finds him Qualified for retention.

11/10 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

Daniel J. Sullivan was elected to the Cook County Circuit Court in 1992. He was assigned to the Domestic Relations Division, where he currently serves, hearing both pre-decree and post-decree cases. Since 1999, Judge

Sullivan has been presiding over domestic relations matters in the 3rd Municipal District. Sullivan earned his J.D. from DePaul in 1984. The subsequent year he was admitted to the Illinois Bar. Prior to joining the bar, Judge Sullivan served as an assistant Cook County public defender, assigned to the 3rd Municipal District, working as a criminal defense lawyer.

Judge Sullivan is considered to have good legal ability. He is courteous to all lawyers and litigants. He is a hard working judge who is praised for his courtroom management skills. He is considered fair and issues rulings in a timely manner. The Council finds him Qualified for retention.

Recalled as a Circuit Judge by the Illinois Supreme Court in 2011

James E. Sullivan (evaluated for recall in 2011)

James Sullivan was admitted to practice in 1967. He served as an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney from 1970 to 1978. He was a Circuit Court Judge from 1978 to 1991, hearing cases in both the Law Division and the Criminal Division. He is currently in private practice, focusing on arbitrations and mediations. He is considered to have good legal ability with substantial litigation experience in both civil and criminal law matters. The Council finds him Qualified for recall.

Laura M. SULLIVAN

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Elected to the Circuit Court in 2002.

Evaluation

2002 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court:

Qualified

Laura Marie Sullivan was admitted to practice in 1987 and has been a Cook County State's Attorney for her entire legal career. She has taken approximately 39 jury trials to verdict in her career. Ms. Sullivan is currently a supervisor in the Criminal Prosecutions Division of the office. Notwithstanding her current supervisory role, the candidate has first-chaired at least one major jury trial each year for the past five years. The candidate's significant involvement with the Rehabilitation Alternative Probation Program is of great significance and is to be commended. Her active role in, and enthusiasm for, the program illustrates a deep commitment to the judicial system and her ability/willingness to develop innovative ways to solve problems associated with the criminal justice system. Those familiar with her work are largely complimentary of her legal skills, fairness and integrity. The Council finds this candidate Qualified.

2008 Retention: Qualified

Hon. Laura Sullivan was elected to the bench in 2002 and was admitted to practice in 1987. She was an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney for her entire career as a lawyer. She currently sits on the Central Bond Court rotation. She has been assigned to the Third Municipal District and to the Domestic Violence Court. Judge Sullivan is considered to have good legal ability and is praised for her temperament. The Council finds her Qualified for retention.

Sharon M. SULLIVAN

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Criminal Division, Second Municipal District

Previous Judicial Duties

1994-2000: Judge, Circuit Court, Third Municipal District; 1992-1994: Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District, Civil Jury Call; 1992-1993: Traffic Court

Elected to the Circuit Court in 1992.

Evaluation

1992 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court (Sorrentino Vacancy): Qualified

Sharon Sullivan, 36, graduated from Law school in 1980. She has worked since then almost exclusively as an Assistant Corporation Counsel, except for a brief period in private practice. As an Assistant Corporation Counsel, she has handled major state and federal court litigation. Attorneys give her high marks for legal ability, temperament, integrity and independence.

The Council would easily find Ms. Sullivan qualified for the Circuit Court, except for one incident. In 1991, Ms. Sullivan was asked by her former employer in private practice to assist him at the last minute in preparing for a trial of a personal injury case in the U.S. District Court in Milwaukee. Ms. Sullivan agreed to do so, despite her knowledge of a policy at the Corporation Counsel's Office barring her from having a private, paying legal practice.

Ms. Sullivan functioned as trial counsel for the plaintiff in the Milwaukee case. She did not notify her supervisor of her action in advance. She prepared for the trial over the weekend, took sick leave from the City and conducted the one-day trial in Milwaukee. Ms. Sullivan did not notify her supervisor of the action when she returned.

Ms. Sullivan subsequently filed an attorney's fee petition for compensation for her work in the Milwaukee case. The City learned of her participation from an opinion filed by the judge concerning the fee petition.

Ms. Sullivan acknowledged that she knew of the policy and that she failed to notify the City. She says that the money she earned from the case is being donated to charity.

The Council believes that it is a close question as to whether this one incident should prevent a filing of qualified for Ms. Sullivan. On balance, the Council believes that Ms. Sullivan is qualified. She must exercise more care in the future.

11/98 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Sharon Marie Sullivan, 43, sits in the Third Municipal District hearing both criminal and civil law cases. She was elected to the bench in 1992 after a long career with the Chicago Department of Law. Lawyers report that she has excellent legal ability. Both prosecutors and defense counsel say that Judge

Sullivan is a patient, very fair, painstaking judge who has a good judicial temperament. Her integrity is unquestioned. The Council finds her Qualified for retention.

11/04 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

Sharon Marie Sullivan sits in the Criminal Division in the Second Municipal District. She was elected to the bench in 1992 after a long career with the Chicago Department of Law. Lawyers report that she has good legal ability. Both prosecutors and defense counsel say that Judge Sullivan is a conscientious judge who has a good judicial temperament. Her integrity is unquestioned. The Council finds her Qualified for retention.

11/10 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

Sharon Sullivan graduated from Loyola Law School in 1980 and was admitted to practice in 1980. She was elected to the bench in 1992 and presently sits in the Criminal Division in the Second Municipal District. Prior to her election Judge Sullivan was an assistant State's Attorney and had previously been in private practice as well as with Corporation Counsel in the Chicago Department of Law.

Judge Sullivan is considered to have good legal ability. She is reported to have a good temperament and courtroom management skills. She is praised for her familiarity with current developments in the law. The Council finds her Qualified for retention.

Susan Kennedy SULLIVAN

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Elected to the Circuit Court in 2010

Evaluation

2010 Primary and General Elections: Qualified

Susan Kennedy Sullivan was admitted to practice in 1994. She is a sole practitioner focusing on probate and estate planning. She has been a registered nurse since 1974. She reports serving as lead counsel in two civil jury trials and more than 100 civil bench trials. Many of her litigation matters involve lengthy trials. She has published articles and is active in pro bono matters. Ms. Sullivan is reported to have good legal ability and she is praised as being hard-working. She is respected as a zealous advocate with a professional demeanor. The Council finds her Qualified for the Circuit Court.

Prior to becoming a judge, he served as an Assistant Corporation Counsel for the City of Chicago, as an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney, and was in private practice. Lawyers report that Judge Terrell has only adequate legal ability and the Council has received reports that he has demonstrated a poor judicial temperament on the bench. The Council finds him Not Qualified.

2006 Retention – Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Hon. Lawrence W. Terrell has been a judge since 1994. He has sat in the Fourth Municipal District since his election and currently hears felony criminal matters. Prior to becoming a judge, he served as an Assistant Corporation Counsel for the City of Chicago, as an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney, and was in private practice. Judge Terrell is considered to have adequate legal ability. The Council, however, is concerned about his temperament – a factor cited by the Council when it found him Not Qualified for retention in 2000. The current investigation shows that many lawyers continue to complain about Judge Terrell's temperament – finding him short-tempered to the point that judicial proceedings are affected adversely. The Council finds him Not Qualified.

Appellate Court of Illinois, First District, Third Division

1993: Judge, Circuit Court, Chancery Division; 1989-1993: Judge, Circuit Court, Criminal Division; 1983-1988: Associate Judge, First Municipal District

Appointed Associate Judge in 1983; elected to the Circuit Court in 1988; appointed to the Illinois Appellate Court in 1993; elected to the Illinois Appellate Court in 1994.

Evaluation

1988 (D) Primary & General Elections–Circuit Court (Dempsey Vacancy): Highly Qualified

As an associate judge, Judge Theis has been sitting in the First Municipal District since August 1983. Most of her assignments have been in the criminal branch courts hearing cases that range from felony preliminary hearings to misdemeanor jury and bench trials. She is an outstanding judge with extensive legal ability. Her judicial demeanor is universally praised by attorneys who practice before her, as well as by her colleagues on the bench. She is fair and impeccably honest and presents the reasons for her decisions in great detail. She shows respect for the attorneys appearing before her and for defendants, witnesses and victims. In addition to her skill on the bench, she has taught trial practice for a number of years at various Law schools in the area and is reputed to be an excellent teacher. Judge Theis' legal ability, fairness, independence and superior judicial demeanor make her highly qualified.

3/94 and 11/94 Appellate Court: Highly Qualified

Mary Jane Theis, 44, is currently sitting on the Appellate Court by appointment. She is considered to be an outstanding judge.

Judge Theis was admitted to practice in 1974 and worked as an Assistant Public Defender from 1974 to 1983. She was an Associate Judge in the First Municipal District from 1983 to 1988. She became a full Circuit Judge in 1988, was assigned to the Criminal Division for four years, served briefly in Chancery, and very recently was appointed to the Appellate Court.

In 1988 when we rated Judge Theis for the Circuit Court we described her as highly qualified, describing her as an outstanding judge with excellent legal ability and very good demeanor.

Over the years, Judge Theis has continued to perform at a very high level as a Judge. She is described by virtually everyone who has appeared before her as very well prepared, fair, diligent, with very good legal ability, and an excellent demeanor. She submitted written opinions from her period as a Chancery Judge which are well written and very clear. The Council finds her Highly Qualified for the Appellate Court.

11/04 Retention Election, Appellate Court: Highly Qualified

Mary Jane Theis is currently sitting on the Appellate Court. She is considered to be an outstanding judge. Justice Theis worked as an Assistant Public Defender from 1974 to 1983. She was an Associate Judge in the First Municipal District from 1983 to 1988. She became a full Circuit Judge in 1988, was assigned to the Criminal Division for four years, served briefly in Chancery, and was appointed and then elected to the Appellate Court. She is described by virtually everyone who has appeared before her as very well prepared, fair, diligent, with very good legal ability, and an excellent demeanor. The Council finds her Highly Qualified for retention to the Appellate Court.

Sybil C. THOMAS

Present Judicial Duties

Associate Judge, Circuit Court, Child Protection Division

Previous Judicial Duties

2003: Associate Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District, Traffic Court

Elected Associate Judge by Circuit Judges in 2003.

Evaluation

2002 Evaluations for Associate Judge: Not Qualified

Sybil C. Thomas was admitted to practice in 1992. Since March 2001, she has been the Interim Director of Mediation at the Juvenile Court. From 1996 to 2001, she was a hearing officer in the Child Protection Division. From 1991 to 1996, she was a law clerk and then an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney in the Criminal Prosecutions Division. Ms. Thomas is a 1991 graduate of Chicago-Kent College of Law. She has trained caseworkers in courtroom testimony skills at Loyola's Civitas Child Law Center. She has drafted a local rule concerning a child protection mediation pilot program that has been adopted by the Illinois Supreme Court.

Ms. Thomas is well regarded by lawyers who appear before her. She is considered to have good legal ability and temperament. The Council, however, is concerned that she does not have sufficient trial experience in complex matters. The Council finds Ms. Thomas Not Qualified to serve in Circuit Court at this time.

Elmer James TOLMAIRE, III

Present Judicial Duties

Associate Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Elected Associate Judge by Circuit Judges in 2005.

2005 Evaluations for Associate Judge: Not Qualified

Elmer Tolmaire, III has practiced since 1977. Following his admission to the bar, Mr. Tolmaire entered private practice for five years, though he maintained his position as an assistant vice president for Harris Bank during this period (1976-81). From 1983 to 1985, he served as an Assistant Corporation Counsel for the City of Chicago, and from 1986 to 1987, Mr. Tolmaire was a Deputy Contract Compliance Officer for the Mayor's Office. Since 1987 he has been a senior counsel with the City of Chicago's Department of Law, where his practice consists of state and local tax litigation. Mr. Tolmaire has a reputation as a very competent lawyer within his area of expertise, but has very little hands-on litigation experience. While he is considered to have a good temperament and unquestioned integrity, the Council is concerned about the narrowness of his practice and his lack of first-hand trial and courtroom experience. The Council finds him Not Qualified.

Amanda S. TONEY

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District, Jury Trial Division

Previous Judicial Duties

1996-1999: Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District, Non-Jury Trials; 1994-1996: Judge, Circuit Court, Second Municipal District

Elected to the Circuit Court in 1994.

Evaluation

11/00 Retention – Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Amanda S. Toney, 47, has been a judge since 1994. She sits in the First Municipal District hearing motions and jury trials in personal injury and contract cases. Prior to becoming a judge, she was a sole practitioner with a general practice focusing on probate and estates and served for eighteen months as a law clerk to Justice R. Eugene Pincham. Many lawyers report that Judge Toney has adequate legal ability and that her integrity is unquestioned. Many lawyers, however, question the adequacy of her legal ability and, in addition, report that her judicial temperament – particularly during pretrial matters – is problematic. She exhibits a lack of respect for lawyers and their trial schedules. The Council finds her not qualified.

2006 Retention – Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Hon. Amanda S. Toney has been a judge since 1994. She hears jury trials in the First Municipal District. Prior to becoming a judge, she was a sole practitioner with a general practice focusing on probate and estates. Judge Toney is considered to have adequate legal ability. There were two concerns raised during the evaluation. First, some lawyers complain that she does not move cases expeditiously, a serious matter in a high volume court call. Second, there were many concerns raised about her temperament. She can be short-tempered and sometimes exhibits a lack of respect for lawyers appearing before her. The Council finds her Not Qualified.

Michael P. TOOMIN

Present Judicial Duties

Presiding Judge, Circuit Court, Juvenile Justice Division

Previous Judicial Duties

Supervising Judge, Circuit Court, Criminal Division

Judge, Circuit Court, Criminal Division; 1980-1984: Associate Judge, Second Municipal District; 1980: Associate Judge, First Municipal District, Traffic Court

Elected Associate Judge by Circuit Judges in 1980; elected to the Circuit Court in 1984.

Evaluation

1986 Primary & General Elections–Appellate Court: Highly Qualified

Judge Toomin currently sits in the Criminal Division where he hears felony cases. He is an outstanding judge. His legal knowledge, diligence in researching the law, and ability to understand complex legal concepts are highly regarded. The Council also believes that he is fair and independent and treats lawyers and litigants with courtesy and respect. Judge Toomin is the type of person who has the superior intellect and legal experience to be highly qualified for the demanding job of appellate judge.

1990 Primary & General Elections–Appellate Court (Pincham Vacancy): Highly Qualified

Michael P. Toomin has been a judge in the Criminal Division since 1984. He previously practiced in the Public Defender's Office and as a private practitioner. He is considered to be an outstanding judge with excellent legal ability and who is of high integrity, fair and thoughtful about the problems facing the Circuit Court. In 1986, the Council found him "highly qualified" for the Appellate Court. We maintain that position.

11/90 Retention – Circuit Court: Highly Qualified

Judge Toomin has been on the bench since 1980 and has been sitting in the Criminal Division since 1984. Attorneys speak of Judge Toomin in glowing terms, praising his preparation, knowledge of the law and fairness. His integrity is above reproach. He is one of the best judges in the Circuit Court.

10/96 Retention – Circuit Court: Highly Qualified

Judge Michael P. Toomin, 58, has been a judge since 1980. He is currently a supervising judge in the Criminal Division at 26th & California. Practitioners report that Judge Toomin is an outstanding jurist with excellent legal ability. He is considered to be thoughtful, fair, and of high integrity. Since 1983, Judge Toomin has served as an Adjunct Professor at the Northwestern University School of Law.

11/02 Retention – Circuit Court: Highly Qualified

Hon. Michael P. Toomin, 64, was appointed to the bench in 1980 and elected to the Circuit Court in 1984. He has been in the Criminal Division since 1984, and has been a supervising judge there since 1994. From 1980 to 1984, he was assigned to the Second Municipal District, where he heard felony, misdemeanor, civil, and traffic cases. His first assignment was to the First Municipal District, Traffic Court. From 1983 to 2001, he served as an adjunct professor at Northwestern University School of Law. From 1982 to 2002, he was on the faculty of the National Institute of Trial Advocacy. He is uniformly regarded as a skilled jurist, with excellent legal knowledge and ability, integrity, and judicial temperament.

In 1996, the Illinois Supreme Court reversed a criminal conviction in a case presided over by Judge Toomin (People v. Vargas), holding that it was reversible error for the judge to have left the bench (however briefly) without taking a recess. Judge Toomin recognizes that he erred in doing this, and credibly states that it was an aberration in an otherwise stellar career as a judge. We agree, and find Judge Toomin Highly Qualified.

2008 Retention: Highly Qualified

Hon. Michael P. Toomin was appointed to the bench in 1980 and elected to the Circuit Court in 1984. He has been in the Criminal Division since 1984, and has been a supervising judge there since 1994. From 1980 to 1984, he was assigned to the Second Municipal District, where he heard felony, misdemeanor, civil, and traffic cases. He was recently appointed to the Illinois Appellate Court. Judge Toomin is considered to have excellent legal ability and is exceptionally hard working. He is regarded as being impartial and having a professional demeanor. He has a reputation of being a stellar jurist. The Council finds him Highly Qualified for the Circuit Court.

John D. TOURTELOT

Present Judicial Duties

Associate Judge, Circuit Court, Fourth Municipal District

Previous Judicial Duties

1997-2002: Associate Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District; 1995-1996: Judge, Circuit Court

Appointed Circuit Court Judge in 1996; elected Associate Judge by Circuit Judges in 1997.

Evaluation

1992 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Qualified

John D. Tourtelot, 45, was admitted to practice in 1981. While working in the Arlington Heights Police Department, where he currently works nights as a sergeant, Mr. Tourtelot went to law school. Since 1981 he has had a varied practice including work in a private civil and criminal practice, work as an Assistant Village Prosecutor for the Village of Schaumburg (handling criminal, traffic, building code, and zoning matters), and as an Assistant State's Attorney acting as an investigator in official misconduct cases. Attorneys who have experience dealing with Mr. Tourtelot describe him as a competent attorney. The Council finds him Qualified.

Mary S. TREW

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Domestic Relations

Appointed as a Circuit Judge by the Illinois Supreme Court in 2010

Evaluation: Qualified (Evaluated for Associate Judge in 2002; she was appointed to the bench in November 2010)

Mary S. Trew was admitted to practice law in Michigan in 1981 and in Illinois in 1991. She was appointed to the bench by the Illinois Supreme Court in November 2010. Before taking the bench she had been with Pro Bono Advocates first as a supervising attorney and currently as the Executive Director. Before 1991, Ms. Trew practiced in Detroit. For one year, she was the supervising staff attorney at the Women's Justice Center. From 1982 to 1989, she was in private practice doing primarily criminal defense work. From 1980 to 1981, she was at the Misdemeanor Defender Office, first as a student and later as a lawyer. Ms. Trew is a 1981 graduate of the Detroit College of Law at Michigan State University.

As a lawyer, Ms. Trew was considered to have good legal ability and temperament. She had a variety of litigation experience in both civil and criminal law matters. She is dedicated to public service and had a reputation as a hard-working and extremely well-prepared lawyer. The Council finds Ms. Trew Qualified to serve in the Circuit Court.

Sandra TRISTANO

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Third Municipal District

Previous Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Elected to the Circuit Court in 2002.

Evaluation

2002 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court:
Not Qualified

Sandra Tristano was admitted to practice in 1977. She currently works with the National Labor Relations Board. In that capacity, she reviews decisions reached by hearing boards. She also maintains a small solo practice in which she handles mostly “non-litigation” matters such as estate planning, although she was recently involved in a litigation matter stemming from a family trust. While those interviewed had positive remarks about the candidate, she does not appear to have much first-hand experience litigating civil or criminal matters. In that regard, she is limited in her knowledge of day-to-day operations of the circuit court. For that reason, the candidate must be deemed Not Qualified at this time.

2008 Retention: Qualified

Hon. Sandra Tristano was elected to the bench in 2002 and was admitted to practice in 1977. Before being elected, she worked with the National Labor Relations Board. In that capacity, she reviewed decisions reached by hearing boards, while maintaining a small solo practice. She currently sits in the Third Municipal District. Judge Tristano is considered to have good legal ability. While she had little litigation experience when she came to the bench, she is praised for being hard working and diligent about learning what she needs to know. She has a very good temperament and is impartial. The Council finds her Qualified for retention.

Previous Judicial Duties

1998-1999: Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Elected Circuit Court Judge in 1998.

Evaluation

1998 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court:
Not Recommended

John D. Turner, Jr. did not participate in the Council's evaluation process, submitting no information in support of his candidacy. The Council received insufficient information to judge his qualifications for the Circuit Court. The Council finds him Not Recommended.

11/04 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Qualified

John D. Turner was elected to the bench in 1998. He currently sits in the Sixth Municipal District. Lawyers report that he has good legal ability and temperament. He is reported to be a good jurist. The Council finds him Qualified for retention in his current position.

11/10 Retention Election, Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Judge John Turner was elected to the Circuit Court in 1998. He is currently assigned to the Sixth Municipal District and was previously in the First Municipal District. Judge Turner was admitted to practice in 1984. Prior to election, he was an attorney for the Chicago Transit Authority, for the Chicago Park District and both with the Office of the Public Guardian and the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services.

Judge Turner hears misdemeanor cases. Some lawyers say he can be short-tempered on the bench and others complain that he does not always apply the law to the facts. Many other lawyers, however, say that he is doing an adequate job in his current assignment. On balance, the Council finds him Not Qualified for retention.

Valarie E. TURNER

Previous Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Elected Circuit Court Judge in 2002.

Evaluation

2002 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court:
Not Recommended

The candidate elected not to participate in the evaluation process. The Council accordingly finds the candidate Not Recommended.

2008 Retention: Not Qualified

Hon. Valarie E. Turner was admitted to the Illinois bar in 1991 and thereafter was an associate in a large law firm (6 years), an Assistant United States Attorney (2+ years), and a business consultant and researcher (2 years). She was elected to the Circuit Court in 2002. Judge Turner was initially assigned to the 1st Municipal District where she heard traffic cases and then domestic violence cases. In 2005, she was assigned to the 6th Municipal District, where she now sits in Domestic Violence Court. Some lawyers appearing before her find her to be well-versed in the relevant law, impartial, and fair. Others question her grasp of the law or her confidence in her own understanding of points of law. She is generally well-prepared for hearings, though some lawyers question her diligence, believing that she under-schedules her calendar. Judge Turner's temperament is strongly criticized by some lawyers, who report that she becomes too easily frustrated with attorneys and litigants and sometimes reprimands or chastises them in ways that may be inappropriate. On balance, the Council finds her Not Qualified for retention.

Joseph J. URSO

Present Judicial Duties

Presiding Judge, Circuit Court, Third Municipal District

Previous Judicial Duties

1995-1998: Supervising Judge, Circuit Court, Criminal Division; 1984-1994: Associate Judge, Criminal Division, Felony Trial Courts; 1980-1984: Associate Judge, First Municipal District, Branch 66, Violence Court; 1978-1980: Associate Judge, First Municipal District, Branch 27, Gun Court; 1978: Associate Judge, First Municipal District, Traffic Court

Elected Associate Judge by Circuit Judges in 1978; elected to the Circuit Court in 1994.

Evaluation

3/88 (D) Circuit Court: Qualified

Judge Urso is an associate judge who presides over criminal felony trials at 26th and California. He is highly regarded by both prosecutors and defense attorneys as a fair judge with good knowledge of the law and an excellent demeanor in the courtroom. In People v. Lee, No. 84-2453 (1987), Judge Urso was criticized by the appellate court for poor judgment in dealing informally with a prosecutor in the absence of defense counsel. This was a single incident, however, and the appellate court found, and the Council agrees, that Judge Urso in fact had not acted to prejudice any party. Overall, the Council finds Judge Urso to be qualified for advancement to circuit judge.

11/00 Retention – Circuit Court: Well Qualified

Joseph J. Urso, 57, has been a judge since 1978. He is the Presiding Judge of the Third Municipal District. He has also served in the Criminal Division. Lawyers report that Judge Urso has good legal ability and judicial temperament. He is hardworking and his integrity is unquestioned. Judge Urso is also praised for his administrative abilities and for the reforms that he has implemented in the Third Municipal District.

2006 Retention – Circuit Court: Highly Qualified

Joseph J. Urso has been a judge since 1978. He has been the Presiding Judge of the Third Municipal District since 1998. He has also served in the Criminal Division and in the First Municipal District. Judge Urso is considered to have outstanding legal ability. As a trial judge, lawyers report that his rulings are consistently clear, precise, and fully explained. His courtroom demeanor is professional, but always courteous. He is hardworking and fair to all parties. As the Presiding Judge, he is praised for his management style. The Council finds him Highly Qualified.

Evaluation

1996 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Qualified

Rena Van Tine, 34, has been practicing law for 9 years. Since 1987, she has been an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney, doing medical litigation defense work. For a year, she was an associate in private practice. Ms. Van Tine is a capable and experienced trial attorney. She is hardworking and fair, with a good temperament. The Council finds her Qualified.

James M. VARGA

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Law Division, Jury Section

Previous Judicial Duties

1996-2002: Judge, Circuit Court, Law Division, Complex Litigation Section; 1996: Judge, Law Division, Administrative Assignment; 1995: First Municipal District, Preliminary Hearings, Branch 25; First Municipal District, Traffic Court

Elected to the Circuit Court in 1994.

Evaluation

11/94 – Circuit Court: Qualified

James Michael Varga, 41, has been practicing law since 1978. He is a supervisor in the Medical Litigation Division of the Cook County State's Attorney's Office. He has also been a felony prosecutor. Mr. Varga has also been in private practice, specializing in personal injury work. Opposing counsel report that Mr. Varga is a very capable attorney. He is fair, hard-working and of high integrity. The Council finds him Qualified.

11/00 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

James M. Varga, 47, has been a judge since 1994. He sits in the Law Division, Complex Litigation Case Management Section. Before becoming a judge, he served as an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney doing defense of medical negligence cases. He has also been in private practice. Lawyers report that Judge Varga has good legal ability and, in general, has been a very good judge. He runs an efficient courtroom and is considered to have a good judicial temperament. The Council finds him Qualified.

2006 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Hon. James M. Varga has been a judge since 1994. He sits in the Law Division, Jury Section. Prior to his current assignment, he spent six years in the Complex Litigation Section. Before becoming a judge, he served as an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney doing defense of medical negligence cases. He has also been in private practice. Judge Varga is considered to be a solid jurist with good legal ability. He is praised for his knowledge of evidentiary and procedural matters and conducts his own legal research to keep abreast of the issues. He has a good temperament and is reported to be hard-working. The Council finds him Qualified.

Evaluation

2008 Evaluation for Associate Judgeship: Qualified

Gregory Vazquez was admitted in 1977. He is currently in a private criminal defense practice. He was an Assistant State's Attorney from his admission until 1981. He reports that he has taken 35 criminal trials to a jury verdict and over 300 criminal trials to a bench verdict. Mr. Vazquez is reported to have good legal ability and has substantial litigation experience in complex matters. He is praised for his temperament and for his community service. The Council finds him Qualified for the Circuit Court.

Pamela E. Hill VEAL

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Appointed Circuit Court Judge in 2004; elected to the Circuit Court in 2006.

Evaluation

4/03 Appointment – Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Pamela E.H. Veal was admitted to practice in Illinois in 1988. Since 1990 she has been in private practice dealing mostly with domestic relations matters. She has been an administrative hearing officer with the Chicago Department of Administrative Hearings since 2000, and is a Civil Service Board member of the Metropolitan Water Reclamation District of Greater Chicago. Ms. Veal served as an Assistant Cook County Public Defender for one year early in her legal career. She has served as an Associate Professor at Chicago State University since 1975.

Ms. Veal is considered to have good temperament and has been involved with a variety of legally-related activities. But the Council is concerned with her lack of recent litigation experience. She has had little jury trial experience and her non-jury trial experience is limited as well. In addition, the litigation experience that she does have – which is mostly in the Domestic Relations Division -- is narrow. While many lawyers contacted during the investigation had positive things to say about Ms. Veal, the lack of depth and breadth in her litigation practice leads the Council to find her Not Qualified.

2006 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Not Qualified

The Honorable Pamela E. Hill Veal was appointed as an associate judge to fill a vacancy in 2004. Her current caseload involves small claims, breach of contract, and insurance matters. Prior to becoming a judge, she had been in private practice since 1990 dealing mostly with domestic relations matters. She has been an administrative hearing officer with the Chicago Department of Administrative Hearings since 2000, and is a Civil Service Board member of the Metropolitan Water Reclamation District of Greater Chicago. Ms. Veal served as an Assistant Cook County Public Defender for one year early in her legal career. She has served as an Associate Professor at Chicago State University since 1975, but is currently on leave. In its 2003 evaluation, the Council noted its concerns about the lack of depth and breadth in Ms. Veal's practice and found her Not Qualified. She was appointed as an Associate Judge in 2004. In her current assignment, there have been reports that there have been problems in her courtroom management, although many reports say that she is improving with time. In light of the limits of her experience before becoming a judge, together with the current reports regarding her courtroom performance, the Council finds her Not Qualified.

Evaluation: Qualified

Peter J. Vilkelis was admitted to practice in 1980. He is in private practice focusing on criminal defense work. He served as an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney between 1981 and 1990. He is considered to have good legal ability and is praised for his professionalism. He has substantial experience in more complex legal matters. The Council finds him Qualified for the Circuit Court.

Kenneth J. WADASPresent judicial assignment

Judge, Circuit Court, Criminal Division

Elected to the Circuit Court in 1996.

Evaluation

1996 Primary & General Elections: Qualified

Kenneth J. Wadas, 50, has been practicing law for 20 years. He is in private practice, doing criminal-defense and appellate work for most of that time, together with a variety of civil litigation, including defense of federal civil rights cases. Since 1987, Mr. Wadas has also served part-time as the City Prosecutor for the City of Burbank. From 1976 to 1986, he was an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney, serving five years in the Felony Trial Division and five as the Chief of the Narcotics Bureau. Attorneys with whom he has worked, those who have opposed him in litigation, and judges before whom he practices are unanimous in praising Mr. Wadas' legal abilities, his even temperament and his fair-mindedness. The Council finds him Qualified.

11/02 Retention – Circuit Court: Well Qualified

Hon. Kenneth J. Wadas has been a judge in the Criminal Division since 1996. He was initially assigned to the Evening Narcotics Court. From 1998 to 1999, he was a floating judge. He currently hears felony trials, pretrial suppression motions, post-conviction matters, and probation violations. The investigation found Judge Wadas strongly recommended by everyone contacted for his temperament and ability to conduct his docket. Regarding his legal ability, he is described by those who practice before him as a student of the law. We find Judge Wadas Well Qualified for retention.

2008 Retention: Qualified

Hon. Kenneth J. Wadas has been a judge in the Criminal Division since 1996. As a lawyer, he had substantial civil and criminal court litigation experience. Judge Wadas is considered to have very good legal ability and is praised for his professional demeanor. He has strong court management skills. Regarding his legal ability, he is described by those who practice before him as a student of the law. The Council finds Judge Wadas Qualified for retention.

Carl Anthony WALKER

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Elected to the Circuit Court in 2006.

Evaluation

2006 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Carl Anthony Walker was admitted to practice in Illinois 1992. He has been a solo general practitioner since 1999. From 1992 to 1999 he was an associate and later a partner (1996-1999) in general practice firms. He has served as an administrative hearing officer with the City of Chicago since 1995. Mr. Walker is reported to have a good knowledge of the law in the areas in which he practices. His temperament is good and he is active in community activities. He is respected by his peers. The Council's concerns with Mr. Walker's candidacy have to do with the lack of complexity in his practice. He has had exposure to many areas of law, but lacks experience in complex matters. This does not allow Mr. Walker to demonstrate whether he has the ability to handle the more difficult cases that he will be called upon to judge as a Circuit Judge. He indicated during his judicial evaluation interview that he does not handle complex matters as part of his law practice. His answers to the supplementary questionnaire used as part of the evaluation process were cursory and did not demonstrate an appreciation of the complexities faced by Circuit Judges in many of the judicial assignments. The Council finds Mr. Walker Not Qualified at this time.

Richard F. WALSH

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Juvenile Justice Division

Previous Judicial Duties

1993-1997: Judge, Circuit Court, Juvenile Justice Division; 1992-1993: Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Elected to the Circuit Court in 1994.

Evaluation

11/94 Circuit Court: Qualified

Richard Walsh, 51, has done criminal defense work for 21 years, including seven years as a public defender. He has conducted numerous jury and bench trials in federal and state courts. Attorneys praise his legal knowledge and trial skills and regard him as a fair and conscientious lawyer who works hard for his clients. The Council finds him Qualified.

11/00 Retention – Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Richard F. Walsh, 58, has been a judge since 1994. He sits in the Juvenile Justice Division. Before becoming a judge, he was a sole practitioner and a staff attorney in the Federal Defender Program.

Many lawyers report that Judge Walsh is frequently caustic, quick-tempered, and rude while on the bench. He is considered by some to be judgmental and condescending toward some parents in his courtroom. There are reports that he has a pro-defense bias. The Council finds him Not Qualified.

2006 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Hon. Richard F. Walsh has been a judge since 1994. He sits in the Juvenile Justice Division. Before becoming a judge, he was a sole practitioner and a staff attorney in the Federal Defender Program.

Judge Walsh is considered to have good legal ability and his opinions are praised as well-reasoned. The Council has questioned his temperament in the past, but lawyers during this evaluation reported a good judicial temperament. The Council finds him Qualified.

John A. WARD

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Law Division, Individual General Calendar Section

Previous Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Law Division, Jury Section; Judge, Circuit Court, Law Division, Tax and Miscellaneous Remedies Section; 1991-1994: Judge, Circuit Court, Law Division, Motion Section; 1991: First Municipal District (Housing Ordinance Call); 1988-1991: First Municipal District

Elected Associate Judge by Circuit Judges in 1988; elected to the Circuit Court in 1992.

Evaluation

1992 Primary & General Elections–Circuit Court: Not Qualified

John Ward, 37, is a 1979 graduate of Northwestern Law School. He became an Associate Judge in 1988. Prior to that, Judge Ward was an Assistant State's Attorney for three years and an Assistant Attorney General for five years.

Judge Ward is currently assigned to the supervisory team of the Law Division. He hears some motions from the trial call, and occasionally conducts trials or motion calls as a "backup" judge. Lawyers report that Judge Ward is earnest, hard working, and has good integrity. Many lawyers report that Judge Ward will take relatively simple matters under advisement, instead of ruling immediately. While he eventually reaches the right result, they believe he is unduly slow in reaching his decision.

Judge Ward acknowledges that his judicial career was aided by his family connections. (He is the son of former Illinois Supreme Court Justice Dan Ward.) He became an Associate Judge very early in his career, and does not appear ready to become a full Circuit Judge. Because of the Council's concerns about Judge Ward's legal ability and experience, we find he is not qualified for election to the Circuit Court.

1998 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

John A. Ward, 44, sits in the Tax and Miscellaneous Remedies Section of the Law Division. He became an Associate Judge in 1988 and was elected to the bench in 1992. Lawyers uniformly describe Judge Ward as possessing a fine judicial temperament – even-tempered and low key. He is praised as having good legal ability. Lawyers report that he commonly cites to relevant cases not raised by either party. His fairness and integrity are unquestioned. The Council finds him Qualified for retention.

11/04 Retention, Circuit Court: Qualified

John A. Ward currently sits in the Law Division, Jury Section. He became an Associate Judge in 1988 and was elected to the bench in 1992. Lawyers describe Judge Ward as possessing a good judicial temperament. His fairness and integrity are unquestioned. The Council finds him Qualified for retention.

John A. WASILEWSKI

Present Judicial Duties

Associate Judge, Criminal Division, Fifth Municipal District

Previous Judicial Duties

Supervising Associate Judge, Sixth Municipal District; 1988-1992: Sixth Municipal District

Elected Associate Judge by Circuit Judges in 1988.

Evaluation

1988 Primary & General Elections—Circuit Court (Pincham Vacancy): Qualified

Mr. Wasilewski has been an Assistant State's Attorney for ten years and he is currently a Deputy Supervisor in the State's Attorney's First Municipal District Office. Attorneys familiar with Mr. Wasilewski's performance report that he is knowledgeable and hard working and that he does a good job in his position. While advocating his position as a prosecutor, Mr. Wasilewski is considered to be fair to the rights of the accused. In addition, he has been active in continuing education activities. The Council believes that Mr. Wasilewski is qualified for the Circuit Court.

1990 Primary & General Elections – Appellate Court (Stamos Vacancy): Not Qualified

Associate Judge Wasilewski has been hearing felony trials since April of 1989. He served as an Assistant State's Attorney for ten years before becoming a judge. Judge Wasilewski was considered to be a knowledgeable and hard-working prosecutor, and he is reportedly doing a capable job in his current assignment. But Judge Wasilewski had no substantial appellate experience as a practitioner. As a judge, Wasilewski has not demonstrated the legal ability or experience necessary for elevation to the Appellate Court.

11/92 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Qualified

Judge Wasilewski, 40, became an Associate Judge in 1988 and sits in a felony trial courtroom in the Sixth Municipal District. He is a former Assistant State's Attorney and was the Deputy Supervisor of the First Municipal District. Judge Wasilewski is praised as a good judge, who is hardworking and fair. He has a very good temperament, and adequate legal ability. The Council finds him Qualified.

11/96 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Qualified

Hon. John A. Wasilewski, 43, was appointed an Associate Judge in 1988. For the last three years, he has been the Supervising Judge of the felony trial courts in the Sixth Municipal District in Markham. Prior to becoming a judge, he was for 10 years a supervisor and trial attorney in the Cook County State's Attorney's Office. Judge Wasilewski is a good judge who is hardworking and fair. The Council finds him Qualified.

Daniel S. WEBER

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Fourth Municipal District

Previous Judicial Duties

First Municipal District, Gun and Child Abuse Courtrooms, Drug and Violence Courtrooms

Elected to the Circuit Court in 1986.

Evaluation

1986 Primary & General Elections – Circuit Court: Qualified

Mr. Weber is an Assistant State's Attorney who has been in practice for approximately eight years. The Council believes that young attorneys should develop a sufficient expertise before realizing their judicial aspirations. In his years of practice, however, Mr. Weber has won widespread respect for his legal ability, temperament and commitment to fairness. On those strengths, the Council believes that Mr. Weber is qualified to be a Circuit Court judge.

11/92 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Judge Weber has been assigned to try felony cases in Maywood since his election to the bench in 1986. He is a 1978 law school graduate, and was an Assistant State's Attorney for eight years before becoming a judge. Attorneys praise Judge Weber as a very good judge. He is described as competent and fair. The Council believes he is well qualified for retention.

11/98 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Daniel S. Weber, 46, sits in the Fourth Municipal District where he hears both criminal and civil law cases. He was elected to the bench in 1986 after a career as an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney. Lawyers describe Judge Weber as being knowledgeable and as someone who keeps abreast of recent developments and changes in the law. His fairness and integrity are unquestioned and lawyers report that he has an excellent judicial temperament. He is known for starting his call on time. He is considered by all respondents to be a solid jurist. The Council finds him Qualified for retention.

Shelli D. WILLIAMS-HAYES

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Previous Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, County Division

Elected to the Circuit Court in 1996.

1996 Primary & General Elections–Circuit Court: Not Qualified

Shelli D. Williams, 38, has been practicing law for 12 years. Since May 1995, she has been the Assistant Chief Attorney for the Cook County Forest Preserve District. From 1992 to 1995, she was the Director of Real Estate Management for Cook County. From 1988 to 1992 she was an associate attorney with Earl L. Neal & Associates, where most of her work involved research and writing. From 1982 to 1985, Ms. Williams handled misdemeanor criminal-defense trials for the Legal Aid Society of New York. She then clerked for a judge in the Second District Court of Appeals in Tampa, Florida. Ms Williams is bright, but her legal career has not included significant litigation experience. In light of that, the Council finds her not qualified.

11/02 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Hon. Shelli D. Williams-Hayes currently sits in the First Municipal District. Before her current assignment, she was in the County Division. Judge Williams-Hayes is reported to have performed ably in her assignments in the County Division and in her current assignment hearing civil jury trials in the First Municipal District. Judge Williams-Hayes manages a high-volume courtroom, sometimes hearing several trials a day. Attorneys reported that she has managed her courtroom efficiently, decisively, and fairly. The Council rates Judge Williams-Hayes Qualified.

2008 Retention: Not Qualified

Hon. Shelli D. Williams-Hayes currently sits in the First Municipal District. Before her current assignment, she was in the County Division. Judge Williams-Hayes is reported to have performed ably in her assignments in the County Division and in her current assignment hearing civil jury trials in the First Municipal District. Judge Williams-Hayes manages a high-volume courtroom, sometimes hearing several trials a day. While many lawyers say she is a good jurist, many others complain about the length of time it takes to get to trial in her courtroom. She can get frustrated during court and make inappropriate remarks to lawyers and litigants. Lawyers complain about her punctuality. On balance, the Council finds her Not Qualified for retention.

Camille E. WILLIS

Charles R. WINKLER

Present Judicial Duties

Recalled Judge, Circuit Court, Domestic Relations Division

Appointed Circuit Court Judge in 2000; reappointed Circuit Court Judge in 2002.

4/03 Appointment – Circuit Court: Qualified

Charles Winkler was admitted to practice law in Illinois in 1960. Thereafter, he was in private practice first as an associate and then as a partner where he concentrated on plaintiffs' personal injury law. In 2000, he was appointed to the bench. After a short stint in traffic court, he was assigned to the First Municipal District where he presided over civil jury trials primarily involving personal injury cases. In 2001, he returned to private practice and, in 2002, he was reappointed to the court. He presently sits in the Domestic Relations Division hearing post-decree matters.

Judge Winkler is described as fair and knowledgeable. Those appearing before him find that he handles his case load well and that he is a hard worker with a good judicial temperament. The Council finds Charles Winkler Qualified.

William H. WISE

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, Fourth Municipal District

Previous Judicial Duties

1995-1998: Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Appointed Circuit Court Judge in 1995; reappointed Circuit Court Judge in 2006

2002 Evaluation for Associate Judge: Not Qualified

William H. Wise was admitted to the Illinois Bar in 1965. Since late 1999, he has been a solo practitioner with the majority of his practice involving criminal matters with some personal injury. For the previous eight months, he had been a court advocacy coordinator advising citizens' groups for the Chicago Police Department. In 1997-98, he spent sixteen months as a Circuit Court Judge, having been recalled by the Supreme Court. For the nine months before returning to the bench, Mr. Wise was a solo practitioner. From November 1995 to December 1996, he sat as a Circuit Court Judge by appointment (Branch 42 Felony Preliminary Hearing Court). Prior to his appointment, he spent twenty-five years in private practice, both solo and as a partner in a firm. He spent the first five years of his career as an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney. Mr. Wise is a 1965 graduate of the John Marshall Law School.

Mr. Wise has extensive litigation experience both as a practitioner and as a judge. He is well regarded both as a lawyer and as a judge for his legal ability and temperament. The Council, however, is very concerned that Mr. Wise failed to disclose in his application materials the U.S. District Court determination (affirmed on appeal to the Seventh Circuit) that he had been found to have rendered ineffective assistance of counsel in a 1991 case.

Moreover, there were other troubling matters that Mr. Wise failed to disclose that give us pause about his judgment and candor. In light of these concerns, the Council finds Mr. Wise Not Qualified to serve in Circuit Court.

2006 Evaluation to fill a Circuit Court vacancy: Qualified.

This determination was affirmed on appeal to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit. This incident gives the Council pause about his candor and judgment, but to our knowledge there have been no further improprieties and Mr. Wise is considered to be a solid practitioner and judge with extensive experience in more complex matters. On balance, the Council finds him Qualified for the Circuit Court.

Gregory J. WOJKOWSKI

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Elected to the Circuit Court in 1996.

Evaluation

1996 Circuit Court – General Election: Qualified

Gregory J. Wojkowski, 40, has been practicing law for 16 years. He is the Chief Assistant Corporation Counsel in the Litigation Division of the Chicago Department of Law. He has been a Lawyer with the Law Department since 1979 and has extensive litigation experience in state and federal court. He is described as bright, fair, and even tempered. The Council finds him Qualified.

11/02 Retention – Circuit Court: Qualified

Hon. Gregory J. Wojkowski was elected to the Circuit Court in 1996. He currently sits in the First Municipal District, Civil Trial Division. Before his current assignment, he served in the Housing Court and at the Traffic Center. Judge Wojkowski was regarded by those interviewed as a hard worker with the necessary skills, integrity and temperament to handle his high volume assignment. He is considered fair and impartial. The Council finds Judge Wojkowski Qualified for retention.

2008 Retention: Qualified

Hon. Gregory J. Wojkowski was elected to the Circuit Court in 1996. He currently sits in the First Municipal District, Civil Trial Division. Before his current assignment, he served in the Housing Court and at the Traffic Center. Judge Wojkowski is considered to have very good legal ability and temperament. He inherited a large backlog of cases and by all accounts has substantially reduced that backlog in a way that is considered fair to all parties. Many lawyers say that he has the ability, temperament, and courtroom organizational skills to be promoted to a more complex assignment. The Council finds him Qualified for retention.

Lauretta Higgins WOLFSON

Present Judicial Duties

Judge, Circuit Court, First Municipal District

Appointed Circuit Court Judge in 2006.

2002 Evaluations for Associate Judge and 2008 Primary and General Elections, Circuit Court: Qualified

Lauretta Higgins Wolfson was admitted to the Illinois Bar in 1989. She is currently Deputy Supervisor of the Transactions / Health Law Section of the Office of the Cook County State's Attorney, where she has been since 1998. From 1995 to 1998, she was a Hearing Officer in the Domestic Relations Division. For two years before that, she was an Assistant Cook County State's Attorney. From 1989 to 1992, she was associated with Wayne & Jemilio, where she practices domestic relations and employment law. For one year prior to that, she was an associate at Hinshaw & Culbertson. Ms. Wolfson is a 1988 graduate of Chicago-Kent College of Law. In 2000, she was awarded an LLM in Health Law by Loyola University Chicago School of Law. She has taught trial advocacy at Chicago-Kent since 1993, the University of Chicago (1995-2000), and Willamette University (summers, 1993-1999). She is the author of three publications dealing with state health care regulation, food and drug law, and spoliation of medical records.

Ms. Wolfson is well regarded for her legal ability and temperament. She prepares thoroughly and her integrity is unquestioned. The Council is concerned that she lacks substantial trial experience in complex matters but her teaching and scholarship are offsetting factors. On balance, the Council finds Ms. Wolfson Qualified to serve in Circuit Court.

Lori M. WOLFSON
